Mr. L. C. Miller, field assistant in the bureau of forestry, will be in this section some time in September, says the New Era. He will be prepared to give any information regarding the planting and growing of forests, or in fact any information relating to the forest. It would be well to arrange a public meeting that we may get all the information possible from the gentleman.

Mark Musgrave, who has been cooking for the haying crew of about forty men on the 70 ranch in Chewaucan, returned to town last Thursday, and will look after his hot spring bath house south of town. He says the new hours inaugurated on the 70 ranch is proving very satisfactory to both employer and employees. The men are in the hay field at 5 o'clock in the morning; come in to dinner at 11, return to the field at 12:30, and quit for the day at 6. It is claimed the men do as much work as they would if they worked till dark.
