ANIMAL PHOTOGRAPHY.

Difficult Subjects.

"The hardest of wild animals to photograph is the kangaroo," said the zoo. camera expert. "He is constantly hopping around, getting out of range and focus, and his color is of that dark, neutral tone that requires long exposure to get the details. The leopard is their strange vocabulary in the effort a restless creature, and it is hard to catch him just right. When the animal is alert he makes an example of brute beauty that is worth preserving.

"But the monkey makes the camera artist earn his wages. He is a half human chap, with a sense of humor all his own. He is as full of humor and mischief as a healthy boy. As the monkey is mischievous, so is the lion proud and is easily the leader among the vain animals. He is the zoological Beau Brummel. The lion rather fancles the camera expert and whenever one comes in view will settle down into a graceful pose and keep it until the operator turns away. A camera seems to terrify the tiger. At first he looks at it in quiet amazement. When the operator draws nearer the look of wonder gives place to one of annoyance and the pressed back ears give token of anger.

plished young congressman from Onio. Nicholas Longworth, was ever at Miss Roosevelt's side, and, though no engagement has been announced between him and the president's daughter, he was regarded by the members of the party as her chosen defender. Once he saved her from a fall from her horse while they were descending a steep declivity in the Philippines. He showed no signs of jealousy when his majesty the sultan of Sulu offered her a seat on a throne, and but once on the tour was he slow to respond to his fair companion's slightest wish. That was one day just after the steamer had left Nagasaki for Manila. The morning was hot, and a large canvas bathing tank that had been erected on deck for the convenience of the Taft party looked very Inviting.

"Congressman Longworth," said Miss Roosevelt suddenly, "if you will take a plunge, dressed as you are, I will follow suit."

Mr. Longworth looked at the water, looked at his clothes and shrugged his shoulders by way of objection. "Well, if you don't dare I do," declared the impulsive girl, and before any one could remonstrate in she went, with a merry laugh and a loud splash, and swam around the tank. Mr. Longworth then sprang in after her, and they had a refreshing bath at the expense of wet clothing.

Miss Roosevelt nearly started a tribal war by accepting a present from a rival of the sultan of Sulu when the party was at Malabang. The tribesmen had given an exhibition of sports and his fair guest of honor with some finely embossed bolos, spears and creeses, which were received with suitable expressions of pleasure. Then came Jokanim, a rival chieftain, and with much ceremony offered a string of pearls as his gift. It so delighted the away to show it to her friends. The sultan fairly snarled at his rival and strode to Miss Roosevelt, made a low obelsance and, tearing from his finger a matchless pearl set in a ring, presented it to her. "Princess Alice's' smiles brushed away his rage at his rival, and hostilities were happily avert-

The problem of perpetual motion is almost solved by the hyena. It has a homely face, wide at the top and pointand treachery written in every line. About the only way to secure a good picture in his case is to tie him fast so that he cannot move a jot. Even then results are not entirely satisfactory."

The Horrors of War.

In his diary of the campaign of 1866 the Emperor Frederick of Germany miration of the British army. wrote; "It is a shocking thing to ride over a battlefield, and it is impossible to describe the hideous mutilations which present themselves. War is really something frightful, and those who create it with a stroke of the pen, sitting at a green cloth table, little dream what horrors they are conjuring up.' Bismarck once expressed himself to the same effect and added; "Had It not been for me there would have been three great wars the less, the lives of $0,000 men would not have been sacrificed, and many parents, brothers, sisters and widows would not now be mourners. That, however, I have settled with my Maker!"

How Do You Write One Billion?

There is one sum expressed by the Arabic numerals upon which the American and the English mathematicians have never been able to agree, the exact number of naughts to be used in expressing the sum of 1,000,000,000. In this country as well as in France and several other European nations a billion is a thousand millions and is expressed with a figure 1 and nine naughts-thus, 1,000,000,000. In England, however, they speak of a billion as being "a million millions" and in writing it with Arabic characters always use a figure 1 and twelve naughts -thus, 1,000,000,000,000.

Remarkable Fortress.

In the northern part of Madagascar is the most remarkable natural fortress in the world. It is occupied by a wild tribe who call themselves the People of the Rocks. The fortress is a lofty and precipitous rock of enormous size, 1,000 feet high and eight square miles in area. Its sides are so steep that it games, and the sultan had presented cannot be climbed without aritficial means. Within it is hollow, and the only entrance is by a subterranesn passage.

A Chinese Maxim.

When the sword is rusty, the plow bright, the prisons empty, the granarles president's daughter that she danced full, the steps of the temples worn down and those of the law courts grass grown, when doctors go afoot, the bakers on horseback and the men of letters drive in their own carriages, then the empire is well governed.

But at the close of his life he is described as having lived in a and fattening on the empty praise he that he was an excellent boon compana Mr. Ackers, a member of parliament, to accompany him and one or two others to Paris, the host promising to give him a holiday and pay all his expenses. picture," said he, "and I want to finish it for exhibition." "Never mind that," returned Ackers, "Bring it with you and paint it there." Hawkins yielded, as he always did in the end, and the picture was put into the carriage. As they were driving along Mr. Ackers asked to be allowed to look at it, and when it was uncovered he said, "What do you want for it?"

"I shall want £50 for it when it's finished," answered Hawkins.

"Very well," returned the member of parliament. "I'll give it to you, and I'll finish the picture for you too." With that he kicked a hole through the canvas, and the artist was thus set free for an undisturbed jollification.
