Recently the president said to some friends: "You must excuse me now, for Senator Mitchell is waiting in the other office to tell me what he thinks of the honorable secretary of the interior. Later I expect that Secretary Hitchcock will tell me what he thinks of the honorable senator from Oregon." "Why don't you get them up here together?" somebody asked. "My dear sir," the president answered, "I hate peace as much as any man, but I cannot go as far as that."

Alfred Tennyson Dickens, the oldest surviving son of Charles Dickens has strongly protested against published reports of his father's ill feeling toward Thackeray. He recalls the fact that his father was the chief mourner at Thackeray's funeral in Kensal Green and also wrote a biographical sketch which "did full justice to the genius and merits of the author of the famous 'Vanity Fair' and 'Pendennis.'" Mr. Dickens adds that many a time he has heard his father speak in the most glowing terms of Thackeray's wonderful versatility.
