

POWER IN BIG NAVY GUNS.

Machinist Explains Reason for Great Increase in Weight of Ebermann's Guns.

Speaking of the development in the defensive powers of the modern gun of the American navy...

"The general development is not the same to improvements in gun, or powder, or projectile, but to the shells themselves...

"I had then had a vision of the machine gun known as the Vickers gun. This gun was about 180 pounds heavy, with a 16 pound shell...

"I saw that before long the machine gun would be a thing of the past...
