PROTECT THE FISH

Complaint has been made for the past two years of the ruthless destruction of fish in the Chewaucan river through the negligence of parties in taking water from the river for irrigation purposes and not putting fish screens at the heads of their ditches. The fish warden has promised to investigate this matter, but has never come on the grounds to make a personal investigation. This spring the warden has written to a party at Paisley bringing up the subject, and asked about the best way to come to best cover this country with one trip this spring. He will probably come to Lake county as soon as the roads get good and post himself on the fish question here and arrange to have the law protecting fish and game more strictly complied with. The authorities should be prevailed upon to appoint a fish and game warden for Lake county and to insist upon a strict compliance with the law. Thousands of fish have been destroyed by running out into the irrigation ditches and being left to die on dry land. Especially is this decrease noticeable in the Chewaucan river, where a few years ago it was no trouble to catch a fine mess of trout at any season of the year in a very few minutes. Fish in that stream are rapidly disappearing, a condition that should not prevail if the propagation and protection of the fish was not considered by some of too small moment to receive their attention.

REWARDS FOR HEROES

Andrew Carnegie's latest donation opens a new avenue for charity. The philanthropist has created a $5,000,000 fund for heroes and survivors of heroes who lose their lives in trying to save others. Mr. Carnegie's motive is dominated by his noble spirit, and he above all men is ready to reward the true hero. It is a question whether or not his $5,000,000 herofund will tend to increase real heroism. True heroism is not actuated by a money consideration, or the acts of heroes stimulated by prospects of a reward. It is easy to manufacture heroes, or so-called heroes, whose sole object in performing well planned, but absolutely safe heroic deeds with accomplices for the sole purpose of receiving the rewards that they know are awaiting them, while the real hero whose modesty prevents him from going through the necessary formalities of proving his rights to the promised standing reward for brave acts, which acts were only actuated by his patriotic nature, or the dependent of him who lost his life in the performance of heroic deeds—the bereaved wife and fatherless children—will go unrewarded.

Mr. Carnegie confines the use of his money donated to dependents of martyrs to moral and legitimate purposes, and it is to be hoped that none but the worthy will be recipients of his generosity. The result will be watched with interest.

The courts unmerged the merger in the Northern Securities case, but the matter is not settled yet. There is yet technicalities to settle with.

April 28th is the day set for adjournment of Congress.

Woodmen's Day.

The Oregon State Fair has set aside a day for the Woodmen of the World, and has appropriated $600 for their entertainment on that day. The local camp at Salem is behind the movement and is working hard to make Woodmen's day one of the banner days in attendance at the fair this year. The campers who enjoyed the outing so much last year will be back this year with a lot of friends which will fill the beautiful oak grove to overflowing. With a Woodman day on Tuesday, Salem day on Wednesday, Portland day on Thursday the balance of the week will take care of itself.—Rural Spirit.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at Beall's Drug Store.
