Benny Van Dorn the Silver Lake horseman, returned from California last week, where he went some weeks ago with a band of horses.
Mr. Van Dorn says the market for horses in California is fairly good.
He will probably return to the lower country for the winter.

Dan Malloy's sheep were started for their winter range on the desert last week. Dan was quite uneasy about the weather, for fear the sheep would get on the desert before any storms came to replenish the almost exhausted water supply. The storm this week, however, puts all stockmen at ease.

Miss Alice Roosevelt's presents are not considered so valuable now as was reported when the collection of presents was made for transportation to the United States. The 27 trunks of presents have arrived at the custom house and their value appraised. Officials of the custom house are surprised that their value will not exceed a few thousand dollars.

Through a mistake the gentleman who bought a bunch of bucks from Geo. Jammertal, took 11 head of Dan Malloy's bucks and got as far as Warner before Dan knew anything about it. Dan overtook the bucks at South Warner and took his from the band. The man who bought the bucks had sold them to Mr. Hanley, who was buying up a band of stock sheep for a Nevada company, and Mr. Malloy found things pretty badly mixed up. All was settled satisfactorily, however, as Mr. Jammertal had a bunch of bucks in Warner, from which Mr. Hanley was satisfied.

Big Increase in Earnings of S. P.

The Southern Pacific Company has issued a financial statement showing a big increase in its earnings for the month of September, as compared with those of the corresponding month of last year. Gross earnings for the month were $8,881,- 660, as against $8,136,951 in September, 1904. Expenses and operations for the month amounted to $5,579,- 002, leaving net earnings of $3,302,658 as against $3,006,164 during the corresponding month of last year. Gross earnings for the three months of the present fiscal year ending September 30th were $25,662,778, as against $23,048,887 for the corresponding period of last year. Operating expenses and taxes amounted to $16,897,539, leaving net earnings of $8,765,239, as against $7,491,306 for

A Troublesome Creditor.

The poet Clement Marot, being in very straitened circumstances, went to the king and said, "I have come to lay before your majesty a complaint against one of my creditors whose claims I have satisfied over and over again, and yet he persists in dunning and harassing me at every opportunity."

"Who is the scoundrel?" the king inquired.

"My stomach, sire. Though I have satisfied its wants time without number, it never ceases to torment, and I am utterly incapable of meeting its demands."

The king was pleased with the joke and allowed the poet a pension on the spot.

Died on the Stage.

In 1833 Edmund Kean was acting the part of Othello. He had uttered the words, "Othello's occupation is gone," when he fell into his son's arms and had just strength to whisper, "I am dying; speak to them for me!" and was heard by the orchestra. In 1850 Mrs.
Glover took her last benefit, but was almost unconscious all the time she was on the stage, and died three days later. In 1838 Harley while playing Bottom in "Midsummer Night's Dream" was struck with paralysis immediately after having uttered the words, "I have an exposition of sleep come upon me." He had to be carried off the boards and died within a few hours.

Sealing Wax.

It is singular enough that the oldest known printed recipe for making common sealing wax, published at Augsburg in 1579, describes the use of almost the same ingredients as those at present employed. Rosin, the whitest that can be obtained; Venice turpentine and vermilion are the components. For black wax, lampblack is to be added; for blue wax, smalt, and for yellow, orpiment. When sealing wax was more widely used than is the case at present, scented wax was an article frequently on sale at fancy stationers.

The Risk Too Great.

"I may be young," said the very young man, "but my love for your daughter is as strong and true as if I were whitened by the snows of innumerable winters."

"Oh, I don't doubt your love," replied the stern father, "but have you ever had the measles or the whooping cough? It wouldn't be fair, you know, for us to take you into the family and have to nurse you through those complaints some time or other."

A Suggestion.

Mr. Sloman—Now, you're joking again, aren't you? Miss Waite—Judge for yourself. You should know me pretty well by this time. Mr. Sloman—But you puzzle me sometimes. I don't know what to make of you. Miss Waite—No? By the way, did you hear about Jack Brown and May Long? H. made her his wife yesterday.—St. Louis Republic.

Not Reassuring.

"Mr. Stalate," said the bashful youngster, "I asked sister if she thought you would get up and go home like the other young man did if I recited 'Cur-few Shall Not Ring Tonight.'"
"And what did she say?"
"She said there wouldn't be any harm in trying."

Answered.

"Why are you yawning?" inquired the landlady of little Johnny at the table.
"I always yawn when I'm hungry," was the reply.
"But what do you do when you are sleepy?"
"Go to bed."

Violence in the voice is often only the death rattle of reason.—Boyes.

People Who Are Talked About

THOMAS M.
PATTERSON
of Colorado who succeeded the late Edward O. Welles in the United States senate, was one of the members of the Taft Philippine party and is of the opinion that the gulf between natives and Americans is widening if the islands rather than decreasing. "I am convinced," he says, "that we are getting further and further away from Secretary Taft's patriotic and humanitarian policy—the Philippines for the Filipinos and ultimate independence."

Senator Patterson once had as a client an odd character, who always wore a Prince Albert coat, no matter what work he was engaged in. This client who was named Burns, chanced to strike a rich vein of ore and named it the Prince Albert. Being of a generous and convivial disposition, he was surrounded by many self-seeking friends When he and they were in their cups some of them, with an eye to the main chance, managed to wheedle shares in the mine out of him. With royal prodigality he scattered deeds about among his retainers and camp followers until finally something had to be done, and the case was taken into court. Senator Patterson had Burns on the stand "Now, Mr. Burns," said he, "will you please tell the court how you can explain your conduct? The evidence shows that you have deeded away twenty-nine twenty-fourths of your mine. What have you to say to that?"
"Well, Misther Patterson," replied the witness, "you must remember, sor, that the Prince Albert is a very large mine."

"Man and Superman," George Bernard Shaw's new work, has been much criticized in this country on moral grounds. In the free public libraries of New York instructions have been given not to offer it to the reading public and only to furnish it on application. But Mr. Shaw is used to criticism of his ideas and thrives on it.
When he heard that "Man and Superman" had been eyed askance in the United States he attributed it to "Comstockery," said America was provincial anyway and added, "I can promise the Comstockers that, startling as "Man and Superman" may appear to them, it is the merest Sunday school tract compared with my later play, "Major Barbara," with which they will presently be confronted."

Mr. Shaw, who once declared that he could write better plays than Shakespeare, is the author of "Arms and the Man," which was prohibited in Austria on account of alleged revolutionary tendencies.

The play was produced in New York
by Richard Mansfield. "Man and Superman" is now running at a New York theater. Mr.
Shaw is in his fiftieth year, and, though it is said his beliefs have changed somewhat in regard to conventional institutions since his young manhood, he is still the apostle of hetero-doxy and cynicism. In his early days in London he was known especially for his ardour in behalf of socialism. Later in his career Shaw married a rich widow, and one of his Socialist friends on meeting him said: "Mr.
Shaw, I congratulate you. You can now sell all that you have—now you have something to sell—and give to the poor."

GEORGE BERNARD
SHAW.

"Not at all," returned Shaw. "I don't practice socialism; I preach it." An American clipping agency recently received the following characteristic note from Mr. Shaw:

Derry Rossarbery, County Cork, 15th September, 1862.
Gentlemen—The view of my order expressed in your letter of the 7th September is correct.
At the end of the year I shall probably ask you to change our arrangement to one whereby I shall pay 5 cents for every cutting you do not send me.
For heaven's sake, don't be too diligent. Consider your health; take it easy.
G. BERNARD SHAW.

Jacob H. Schiff, the New York banker who as a director of the Equitable Life Assurance society testified regarding its operations before the Armstrong investigating committee, recently received a decoration from the emperor of Japan. In recognition of his services in connection with the financing of the Japanese war loans, the medals conferred upon Mr. Schiff by the Imperial Government are of the second class. There are eight classes in the order, and that awarded Mr. Schiff is the highest that may be conferred upon a person not a native of Japan.

Mr. Schiff is regarded as one of the ablest financiers of his time, and his wealth is estimated at over $50,000,000.
His philanthropy has won him the title of "the Monte-born in Frankfurt-on-the-Main in 1847 and came to the United States at eighteen. His connection with the firm of head, came through a romance. He
