National Good Roads Association

The Examiner is in receipt of the official call for the Fifth Annual National Good Roads Convention, to be held in Portland on June 21st to 24th, from the secretary, R. W. Richardson of Portland.

Mr. Richardson states that much of the present sentiment in favor of the permanent improvement of the public roads is due to the substantial support given the movement by the press of the country, and he urges a continuance of the support that has brought about the present success.

The time is most attractive for a visit to Portland, being at a time when the Lewis and Clark fair is an attraction itself, and any one wishing to visit the fair would do well to make it a point to visit the fair during the session of the Good Roads convention. Each county is entitled to several delegates, and if there is any person who wishes to go at that time could make his visit of importance to the county as well as to himself by going as a delegate to the Good Roads convention. We would be glad to recommend any of our readers to County Judge Daly for appointment as a delegate.

The National advisory Committee of Oregon consists of Dr. B. Daly of Lakeview, Senator John H. Michell, John H. Scott of Salem, G. A. Hartman of Pendleton and J. O. Booth of Grants Pass.
