Another Heppner Flood.
 Heppner was visited again on the 30th of May with another cloud burst. No damage was done to the town but four lives were lost seven miles above, where the flood was nine feet. A woman and child of one family and two children of another family were drowned.

Considerable stress and property loss is reported, and Heppner people have responded to the sufferings of the losers.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Why is it that Ayer's Hair Vigor does so many remarkable things? Because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair, puts new life into it. The hair cannot keep from growing. And gradually all the dark, rich color of early life comes back to gray hair.

When I first used Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was about all gray. But now it is the color of youth, and so thick as I could wish.

Thousands of Sheep Go to East.

What promises to be the biggest Spring movement of sheep to the East in the history of the stock business in the state is now commencing in Eastern Oregon," said C. J. Mills, livestock agent of the O. R. & N. "Probably 350,000 sheep or better, will be sent away from the Oregon ranges."

Most of the sheep will be distributed over the range of Montana, Wyoming and Colorado, where they will be fed during the Summer and later taken to the feeding lots where they will be fattened on grain and then slaughtered.

Demand is good in the East for sheep, and, in fact, Oregon mutton always commands a ready sale. Prices are high, owing to the good demand, and wool prices are also soaring. Oregon ranges are becoming stocked to the limit, and the surplus of the flocks must be disposed of. Movement of Oregon cattle to the East also promises to be heavy this Spring.—Telegram.

A Lively Runaway.

T. J. Magilton started in to move the household of The Examiner man last Saturday, and two or three loads had been moved. The next load was being loaded on the wagon when one of a crowd of seven or eight small boys, who were enjoying the rides back and forth, turned the water on at the hydron in the Ahlstrom lot, and the lawn sprinkler scared the team. They started to run and no one was close enough to catch them before they got under headway. They ran down the street to Mr. Magilton's stable, but were too badly frightened to stop, and turned the corner and ran south, upsetting the wagon and leaving the rear end of it by the barn. With the front wheels the horses ran south to the end of the street, where they crashed through the fence of the Reid meadow. The fence had some barb wire on it, and the horses got tangled in the wire and one of them fell and could not get up until it was helped up. Both horses received several cuts, and one of them was cut on the front leg, severing all the fleshy part of the leg. The wagon was not damaged further than a broken reach.

Library and Reading Room Notes.

Quite a number of cards have been sold during the past week "Senator North" by Gertrude Atherton is recommended as an interesting story of fiction Two good volumes, "Bugle Calls", and "The Successful Man of Business, have been kindly donated by the Author Benjamin Wood. These books are interesting and should be read by every one.

The letter to Canlegel has been written, duly signed and sent. Now we must await results.

Mrs. Rinehart, the President of the R. R. and L. A. has been ill during the past week. Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Hesy bird are in the country, so no meeting was held Monday evening.

A Lucky Throw.

Phil Lynch, the sheepman, came to town first of the week to sell his mutton. He was soon singled out by Mr. Dalton, buying for California, and the two men figured with each other all day Monday on the transfer of 2900 2 and 3-year-old wethers. Night found them apart on the price in a sum amounting on the lot to several hundred dollars.

Tuesday morning they agreed upon a scheme to bring the trade to a close. They were to toss a half-dollar, and the throw was to decide whether Lynch would accept the buyer's price or whether he would receive his own price. Mr. Dalton tossed the coin and Mr. Lynch said "heads," and heads it was. Then they agreed to never tell what they had done, and how The Examiner got this item we will never tell.

Better Prices for Wool.

The East Oregonian of May 23 says: From 18 1/2 to 22 1/2 cents per pound was paid for wool in the great sale held here today, and approximately 500,000 pounds were disposed of. The prices paid several cents above figures brought by most of the clips that were already sold, and are away above the prices given at the beginning of the season, when considerable wool was bought for prices ranging from 14 to 16 cents. Douglas Belts, president of the Woolgrowers' association, said: "The prices brought today are the best that have been paid in Eastern Oregon for 25 years. We who have held for the sales today have gotten from one to five cents per pound more than did those who sold before the sale. Practically all of the wool is now sold, and there will be no other sales day in Pendleton this season."
