NATIONAL REPUBLICAN TICKET For President THEODORE ROOSEVELT Of New York For Vice-President CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS

Of Indiana

CHANCES OF ELECTION.

Some very interesting features of the coming presidential campaign have been brought about by the apportionment of presidential electors as distributed among the varlous states of the Union. Since a presidential election was held 29 representatives have been added to the lower house of congress and 29 votes have been added to the electoral college as a consequence. Out of the 29 new votes 9 of them went to the 13 states known as the solid south, while but six were distributed among the sure republican states; thus, the democrats have three the best of the new apportionment. The remaining 14 votes were given to doubtful states. Among these doubtful states is New York, whose efficiency was increased three votes. New York has always been counted the pivotal state and now that it has 39 votes. or five more than Ohio, which is a sure republican state, New York is much sought after. This fact was apparently observed by both parties in casting for presidential timber. When the republicans selected Roosevelt, a New Yorker, it was thought his influence would carry the state, but the democrats nominated a New Yorker also, and while the convention ignored the money question in their platform, Mr. Parker could see that to run a platform declared for a gold standard. New York and Fammany leans strongly to the democrats, when conditions are favorable. democratic platform makes New York very doubtful for the republicans.

Now, let us see what we can do for Roosevelt. The sure republican states will give him 159. Other counties of the state are of $40,000 and "coffee money." sending delegates to the meeting of the Development League to be held in Portland. No move has been rounds of the press and it runs as made in Lake county to co-operate follows: "We don't want to buy at with this League for the develop- your place. Who will be the one to start this important move. Wake up, Lakeview! Why dos't thou slumber while the good things of this world are being distributed among thy neighbors?

Bend has a Wall street. All same as New York, eh?

In Long Island on the 13th three men in an autopiobile were racing without a money plank in it would with a passenger train, the drive 70 injured. The excursion train was lose to him his own state, so he has running along side of the railroad moving at the rate of 40 miles per track for some distance. The drive crossed the track, and the automobilists being in the lead undertook to A gold standard cross the track, regardless of the watchman stationed at the crossing, and were instantly hurled to death. The bodies of the three men were horribly mangled.

Again we are called to notice what effect a gold plank in the democratic platform will have on Maryland, with 8 votes, which was a democratic state until the democrats filrted with free silver. This state is now almost sure to go to the demo-CERTS.

West Virginia has for years gone republican, since Ex-Senator G. H. Davis, the democratic nominee for vice-president laid down the reins to -mator Stephen B. Elkins, Davis' ~ m-in-law. Mr. Elkins is a power 1. West Virginia and it is not altowher unlikely that Elkins' fatherto law might control the 7 votes in to it state. A neat little case of grafting was recently operated by a lawyer by the name of Eaton, in Seattle. A woman died there intestate and with no heirs. Her property valued at $14,000 was escheated to the state.

Eaton probated the estate, which took him just 30 minutes, for which he received $7,000. It was the district attorney's duty to do this job without cost to the county.

There are some sporty fellows in Crook county. One man offers to bet anywhere from one to five thousand dollars that the Columbia Southern railroad will not be at Bend in two years, and another man offers to bet from one to five thousand that it will be there inside of one year. Wouldn't the "dough" fly if these two sports were to happen to get together?
