"In the first place, he is not that sort, and in the next I object to your "cotting mean about Bowser, you using slang. The man's name, if you knowmust know, is Thompson, and he has a good deal to do with the politics of this ward."

"He's what you call a ward heeler. is he?"

"Madam, we will close this conversation right here and now," stimly replied Mr. Bowser as he led the way to dinner.

"There were three other fellows of the same kidney hanging around some time ago. Are the four a committee to call on you?"

"The citizens of this precinct are not satisfied with the alderman. Nine out of ten taxpayers believe him crooked. They want an honest man as a candidate at the next election."

"That means they want you," replied Mrs. Bowser.

"As a matter of fact and speaking without conceit, it does. I can say without egotism that I am well and favorably known."

"And you are going to be goose enough to go into politics again. I thought you had a dose of it two or into politics and gone out again.

"Stop right there. We don't discuss this matter another minute. Don't speak another word. After I have concluded my business with the committee this evening you and I can have ten minutes' conversation in regard to the divorce and the amount of alimony. Ten minutes will be enough. No law made by man can expect a husband to stand such talk from a wife. Madam, will you oblige me by going to your room and remaining there for the next hour? When the moment arrives I will summon you." "And you'll let these ward heelers work you for fifteen or twenty dol-

Mr. Bowser stood in his tracks and literally gasped for breath, and he was pinching himself to see if he were alive when she passed him and went upstairs. Next moment the doorbell rang, and Mr. Bowser opened the door to admit four men. Each and every one of them would have been arrested on sight if seen in the alley by a policeman, but he was not critical. When they had got seated in the library the man that had talked with Mr. Bowser at the gate took command of things by saying in a hoarse whisper:

"Mr. Bowser, it is usual on such occasions as this for the perspective candidate to tender wine and cigars." He meant prospective, but his slip was good naturedly passed by, and the wine and cigars were forthcoming. "This is the sort of man I like to meet," observed another member of the committee as he smacked his lips. "Mr. Bowser is no man to bring you a drink of water and a bite of plug to-COMMITTEE VISITS HIM bacco. Say, fellers, we'll give him 300 majority."

"Ya! Ya! Hear! Hear!" shouted the other two.

"Now for business," continued the chairman, "Mr. Bowser, we want an honest man for alderman in this end of the ward."

Mr. Bowser bowed,

"You are an honest man." Mr. Bowser bowed again.

The Unconquered Boers.

A party of unconquered Boers has fust arrived in Batavia, traveling to a Dutch colony under the auspices of a Boer relief fund committee. The government has assigned an abandoned estate for them to settle upon as small cultivators. These Boers will be utilized for experimental purposes. There is much distress among the lower class of Europeans and Eurasians in Java. Many of them seek grants of land on easy terms, on which they could start cultivation in a small way. As most of them have no experience in farming, the government hesitates to put them on the land from fear of failure. THE DANGER TO THE CHILD May be real or the snake may be a harmless one, but there is danger that menaces every child's life if the mother is defi-cient in womanly health and functional vitality.

Thousands of women have borne their sufferings and kept their troubles to themselves from motives of delicacy and feeble childhood has paid for it.

Dr. Pierce, forty years ago, consulted Nature, and found that she had provided remails in abundance for the euro of Nature, and found that she had provided remedies in abundance for the cure of woman's peculiar allments and weak-nesses. He found that non-alcoholic, glyceric extracts of Golden Seal root, Blue Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Black Cohosh root and Lady's Slipper root, combined in just the right proportions, gave such surprising results that this compound soon became a standard favorite of his in the treatment of such cases. In a little time the demand for it became so great that he determined to put it up and provide for its general sale so that the multitudes needing it could readily supply themselves.

This is now known all over the civilized world as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and its unparalleled record of hundreds of thousands of cures, in the last forty years, justifies all that can be said of it.

It is non-alcoholic, non-narcotic. It is safe and reliable for any woman, of any age and in any condition, to use. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—only one or two a day will regulate and cleanse and invigorate a foul, had Stomach, torpid Liver, or sluggish Bowels.
