A Mr. Goode and family passed through Lakeview last Thursday from Baker City to Colusa, Cal. While in Baker City they had charge the free reading room at that place. The Examiner is among the periodicals kept on file there.

Josephine county citizens have signed a mighty remonstrance against the proposed forest reserve and her representative men are using every possible influence to keep the county from being completely boxed in, says the Eugene Register.

James E. Grieve arrived here on his wheel from Central Point Tuesday night, on his way to visit his sister, Mrs. E. C. Stichel at Paisley. He came all the way from Klamath Falls to Lakeview in a day. Mr. Grieve is city recorder of Central Point.

A new windmill has been erected at the cemetery, which was paid for by popular subscription. It will be used to pump water to keep alive the flowers and trees that have been planted there, most of which die each year for lack of water. What is needed to make the windmill a success, is a large tank and someone to look after it.

George Batchelder returned from Klamath Falls Monday. He was accompanied by his brother Jack, formerly clerk of Lake county, who is a prominent attorney of San Francisco. After straightening up matters here, they will both return to California. Mrs. J. M. Batchelder who has been visiting in Lakeview for some time, will accompany them.

The condition of the grain crops in the Summer Lake valley has a splendid outlook and a big harvest is expected. The hay crops in that valley are almost put up which will result in a good harvest. There is also abundance of fruit and vegetables now ready for market in the valley for which at all times there is a ready sale.—Silver Lake Oregonian.

Walter Robinson last Friday brought to town the finest specimen of mountain sheep horns that was probably ever seen in Lakeview. The animal had possibly been dead not over six months, and the horns are perfect. The head is well preserved. Walter presented it to Dr. Steiner who will have it mounted. The Dr. will shortly go out on the desert to look after the carcass and should he find it, will secure the services of Indian George to "go get it skin" for it.

Sheep men are complaining that the range is entirely eaten out, and that unless a rain comes pretty soon to start the grass, there will be a great loss of sheep in Lake county. The feed this year was not sufficient for what sheep there were in Lake county, and when 100,000 outside sheep came in there is absolutely nothing left. Where good feed is usually to be found there is nothing but a dust pile. It is understood that already sheep are moving toward the desert. There is no feed nor water there, and the prospect looks very gloomy unless a good rain comes to start the grass.

The Medford Enquirer, conducted by Horace Mann, has died again and it is possible that it will remain dead this time. Only a month or two ago this paper suspended, and its contemporaries were singing sad requiems over its remains, when to and behold, after several weeks it came to life again, and the good things said about it had to be taken back. This time it deliberately commits suicide to avoid going to jail. Under its breath it says in a faint gasp: "Thanking our friends for many kind favors, we close the chapter, at least before the sheriff proceeds to do so."

The preliminary hearing of Geo. W. Essex, charged with the heinous crime of incest, came up before Judge Henderson in Alturas last week. The proceedings were held behind closed doors, and therefore, nothing is known by the public as to the nature of the evidence presented. Essex was bound over in the sum of $5,000 for trial before the Superior Court.

Bert Harber came over from the 77 ranch in Warner Monday after three hay bunks, which were made last week on a new plan by Handley & Stevens. They are very large affairs and made to rake up nearly a wagon load at one haul. When loaded they are run to the stack and upon a net, when they back off, leaving the hay to be lifted upon the stack. It is claimed that this local invention is quite an improvement over the Jackson bunks, now so much in use in Lake county.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith were up from New Pine Creek Monday. Mr. S. brought up a small load of bacon, the last of a lot he made last winter. He thinks that is all of the bacon there is left in the valley, and from now on it will have to be shipped in from the outside. Mr. S. made 75 hogs into bacon last fall, and expects to make double that amount this fall. The demand for bacon in Lakeview is probably 5 or 6 times greater than the supply furnished by the farmers of Goose Lake valley. More hogs should be raised, and attempt made to supply the merchants here.

The Plaindealer reports the accidental killing near Alturas, of Mrs. John Wall on the 13th. In company with her little son, Mrs. Wall started on her return home in a spring wagon, and when near the Dorris ranch, the bridle came off of one of the horses. The animal became frightened and ran away, throwing them both out. Mrs. Wall was hurled head foremost against a mowing machine standing in the lane, breaking her arm and crushing her skull. She was carried into the Dorris residence but died in half an hour. The little boy escaped without serious injury.

J. L. Smith and wife boarded the Western Stage Tuesday morning for Portland, to be gone six or eight months. Mr. Smith is the local agent of the Equitable Life Insurance Society of New York, and he goes to Portland to attend a meeting of the company. The agents are all called in at this meeting and stock is taken of the work done during the past year by the agents. Mr. Smith has been striving very hard to make a record in Oregon, and to do more business than any other agent in the state. He has probably come very near accomplishing that end in that case he will be promoted to a higher position, which he undoubtedly deserves. Since July 1st he has written $40,000 in policies in Lakeview, a pretty good showing, considering the fact that this field has been worked over by himself and numerous other companies for several years past.
