LAKEVIEW, OREGON, JULY 27, 1905.

Hot, But Pleasant.

People are dying by the hundreds in New York and other Eastern cities with the thermometer in the neighborhood of 95, while people in this valley pitch hay in the sun with the thermometer 10 degrees higher. No one suffers more than unpleasantness here when it is 105, and go about their usual work. One consolation here, the heat is not oppressive and there is no day so hot that there are not occasional cool breezes. And even after these hottest days, one to sleep comfortable, wants a quilt or two over them at night.

The city of New York maintains an ice box, refrigerator, for its suffering humanity during hot spells, and it is kept full of patients these days, who have become prostrated by the heat.

The New Era contains an article, in detail, of a "Woman's Improvement Club," recently organized in Alturas. This is a good move in the right direction and every town should have just such a club. Few towns the size of Lakeview are without such an organization and in every instance an Improvement Club formed of the influential women of a town has proved a decided benefit. The duties usually imposed on such a club are various, while all conditions are considered and receive thought and recognition, principally social conditions are improved. Interest on the different affairs of the town which tend to the upbuilding and advancement of what would be generally recognized as progression is strictly attended to. There should be a Woman's Improvement Club organized in Lakeview. Plans for progress and beneficial conditions should be laid now. Let some one propose a meeting and all turn out and then see what success can be made toward the founding of such a club.

No doubt the two men who hung the jury in the Williamson, Gesner and Biggs case were as nearly convinced at the beginning of the trial as they were after hearing the evidence, at least, their proposition to trade the liberty of Gesner and Biggs for the release of Williamson when all the rest of the jury could convict all on the same evidence that would convict one, will lead the public to believe that they were willing to sacrifice Gesner and Biggs for Williamson, and a man who would do that could render his verdict as easily before hearing the evidence as afterwards. If the two men had said nothing people might have been more impressed with their sincerity.

If Senator Fulton persists in setting aside the verdict of the people at the polls at the election which made the new Primary law, and putting the power of nominating back into the hands of the few, selected by the still fewer, he will not be pleasing his constituents as much as if he would devote his entire attention to the interests of the state at Washington and let politics alone.

We have the new primary nominating law now, and it is yet untried. Let us use it, once at least, without the interference of those whose manipulation of politics made such a law necessary.

When lovely woman stops to frolic,
And eats a fruit that is not ripe,
What balm can soothe her melancholic,
And stay the raging pain of gripe?

The above is applicable in the case hereinafter mentioned. Some time ago there came to Lakeview a gentleman named Seale, known in the category of drummer, and representing a firm named Field Bros. Mfg. Co., 270 5th St., San Francisco, Calif. This gentleman Seale, and whose career is now Sealer, in Lakeview, went around to all families, told the women he had for sale, under cost, the finest groceries in the world; he said the local merchants were robbing the people; he said: "Bieber's good goods were but a dream, Schilling's Best wasn't in it, St. Jacob's oil Holloway's ointment were things of the past, compared with his goods. He got orders by the score of course, and all were delighted at the prospect of such good bargains. He dropped into one lady's house, who is by the way of femininity the pride of Klidare Nationality. She said he was a gentleman up the back for giving such fine bargains and for denouncing the local merchant. Madam gave him an order amounting to about $100, and said she would borrow the money in order to get such a fine bargain. Part of Madam's order was a box of English Breakfast Tea, as she said she would rather drink ditch water than green tea. "All right Madam," quoth Neighbor Seale, "you shall have the best tea in the market."

On Friday, July 21, the goods arrived, and Mr. Seale unsealed himself and the first order he delivered was to Madame. She paid him the cash. She was delighted and hugged the box with "English Breakfast Tea" in large flaring letters on the outside. She thought she would try some of the new tea for dinner. She opened the box; Lo and behold, what were the contents? 50 pounds of red pepper. She commenced to pray aloud, for drummers in particular, put on a pair of Wellington boots, kicked the wall a few times to see how they'd work and started up town to find Mr. drummer, which she did. "You thieving scoundrel," quoth Madame, "come take back your red pepper and send me my tea, or give me my money back." But Mr. drummer was inexorable; he would do neither. "You dirty blaguard," quoth Madame, "if I had the red pepper here I'd pour it all down your throat to warm your heart and soul, for they are both cold and dead to honesty." But drummy kept the noisless tenor of his way, walked on and heard not and left Madame to swear aloud and pray to the Sons of Tea God.

All other packages were then carefully investigated and found not full weight, and cost 10 per cent. more than the same kind of goods sell for here in Lakeview.

When thrifty housewife meets a drummer
And buys his wares without a test
She'll find, too late, 'tis a hummer,
And his goods lack much of being the best.
The only scheme that I can offer
To stop this thieving, cheating boom,
Is to keep the cash within your coffers,
And buy of merchants near your home.

McCARTHY COME DOWN.

Bennington Foundered.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., July 21.—Broken and blackened, with her flag flying at half-mast, her hold filled with 15 feet of water, the United States ship Bennington lies beached on the shores of San Diego harbor. Thirty-nine of her crew lie dead at city morgues, the fate of a dozen more is as yet undetermined, and three score are stretched upon beds of pain in various hospitals. This is the result of the explosion which wrecked the trim little naval craft and wrought such havoc among her crew at half-past 10 o'clock this morning. The placid waters of San Diego Bay have never before been the scene of such a disaster, and San Diego City has never before been stirred by such scenes of death and suffering as those witnessed to-night.
