LAKEVIEW, OREGON, FEB. 25, 1904.

To a Kentucky colonel it must seem like an awful waste of good material to turn wheat and rye into breakfast foods.

William Laeade, once famous as a negro minstrel, has been taken to a Cincinnati hospital hopelessly paralyzed. Both limbs are useless, due, the doctors say, to too much dancing.

Kuno Fischer, the eminent historian of philosophy, has at last been obliged to give up his professorship in Heidelberg. He is in his eightieth year and has been at Heidelberg since 1872.

William Darrach, who graduated from Yale in 1897, and who has been appointed one of the lecturing physicians at the P. and S. hospital, in New York city, is the youngest man who ever held the position.

It is said that the Japanese have no swear words in their language. It must be quite a trial to undergo those feelings by just thinking. When they learn to talk Russian then one long swear word will answer for a long time.

The Attorney General has, in answer to a question by District Attorney Brown, of Roseburg, decided that the law passed by the last Legislature providing that banks must furnish assessors with a list of their depositors is void.

Since the Iroquois theater disaster in Chicago suits have begun. One for $100,000 has been filed, and more will follow. If all the suits that could be filed were filed and won, there wouldn't be enough money in Chicago to pay the judgements.

Lotta M. Crabtree, once a stage favorite, recently sold for $50,000 a piece of San Francisco real estate for which she paid $20,000 some 20 years ago. Miss Crabtree made a deal of money as an actress and is now reputed to be several times a millionaire.

Ex-Mayor Seth Low of New York has gone with his wife to Europe, where he intends to remain until next June making Naples his headquarters. The cares of office have somewhat impaired his health, and he finds he has need of a protracted rest.

Professor N. S. Shaler will probably return from his travels in the Mediterranean basin in time for the Harvard commencement. His plans include a voyage up the Nile to inspect the barrage works and the present condition at Philae, and also a visit to Greece to see, with his own eyes, the spoil of the recent Cretan explorations.

King Alfonso of Spain is giving his subjects lessons in agriculture. He wants to show them that by the application of modern methods land which for centuries has been held to be barren can be made to yield profitable crops. For this purpose he has selected 700 hectares of his poorest land and has procured machinery of the latest type. Nearly every day he drives out to inspect the work, accompanied by the minister of the exterior, Count San Bernardo, who is said to be more of an agriculturist than a diplomat.

SAGE ADVICE TO SCHOOL GIRLS.

(East Oregonian)

Here is a word in confidence to the school girl. It is not meant for you little snifty chits down in the sixth grade, nor for you old maids who graduated, bloomed and faded years and years ago. It is for that rosy rank of cherubs, ranging in age from 13 to 16, each one a jolly armful, the glowing petals of whose cheeks are tinted with the supremest glory of girlhood. This is for you, alone. Last night as you went home from school, God bless you, you made goo goo eyes at a school boy on Main street. You thought no one but he saw it. You were deceived. Twenty watching hoodlums saw it and tittered and marked your face down in their memories. Tonight and tomorrow night as you pass, these waiting hoodlums will be there to start a flirtation. It may be innocent and harmless to flirt with a school boy four and a half feet tall. But that is a starter. Tomorrow it will be with some fellow not a school boy and five feet tall, and next week it will be with a man six feet tall, with a curled mustache and an eye that sets your head in a whirl. All the sweet pleadings that ever fell from a mother's lips can't undo this fellows glances, if you invite them by beginning a flirtation on the street. Don't begin it. It isn't funny nor smart. It isn't the place, time nor manner for making acquaintances and you need not get mad about it. It is no worse for boys to swear in your presence on the street, than for you to flirt in public, as you go down the street. Life is ahead of you. It is for you to make it or mar it. Which will you do?

Perfect Confidence.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by Lee Beall.

There are always a great number of people very timid about contributing news items to the local paper, says an exchange. While there are always many little incidents occurring it is impossible to have a representative on the spot to chronicle the fact. A note can be sent to your local paper for one cent and it is surely worth this small mite to see your name in print while it helps your friends at a distance to know what is going on at home. This in many instances gives the impression that items are left out intentionally. The fact is that the news does not reach the office in time or may never at all. That which is news to you may be of interest to others. Only a line or two inserted containing a familiar name carries interest to your friends and others abroad, who appreciate the value of the home paper.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. J. Haggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by Lee Beall Druggist. Price 50c & $1. Trial bottles free.

An anti-swearing league has been formed at Hammersmith, London, which will appoint inspectors, whose duty it will be to warn, and afterward, if necessary, summon any person found swearing in the street.

Another Case of Rheumatism Cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

The efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the relief of rheumatism is being demonstrated daily. Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family."
