ADVERTISE THE COUNTY

John Kelly, the pioneer Summer Laker, who sold out his stock ranch last year to W. A. Carrier, and spent the winter travelling, returned here last week. Mr. Kelley says there will undoubtedly be a large immigration of people to Lake county the coming summer. He believes that if the county was properly advertised, as other countries are, hundreds of people who do not know there is such a place, would be only too glad to cast their lots in this country. Mr. Kelley says every day people crowd the city hotels and hunt out the country newspapers, and even try to buy them to post themselves on the prosperity of the different localities in the mountain districts. People on the travel are attracted to communities that advertise, and out of the way places like Lake county miss a great opportunity by allowing the country to go unadvertised.

Last Indictment Made Known.

There were three indictments returned by the federal grand jury recently in session in Portland, that were kept a secret so far as the identification of the parties indicted were concerned. Two of them leaked out some time ago, but the third was only made known recently. When it was learned that Ex-surveyor General Henry Meldrum was among those indicted he went at once to the federal court and there was informed that the report was true. He went into court and heard the reading of the document, charging him with forging petitions for surveys in Harney county that he might collect fees from the government for making the surveys, to which he plead not guilty and furnished bonds in the sum of $4000 to appear in court at a later date.

It is a rule that in order for the government to authorize surveys petitions from bonafide settlers who wish to enter certain unsurveyed lands must be forwarded to the department asking that the lands be surveyed. It is alleged that in January 1902, while Mr. Meldrum was in office, he forged fictitious names to 21 different petitions asking for certain lands lying in Harney county to be surveyed. When authorized by the government to make such surveys upon the recommendation of the supposed bona fide settlers, Mr. Meldrum let contracts for the surveys and collected fees from the government for them.

President Signs Fair Bill.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, President Roosevelt affixed his signature to the Lewis and Clark Fair bill and made it a law. Senator Mitchell went to the White House especially to witness the signing of the measure. As the President added the last stroke of his signature he turned and said:

"Senator, I would be glad to give you the pen with which I have signed this bill as a souvenir, but Mr. Scott, president of the association, exacted a promise of me some time ago that I should give it to him, and I then agreed to do so."

Mr. Scott will present the pen to the Oregon Historical Society, and it is expected it will be on exhibition during the Exposition.

In behalf of the people of Oregon Senator Mitchell extended sincere thanks to the President. The Executive replied he was pleased to be in a position to do something toward a proper commemoration of the Lewis and Clark expedition.—Oregonian.

A sensational and gruesome scandal has been brought to light in Salem recently which originated in a medical institute. When Harry Egbert was hanged at the penitentiary in January the skin was secretly stripped from the back his of body and tanned. Small pieces of the tanned human skin has been sold for $5 each, as souvenirs, to traveling men. The authorities are now hunting the human tannery.

All Russia was shocked on the 13th over the result of a severe naval battle at Port Arthur, when Admiral Makaroff's flagship, the battleship Petropavlovsk, was torpedoed and sunk with nearly its entire crew of 600 officers and men, including the admiral. Grand Duke Cyril jumped into the sea and was saved.

Washingtonians who are living only to save funeral expenses will be relieved to hear that they can be buried in North Yakima for 1 cent each. The commissioners recently let a contract for burying the county's poor at that price in the potters field.

The St. Louis fair is to open on April 30. Oregon day at the fair has been decided upon. The day set is June 16th.

And so Port Arthur has fallen again. When will it strike the bottom?

Well Known in Lakeview.

The following was clipped from the Prineville Journal:

"Paul Delaney, who was formerly with the Portland Journal, and who is well known in this section has been bound over to await the action of the circuit court in Baker county for assault with a deadly weapon. Delaney and a man named Small engaged in an altercation in the Gelsler hotel in Baker City a few days ago and Delaney struck Small on the head with a printer's iron shooting stick. The man's scalp was cut open six inches and his skull fractured. Both men were placed under arrest. Small was discharged and Delaney was turned over to the state authorities."

Paul Delaney is well known in Lakeview, having been on the Lakeview Rustler at one time.
