Moved to New Field.

Mr. C. H. Norton, the mining man, who has been doing some extensive prospecting in the vicinity of Paisley, has moved to a new field, where he will prospect for gold. He has found good indications near Willow Ranch and will make a thorough examination, as he did at Paisley. Mr. Norton did not give out the details of the result of his investigation at Paisley, and it is difficult to determine the exact condition at this time. It is, however, well known that ore was found to exist at Paisley, but the quality and quantity is not for the public to know at this time. There is one thing sure, Mr. Norton knows whether or not he is done at Paisley. If he goes back there, no doubt there is something there. It is the belief that he will make a thorough investigation of all the places in this section of country where prospecting has been done, and will probably not give out any information until he is through, and if there is then sufficient ore to pay for working he will open up the mines in earnest.

When it Rains it Pours.

Senator Mitchell is being criticized now for discharging his private secretary, Harry Robertson, who was called from Washington last winter to testify against the Senator before the federal grand jury in the land frauds case. This action on the part of Senator Mitchell was not unlooked for, as he roundly scolded Mr. Robertson upon his return to Washington, but failed to accept Robertson's verbal resignation. Not until Robertson returned from Washington a few days ago did Senator Mitchell make known to him that he was to be discharged, when he said that he did not care what Robertson had testified to but dismissed him for "base ingratitude." Robertson claims that Mitchell threatened to dismiss him if he did not tell him what happened in the grand jury room. This Mr. Robertson says he could not do without violating his oath, which he refused to do. Senator Mitchell is not only criticized for dismissing his secretary, but also for appointing J. Mitchell Handy the Senator's grandson, who it is said is incompetent to fill the place.

Salt peter on the Desert.

Roy Paxton, Charley Reed and several others went to the desert last week in search of a gold mine supposed to have been discovered by L. Winkleman. Some of the boys returned, and it is thought now that Mr. Winkleman did not find the sample of ore he was showing here anywhere on the desert, but that it was a piece of ore from the Plumas county (Calif.) mines.

Roy Paxton and Charley Reed made a very valuable discovery out near what is known as Venator Canyon, on the desert. Though they did not find any gold, they found traces of a bed of saltpeter, which if extensive enough, will prove as good as a gold mine. It appears that under and back of a high cliff of rocks there is a bed of saltpeter, and in numerous crevices the boys found chunks of the pure stuff. It is supposed the saltpeter was deposited in the crevices of the rhyolite by fixation during the wet seasons.

It is difficult to know how far the seams would have to be traced to find the bed, but the boys intend to make a more thorough investigation.
