LAKEVIEW, OREGON, JULY 7, 1904.

THE REGISTRATION LAW.

There will, in all probability, be a request made to the next legislature to either repeal or amend the present registration law. The law has occasioned some difficulty and considerable trouble in getting a full vote from sparsely settled counties. For instance in Lake county, one of the largest counties in the state and one whose voting population does not rank even with the middle sized counties. This fact does not altogether result from the inconvenience in the registration law, but to a certain degree the vote is short on its account. It would naturally seem that from January to May 15th is ample time for the registration of all voters in even a large county like Lake, with but eleven precincts, and indeed it is, if people were compelled to register, but when the matter of registering is optional—which it must be—voters will not take the time to register. In many cases stockmen, such as sheep herders and vaqueros, and even ranchers living a great distance from these voting places seldom have an opportunity, especially at that time of year, to go to town, and when they do it is only upon very urgent business and their entire time is usually taken up with business matters and they think little, and for that matter have little time to go and hunt up a registering official and have their names placed on the register. It might seem strange to residents of Portland, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that hundreds of men in Eastern Oregon counties do not go to town during the time the registration books are open, and it is natural that this class of voters do not regard their franchise the most important object of their lives and do not make special trips for the purpose of registering.

The press of the state is of diversified opinion as regards the registration law, governed to a considerable extent by the immediate surrounding conditions. The practice in vogue of registering every two years places quite a burden upon the local newspapers to keep the people reminded of their duty to register, as if they were not continually informed of this necessity many and many would neglect it till too late, and do any way, either through neglect or inconvenience to perform this duty. Any amicable arrangements of the existing difficulty will be satisfactory, but it does seem that the trouble resulting from numerous failures to register should be eliminated to a considerable extent.

Tariff Hand Book.

Inasmuch as it is settled that the Tariff is to be the predominant issue in the Presidential campaign of 1904, the Tariff Hand Book, just issued by the American Protective Tariff League, becomes of special value. An equal amount of matter relating to the Tariff in its various phases has never been incorporated between the covers of any single volume. There is no question that the Free-Trade can possibly raise which is not answered in this handy book of ninety-six pages. Every fact bearing upon the Tariff and its relation to national and individual prosperity is herein to be found. Statistics covering almost every field of industrial, commercial and business activity are here presented in well ordered form, all of them authentic, official and indisputable. As an aid to writers and speakers in the current campaign, as well as to students desirous of informing themselves regarding economic facts and conclusions, the Tariff Hand Book will be found indispensable. Price, 25cents. American Protective Tariff League, 339 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Early Rising Proverbs.

A father was telling his son of the advantage of early rising, which he emphasized by using the well worn (but much appreciated) adage, "It is the early bird that catches the worm." The precocious juvenile replied, "All right, father; you get up in the early morning and catch the worms, and I'll go fishing with them in the afternoon." Charles Sothorn (of illustrious memory), in his famous character play of "Lord Dundreary," used to quote the proverb, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise," on which he commented as follows: "Now, there's my brother Sam; he used to go to bed early, sometimes as early as 4 o'clock (in the morning), and he was not particularly healthy. As for being wealthy, he would borrow a half crown from anybody without the slightest hope of being able (or even willing) to pay it back. And I never knew him to be wise, but confoundedly otherwise."—American Boy.

Why He Never Married.

The late Paul du Chailly was on one occasion asked why he had never married. "Well, once upon a time," he answered, without a smile, "an old African king who was very fond of me offered me my choice of 853 women as a wife. 'Your majesty,' I replied, 'if I should marry one of these beauties of yours there would be 852 jealous women here.' 'Well,' replied the king, 'that is easily settled. Take them all.' That was a little too strong for me, however, and as I have never had such a field to choose from since I am still a bachelor."

The Source of an Epidemic.

The Swiss town of Hagendorf had a typhoid epidemic not long ago, and it was suspected that it was started in a house in the upper part of the village where there had been some cases prior to the general outbreak. To test this theory, drainage water from this house, coloring it green. Nine hours later the whole water supply of the town was colored green, thus proving the fatal connection.

Salt to Prevent Cancer.

In a long study of malignant cancers Captain Rost, a young medical officer in India, has found that the bacteria attending the disease develop only when the natural chlorine of the body falls below the normal. By adding to the chlorine of the food, especially by increasing the use of salt, he claims to have cured one patient in the eight treated and to have benefited the others.

Beginning to Realize It.

"I never heard Dinsmore acknowledge that he was growing old before today." "How did he acknowledge it?" "He announced that he felt just as young as he ever did."—Detroit Free Press.

The Secret of Long Life and How to Overcome Waste.

To "know thyself" is to take advantage of life's secrets and equip one's self with an armor which will successfully resist the attack of disease in the battle of life. The old idea of fate or "kismet," and that a person always dies when his time comes, is now exploded. Every mechanism, whether made by God or man, has a definite amount of wear and its life can be lengthened or shortened according to the care that is given it. If accident or carelessness destroys the works of the watch or the human mechanism an end comes to its usefulness, but it has not actually "worn out." Man's system at times gets rusty like the wheels of the watch and only needs a little cleaning and oiling to put it in shape for life's battles.

An imitation of nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alternative extract of herbs and roots, without the use of alcohol, like Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This vegetable medicine coaxes the digestive functions and helps in the assimilation of food, or rather enables the organs to take from the food just the nutriment the blood requires.

Prof. J. E. Taungny, of 61 St. Peter Street, Quebec, writes: "I had been ill for some time with La Grippe and did not regain my strength. Within a week after using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I was able to be around again, and I found that my system was entirely free from any of the bad effects of La Grippe. I now keep a bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' on hand, and, when I catch cold, take a few doses, which keeps me in perfect health. As a builder up of lost strength and vitality I do not believe your 'Discovery' has an equal." Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the best laxative for old people. They cure constipation and biliousness.
