Very little, if any work has been done on the streets of Lakeview since the fire in May, 1900. While the principle streets were so well graveled and graded previous to that time, very little work has been needed. But there are some streets that never have been worked and since the town is spreading out, with new residences building up on new streets, it is quite necessary that some street work should be done without delay.

Come in and buy two dollars' worth of Examiner and you will get your moneys' wort every week for a year.

Sheepmen are bringing in their sheep from the desert on account of lack of water out there. The fact that spring is quite late this year, with no grass to speak of in the foothills, will make it hard skinning for those that come to their summer range so early. It may yet result in a considerable loss of sheep.

It is predicted, and will no doubt prove to be a fact in a very short time, that the taking up of all of the available timber land in Lake county will have a tendency to crush out the sheepmen. When the title to all this land is in the hands of large syndicates, then it will be found that grazing will be prohibited in the mountains or rented to the highest bidder. This will probably be taken advantage by the large holder and the small sheepman will have to go out of business. It will probably be the same with the cattleman.

When Mr. Alles assistant secretary of the Treasury, was returning from Cuba a few days ago a young man whom he had seen on the Key West steamer came up to him on the train, and began a conversation with easy familiarity. "Get any cigar through?" asked the affable young man. "Oh, yes, a couple of boxes," replied Mr. Alles. "Didn't pay any duty," on 'em, I hope." "Yes, I paid duty," said Mr. Alles, sadly. "Oh, pshaw!" said the young man. "You're dead slow. I got 250 through, and they didn't pay duty."

"You see," said Mr. Alles, "the difference between us is that I am assistant secretary of the Treasury." The young man vanished and Mr. Alles did not see him again during the trip to Washington.

Mr. A. J. Bennett, who has been in Lake county the past month, writing up the sheep industry for the American Shepherd's Bulletin, under the pseudonym of "Old Observer", returned to Lakeview last Thursday from Warner valley. He thinks Warner to be the stockmen's paradise, and says that the land controversy should, without a doubt, be decided in favor of the settlers. Mr. Bennett says that he has noticed in going over the country, that the loss of sheep has been reported too small. He thinks this should not be done, as it will have a tendency to lower rather than raise the market price for wool and mutton. The larger the loss of sheep is reported, the higher will the tendency of the market be. The correct figures in all losses should be given so that the producer could take advantage of any raise in values that are likely to result from a scarcity of sheep. The theory is no doubt good but most of the sheepmen are backward in giving out the information that they have met with a big loss, occasioned by the severe winter.
