LAKEVIEW, OREGON, JAN. 4, 1906.

Examiner is Twenty-seven Years Old

The twenty-seventh birthday of the Lake County Examiner finds it bigger and better and stronger than any previous anniversary. The founders of The Examiner on January 1, 1880, peering into the future, and attempting to prophesy the results of their efforts at starting a newspaper in an inland town like Lakeview was then, could not have hoped for the success that has attended this paper. The Examiner is on a footing that permits it to be independent in all things, and is not compelled to sell its principles for existence. It is backed only by its character and its high ideals of legitimate work of a newspaper. It is patronized for its worth and not for charity sake nor for selfish aims. Its publisher earnestly solicits patronage, and humbles himself to the public to the extent of becoming a solicitor for clean newspaper business, not charity.

Its news columns are free to all matter of interest and benefit to the public, especially Lakeview and Lake County; its advertising space is for sale at standard prices and one price to all honest advertisers; its editorial columns are not for sale at any price.

The past year of The Examiner's career, we are proud to say, has been one of ordinary prosperity; has been fraught with as many difficulties perhaps, as any other fairly prosperous business, but all these have been overcome in their turn, and The Examiner has been made to advance step by step, feeling cautiously the way and moving circumspectly. Some things may have been said that were unpleasant to some person but we have regretted them as much or more, probably than any one else if injustice was done.

One thing that we can say and that is, The Examiner has been clean and above slander and filth. We have not cut out a paper that we felt would moralize or taint any of the many lies it contained. We cannot afford to do so. We have not been in defense of any personal attacks, although it is a common thing, in some minds such a course would have been justifiable. Refraining from such we respect ourselves more and believe we are more respected. Calm though and a high regard for the refined feelings and sentiments of our readers have held the upper hand in these matters at all times.

The publisher of the Lake County Examiner wishes the readers a HAPPY NEW YEAR, prosperity throughout the year 1906. We also thank them for their liberal patronage, and ask for another year of the same, if it is seen that the paper is deserving of such.

The Baker City crank who hatched the scheme to raise by popular subscription a dowry amounting to $800,000 to give Alice Roosevelt on the occasion of her wedding would serve Eastern Oregon a good turn if he would give his address as some other place. The public is ashamed of him, and his appointment without consultation of State Treasurer Moore as custodian, was resented by that sensible gentleman who said that he would have nothing to do with so foolish a scheme. Miss Roosevelt is to be regarded as highly as any American girl, but is she a hero because she won Mr. Longworth's heart or is she to be pitied and paid for the sacrifice she is making. The president very sensibly stated that his family was a unit in the community just the same as thousands of other families and that such an outrage must not be perpetrated. The president will no doubt remember Baker City, in Eastern Oregon, but with no good grace. Horrors! why couldn't this calamity have been avoided, or if fools must make themselves conspicuous why can't their schemes for notoriety bob up in some other locality more able to be judged than Eastern Oregon which has trouble's of its own?

Oregon leads the United States in record of financial stability, and her commercial future is more brilliant than that of any other state of the West. says the Portland Telegram, which has gathered statistics bearing out these statements.

There are obstacles in the way of proceeding with the Umatilla irrigation project. There are about 20 desert, and claims of 320 acres each inside the limits of the proposed project, patent to which cannot issue until the land is reclaimed. The entries have been negotiating a deal with a private irrigation company, whereby the water company is to receive 240 acres of each tract for furnishing water to reclaim the tracts. The government has an option on the private company's canals and franchises, and if the government buys the companies out the locators on the desert land will be shut out from a water source. It has been suggested that these entries were not made in good faith, but for speculative purposes, and the matter is to be investigated.

Oregon Oriano is the name of a new paper started at Vale, Malheur county, by Messrs. Hurley & Heath. The publication can be easily identified as the output of able and up-to-date newspaper men by its many marks of the profession. "Oriano" on the range is known as a "longear," or unbranded, unmarked animal, and subject to the rope and iron of the first to find it. If Messrs. Hurley & Heath can produce a "longear" as much sought after as the "longear" calf and colt, their subscription list ought to grow by leaps and bounds. We acknowledge receipt of copy No. 1, Vol. 1.

Thomas W. Lawson the great financier, was prominent the other day in a rattling of the dry bones in the stock markets in Wall street and recovered from his threatened financial ruin on Montana copper. The week in the markets has been one of record, call loans, that is loans payable upon 24 hours notice, demanding as high as 175 per cent interest. "Uncle" Russell Sage came to the rescue with $30,000,000 which he loaned out in three hours at fabulous rates. His profits from money loaned in one day amounted to $20,000.

The Mammoth steel floating drydock, Dewey, built by the Maryland Steel Co. for the government for use in the Philippine Islands, started on its 14,000 mile journey to the naval station at Olongapo, P.I. on the 28th. It will take three months for the big steel concern to make the voyage and many naval officers have expressed the belief that it would be a perilous, if not unsuccessful experiment. It is estimated that from four to five knots will be the maximum speed of the drydock on its journey. It has eight 10,000 pound anchors.

The Receiver and Receiver of the Sauanville Land office are in receipt of a decision of the Hon. Commissioner of the General Land office, of December 15th, 1905, calling for supplementary evidence by the witnesses in final proof on timber lands because their evidence did not show that a personal knowledge of the condition of the lands immediately prior to the submission of the proof thereon.

Judge Wolverton announced that F. J. Heney will be in Portland about February first and shortly after his arrival the Oregon land fraud trials will open. Hermann has gone to Washington to attend Congress, and it is not known when his trial will come off.

The bones of G. M. Plymale of Medford, who disappeared two years ago, was found by prospectors a few days ago, five miles from Plymale's cabin. He was supposed to have perished in a snow storm. Articles found in the pockets of the clothing made identification possible.

William J. Lachner of Baker City, has announced his candidacy for congressman from the second district on the republican ticket. Mr. Lachner is an Eastern Oregon man by birth, having been born at Canyon City 35 years ago.

Bob. Fitzsimmons has gone to New York to begin suit against his wife, who recently deserted him, for $15,000 worth of jewels that belonged to his first wife. Bob says he will contest her application for divorce.

S. B. Huston candidate for Congress from the first district, has made known the platform from which he proposes to run. He embodies all the important matters in which the district is concerned.

Celebrators of the advent of the new year in Portland were given but fifteen minutes by the police to toot their horns, shoot firecrackers and anvils.

A man named Jackson is serving a 30-day sentence in the Lane County jail for jumping a $30 board bill.

The North Atlantic squadron will be sent to Russia to protect American life and property.

NEW SIMPLEX TYPE-SETTING MACHINE.

succeeding line while it is justified the whole movement of these parts occupying but a moment.

On top of the "line pusher" which carries the line of type into the galley as above described, is a receptacle for leads. If the matter to be set is to be leaded, the operator moves a small thumb-nut to position and a lead is delivered behind each line as the line pusher carries it into the galley. If, however, the matter is to be set solid, the thumb-nut is turned to its original position, and the line pusher will convey the lines into the galley without delivering any leads. This device has been found to be a great convenience, as the operator is relieved from inserting the leads by hand, and the output of the machine is thus increased.

When a galley has been filled it is removed from the support by moving back a latch, and an empty galley substituted — the galleys being ready for proving, etc., when removed from the machine without further lock-up or other handling. Beside the justified shelf, for containing rules, dashes, heads, etc. Every need of the operator has been carefully studied and means provided by which he can perform his duties without inconvenience or loss of time.

All parts of the machine have been designed in the most simple and substantial form, particular attention having given to making them accessible and interchangeable. Duplications of parts subject to wear are sent with the machine, and can easily be substituted by the operator when those on the machine is worn. The average compositor quickly learns the requirements of the machine and how to meet them, and will soon attain average speed in operating.

is daily enacted, in thousands of homes, as Death claims, in each one, another victim of Consumption or Pneumonia. But when Coughs and Colds are properly treated, the tragedy is averted. F. G. Huntley, of Oaklandon, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption, and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which cured her, and to-day she is well and strong." It kills the germ of all diseases. One dose relieves, guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by Lee Beall druggist. Trial bottle free.
