There are four prohibition states—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Kansas—and in Iowa there is a modified form of legislation on the same line. The most drastic laws are in Kansas, where the penalty for selling intoxicants is a fine from $1000 to $1500 and imprisonment and where one dealer has recently been fined $21,000 and then sent to jail. The bursting of a 12 inch gun on the Iowa, is still under investigation, but it is known that with the quarterly target practice for six years, the bombardment of San Juan and the battle with Corvera it had been fired more than 200 times. The average life of the large bore, built up gun is estimated at ranging from 150 to 200 rounds, so the gun has had its day.

UNPROFITABLE FEEDING

Intelligent stock raisers know that a certain amount of feed is necessary to keep an animal alive. They might feed that amount as long as it lives, and it would never gain a pound. There is no profit in that kind of feeding. The kind that pays is the kind that builds flesh rapidly. If it takes twenty pounds of food each day to keep a sheep alive, twenty-five pounds a day will make it gain flesh. It's the extra five that brings the profit. The first five pounds amounts to nothing, nor does the second or third or fourth five pounds.

It's the same way with advertising. You have to do a certain amount to overcome the resistance of the public. You have to do a certain amount of advertising to make them wake up to the fact that you are in business at all. You have to pay a certain amount to keep your advertising alive. What you pay above that amount brings profit.

Some advertisers fail because they do not use enough space. They use barely enough or sometimes not quite enough to make the advertising self sustaining. A little bit more would make it profitable. It is better to advertise a little too much than not quite enough.—Charles Austin Bates. Some of our advertisers could enlarge their space with profit.
