

1916 Harvest.
 "Young Briefly had only been admitted to the bar a week when he made a fortune. He was caught in a railroad wreck in which forty people were injured."
 "And he was one of those who got damages?"
 "He was all of them. He got all the victims to retain him."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Advantages to the New Generation.
 He—Yes; I suppose it was awfully good of the "governor" to leave me this place, but I don't care for it. He was too practical a man to have really good taste.
 She—Still, you ought to be glad to have a place like this to rest in after your father's labors.—Brooklyn Life.

Wanted to Have It Over.
 "Mamma," said Bennie as there came a brief pause in the conversation on the part of the callers, "isn't it time for you to ask me what I learned at the kindergarten today? If you don't do it pretty soon, I'll forget what you told me to say."—Chicago Tribune.

Unsatisfactory.
 "I tried the plan of thinking twice before speaking," he said, "but it didn't work."
 "No?"
 "Well, hardly. Why, by the time I'd thought twice my wife had me roasted to a finish."—Chicago Post.

Close and Costly.
 "They are continually quarreling, and yet he persists in saying that she is near and dear to him."
 "Correct. He means that she drags to his coat tails and buys lace dresses and imported bonnets."—Baltimore News.

Hands and Feet.
 "Did those people whom you went to civilize welcome you with open hands?"
 "No," answered the missionary sadly; "they all jumped on me with both feet."—Washington Star.

Inspiring.
 "How perfectly the girl graduates her step!"
 "Yes; the orchestra is playing the wedding music from 'Lohengrin.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Love's Anesthetic.
 Her Mamma—My dear, I am surprised that you should suffer a man to kiss you!
 Her Daughter—But, mamma, I didn't suffer.—Boston Globe.

Always Broke.
 Blobs—Hardup reminds me of the Ten Commandments.
 Blobs—In what way?
 Blobs—He's always broke.—Philadelphia Record

Well Trained.

"Is he a good dog for burglars?"
 "I guess so; de feller I bought him off wuz a burglar."—New York Journal.

Truth of the Matter.

Before and after taking.—Chicago News.

Said in Society.

"My dear, there is such a crush here—simply crowded, you know?"
 "Why, who is here?"
 "Oh, nobody at all."

Feline Suggestion.
 May—I don't like the fit of this gown at all. I wonder how I could improve it?
 Fay—Let some other girl wear it, dear.—Life.

CHOICE MISCELLANY

Unlucky Royal Names.
 The Christian name of Peter has never been fashionable among royals. England has never had a monarch baptized as Peter, and in other countries the Peters have been unlucky. Peter or Pedro I., emperor of Brazil, abdicated after an uneasy reign, and his son, Pedro II., was driven to Europe by a revolution and died in Paris in 1891. Pedro the Cruel of Castile and Leon was slain by his brother in single combat. Peter the Great of Russia was guilty of frightful excesses. His grandson, Peter II., reigned only three years and died of smallpox at the age of fifteen. Peter III. was dethroned and strangled by conspirators. Peter I. of Servia has already a brutal massacre behind him. John is another name avoided by royals. We had only one John, and the experience was unhappy. In Scotland such was the popular repugnance to the name that when the son of Robert II. ascended the throne he changed his name from John to Robert. Few of the Jameses died in their beds, and the alteration to Charles was not a successful experiment. Edward, George, William and Henry have on the whole been fortunate names for our sovereigns to bear.—London Chronicle.

Making Standard Oil Cans.
 Nowhere does the policy of economy which Mr. Rockefeller has worked out show better than in one of the Standard oiling works. Several months ago the writer visited the largest of the Standard oil factories, the Devoe, on the East river, Long Island City. It has a capacity of 70,000 five gallon cans a day and is probably the largest can factory in the world.

The five gallon can turned out at the Devoe is a marvel of evolution. The present methods of manufacture are almost entirely the work of Herman Miller, known in Standard circles as the "father of the five gallon can." The machinery for making the can has been so developed that while, in 1885, when Mr. Miller began his work, one man and a boy soldered 850 cans in a day in 1880 three men made 8,000, and since 1893 three men have made 24,000. It is an actual fact that a tin can is made by Miller in just about the time it takes to walk from the point in the factory where the sheets of tin are unrolled to the point where the finished article is filled with oil.—Ida M. Tarbell in McClure's.

Wagon Loads of Money.
 The presses of the bureau of engraving and printing are moving twenty-four hours a day printing money. The run is on new national bank notes.

It takes about twenty-five days to prepare new money for the banks so that it will be properly seasoned to go into the hands of the public.

The banks have orders ahead for many millions, and the circulation is being delivered to the comptroller by wagon loads each day. From the comptroller's office it is shipped to the banks upon the deposit of bonds covering the amount to be shipped. The circulation of national banks of the United States has passed the $400,000,000 mark, the largest amount in their history.

Dec. 31 last the circulation of the banks stood at $384,929,784, and this was considered about the highest figure that would be reached before next fall.—Washington Post.

Great Britain's Seagoing Men.
 One in every thirty-six of the males over fifteen years of age in the United Kingdom is a seaman in the mercantile marine or a fisherman, according to the report of the board of trade committee, but that by no means represents the proportion of Britons who go to the sea in ships. For the current year the total number of officers and men, active service ratings, provided by the estimates for the royal navy is 127,000, being an increase of 4,000 over the previous year. Taking the two totals this means that one in about every twenty is a sailor, which is an enormously larger percentage than that which any other nation can boast, even with the conscription which supplies the seamen of several continental countries.—London Chronicle.

Præniuptial Confidences.
 She was an exacting Philadelphia young woman, and before she would promise to marry him he had to answer a great many questions relating to his past life. He thought he had given her a very fair account of himself, but just when the wedding ceremony was about to take place he remembered an omission, and, fearing that she might have cause for future reproach, he whispered in her ear:
 "Mary, there is one thing I have not told you yet. I am a Universalist. Does it matter, love?"
 "No, I guess not, dear," said the bride serenely. "I am a somnambulist."—Philadelphia Ledger.

GERMAN GLEANINGS.
 The amount of German capital invested abroad is said to be over $8,000,000,000.

During the last seven years Germany has laid 7,375 miles of cable, at a cost of $7,000,000.

German cities are still growing so fast that the sawmills can hardly keep up with their orders.

Telegraph wires in Berlin are being placed under ground so as to avoid accidents from storms.

Berlin has now a "bachelors' club" divided into small flats, with smoking and dining rooms in common, where single men can live at moderate rates

NEW SHORT STORIES

Then the Band Worked.
 Some months after K., as Tommy calls Lord Kitchener, had taken over command from Lord Roberts during the recent war in South Africa he had occasion to visit some blockhouses which were in course of erection just outside one of the leading commercial towns. One, he noticed, had been placed in a rather exposed position, and he therefore ordered trenches and sandbags to be thrown up at once, in order to strengthen it. Going inside one of the blockhouses—they are all connected by telephone—he rang up the officer commanding a unit in the town, when the following dialogue took place:
 K.—Are you there?
 C. O.—Yes, sir.
 K.—Are you in command of the shire regiment?
 C. O.—Yes, sir.
 K.—I want a working party, fifty strong, with trenching tools, to be here at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.
 C. O.—I beg your pardon, sir, but my men are all employed on something or other, the majority escorting prisoners down the line.
 K.—Oh, I see. Ah, is that a band I hear playing there?
 C. O. (hesitating)—Yes, sir.
 K.—Oh, it is. What band?
 C. O.—Regimental band, sir, playing outside the mess.

A Remarkable Hat.
 According to a French paper, there is a man in London who possesses a remarkable straw hat. For years past he has followed King Edward about at foreign watering places, and whenever he saw the Prince of Wales, as the king then was, drinking anything through a straw he pounced upon the straw and added it to his collection. Last year this strange collector had gathered such a bundle of straws that he had a hat made of them.

A Tiny Journal.
 Omeo, among the mountains of Victoria, Australia, formerly possessed the smallest journal printed in the British dominions. It was not much larger than an ordinary sheet of note paper, and its title was the Echo of the Mountains. During one severe winter Omeo was cut off from civilization by heavy falls of snow, and its supply of ordinary printing paper having been exhausted, the Echo of the Mountains was printed for some weeks on grocers' brown paper bags.

They Sent For Peggy.
 In a large New York department store some books were being sold at the dry goods counter as a special attraction. A business man rushed in to get a novel on his way downtown, and he chanced to mistake the dry goods counter with the book specialties for the book department. In breathless

THE IMPATIENT CUSTOMER WAS CONFRONTED BY A YOUNG WOMAN.
 haste he asked for "Peggy O'Neal" and the saleslady at the counter answered, "Not here at the moment, but will call." The saleslady next rushed to the speaking tube and cried, "Send Peggy O'Neal down right away!" A few moments later the impatient customer was confronted by a young woman whose name answered to the title of the novel. Explanations and apologies followed, and then the customer was shown to the book department.

The Louis Quinze Hat.
 The Louis Quinze hat promises to be one of the leading styles in millinery for the fall. A number of smart women are already wearing it. The model illustrated is of white chip straw with white enamel buckle and three white strich tips. Black velvet ribbon, so much used in millinery at present, forms a wide, tight band around the crown and completes the simple trimming. Gray plumes may be substituted for the white upon straw of this kind and color.—Philadelphia North American.

Beginning to Realize It.
 "I never heard Dinmore acknowledge that he was growing old before today."
 "How did he acknowledge it?"
 "He announced that he felt just as young as he ever did."—Detroit Free Press.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Gulpure lace retains its popularity, and other is the favorite tint.

Sleeves are now growing more and more baggy, the whole of the bagginess coming at the wrist.

Incrustations of lace medallions or of printed silk flowers are among the most popular decorations on summer dresses.

On street shoes and Oxfords the heel one and a half inch in height is most in demand. For dressy shoes the Louis XV. heel of medium height has the preference.

Peau de laine is a rival to peau de sole, the wool having been woven into the same leatherlike surface as the silk, and both show off colors to great perfection.

It is predicted that the Russian blouse skirted coat with its slight pouch in front and in a length that reaches almost to the knee will make its appearance in the early fall.

Grass lawn makes an admirable petticoat of the washable type. Finished with frills embroidered in black or colored flax thread, a chain stitch of the same heading the hem, such a skirt is both useful and pretty.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Desolate St. Helena.
 A recent leading article in the only paper printed on the Napoleonic rock advocates the conversion of St. Helena into a sort of penal settlement as the only mode of salvation. St. Helena had an extraordinary boom of prosperity during the South African war, when thousands of Boer prisoners were isolated there. Now there is no market for the local beef and vegetables, and the agriculturists are in despair. "Their lands are full of weeds, their gardens unplanted."

The Echo.
 Tourist (in Ireland)—Isn't there a very fine echo about here?
 Guide—Yes, sir. Shout "A pint of beer" as loud as you can.
 Tourist shouts and after a few moments remarks, "The sound doesn't seem to come."
 Guide—No, sir. But here comes the beer.—London Telegraph.

London's Hospitals.
 The total expenditures of all the hospitals of the British metropolis exceeded £5,000,000 a year.

More than one-half of it is derived from contributions and legacies. The other half is obtained from voluntary contributions, and the total is less than that of any other metropolis in the world.

"COMPLETELY DISCOURAGED"
 Is the feeling and plaint of women who are "run-down" so low that work drags, head aches, back aches, limbs tremble, voices quiver, little things annoy and "everything goes wrong," the other way just a minute and see what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for more than a half-million women in the last thirty years.
 What it has done for others it can do for you.

Believing that alcoholic, stimulating medicines were doing much harm, Dr. R. V. Pierce turned his investigating mind upon the problem of producing a remedy for the use of weak and suffering women that should be free from alcohol and at the same time EFFECTIVE AND SAFE.

Nature has provided abundantly for such needs and Dr. Pierce found in native medicinal plants such as the roots of GOLDEN SEAL, LADY'S SLIPPER, BLACK COHOSH, UNGUICON and BLUE COHOSH, the needed medicinal properties which by peculiar processes strictly his own, without the use of alcohol, he has extracted, preserved and combined in the proportions to secure from each its best effect. Thus compounded his "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is a remedy for the pains and draine, weakness and inflammation of the uterine system that has won worldwide fame by curing more than ninety-nine out of every hundred who have used it properly.

In taking this you will know what you take and take what you know to be good for you. In any doubt as to what is best for you, write and ask advice of Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y., and reliable medical advice will be sent you by return mail in securely sealed envelope. All correspondence free and strictly confidential.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the favorite family laxative. One "Pellet" is a laxative, two "Pellets" a cathartic dose.
