W. W. Williams and wife were here from Likely last Monday. Mr. Williams will start to San Francisco tomorrow with two cars of fat cows recently sold to S. S. Bayley by Charles, George and Wade Williams. —New Era.

W. M. Harvey of the Palace restaurant last week purchased from Mark Musgrave the fixtures, etc., of the Central Cafe, and the latter has been closed. Mark Musgrave and family have moved back to the hot springs ranch.

Sheriff Dunlap on Tuesday last collected every dollar due Lake County on the 1902 tax roll, and there will be no delinquent tax list to advertise this year. We doubt if any other county in Oregon can boast as good a record as Lake in the collection of taxes.

Dr. Smith was called to Alkali last week to see Oliver Charlton, who was suffering with acute indigestion. The Dr. found him unconscious and having spasms. He was given relief, and was much improved when the Dr. returned. Dan Maloy drove him out.

E. H. Harriman made the statement in Los Angeles last week that he purposed putting the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific systems on an equity, at least, with the best in the world. He said they had already expended $104,000,000 in betterments and the cost of contemplated improvements would almost double that figure.

Rev. J. B. Stark has been circulating a subscription list for the past two weeks soliciting funds to improve the M. E. parsonage, which structure is in great need of repair. Several hundred dollars has been subscribed, and the amount is being swelled every day. Lumber is on the ground, and work has already been started on an addition. A new porch will be put on in front and other improvements made. This is a worthy cause, and everyone should give what they can afford.

Asa B. Thompson, suspended receiver of the La Grande land office, who was indicted by the Federal grand jury for soliciting bribes, was promptly acquitted in the U. S. district court at Portland last Friday. Secretary Hitchcock refuses to reinstate him however, as he claims the indictment has impaired his usefulness.

Walter Sherlock returned last Saturday from Reno and San Francisco, where he went over a month ago to sell his mutton. He and J. M. Thompson, the Modoc county sheep man, took down 9000 head of mutton sheep and lambs, and after waiting for some time sold them to good advantage, realizing better than they anticipated.

The November issue of "Farm Life" is the special Thanksgiving Number. Among its features is a striking and original double page drawing, in colors, entitled "Which One Shall Be Chosen." Drop into The Examiner office today and get a free copy of the Thanksgiving number and learn how you can secure "Farm Life" one year free.

E. R. Patch last week sold his household goods, chickens and supplies, and on Tuesday started for Reno, accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Jackson, the latter's mother. Mrs. Patch's health will not permit her staying in this altitude during the winter. She and her mother will spend the winter in California while Mr. Patch will remain in Reno.

H. C. Fleming of New Pine Creek drove up in front of The Examiner office Tuesday with a barrel of fresh cider. He drew out a measureful and stepped inside, enquired if there were any republicans present, remarking that if there were they would drink, if they were democrats they would not. It is needless to say that he found the entire force republicans.

E. Lauer & Sons are still improving, extending their business and adding to the town. They are now erecting a large ware house on the corner formerly used by the old Modoc Independent on Carlos street. The building will be 100 by 55, with 20 foot ceiling and is well constructed in every particular. There is quite a crew of men employed at the work, with Harry Hazelton as foreman. —New Era.

The city council met Wednesday night of last week after The Examiner had gone to press, the council having adjourned to meet that evening to hear J. A. Anthony's proposition to furnish the city electric lights. Mr. Anthony was not prepared to make his proposition, and he was granted two week's time to formulate his plan. The council at that time will meet, and several propositions are expected to be handed in. One, to buy the plant outright, another to furnish electricity, and the town pay a certain sum per month, and another to lease the system as it stands.

Skating has been all the rage for the past week, and Sunday nearly everybody who could skate was out on the ice. The day was an ideal one for this popular sport, and the ice was perfect. Many new beginners were seen struggling to keep skate-end down, but occasionally a sudden notion—of the skates—changed the whole aspect, and stars were sparkling where but a moment before the sun was shining. The dealers in skates had a big run and every pair in town has been sold.
