With the June number will begin The Pacific Monthly's series of special editions for the year 1905. They will comprise a number for Portland, for Seattle, for Southern California, for San Francisco and the southerly number of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, also a special automobile number. The articles of Dr. Wolf von Schlerbrand, six in number on "The Coming Supremacy of the Pacific" are also promised, and the plans contemplated by the publishers will, without question, place The Pacific Monthly far in advance, not only of present competitors, but also into the unreachable class of periodical literature on the Pacific Coast. The Pacific Monthly is sold to regular subscribers at the extremely low price of $1 a year. We have made an arrangement with the publishers by which we are able to offer it in connection with The Lake County Examiner, (both Publications), to new subscribers, and old ones who pay up any back subscription they may owe and a year in advance, for the very low price of $2.50 a year. He Got What He Was Looking For, But—

AMONG the passengers on a western train recently was a woman very much over-dressed, accompanied by a bright looking nurse-girl and a self-willed, tyrannical boy of about three years.

The boy aroused the indignation of the passengers by his continued shrieks and kicks and screams and his viciousness toward his patient nurse. He tore her bonnet, scratched her hands and finally spat in her face without a word of remorse from the mother.

Whenever the nurse manifested any firmness the mother chided her sharply. Finally the mother composed herself for a nap, and about the time the boy had slapped the nurse for the fifth time a bug came sailing in and flew on the window of the nurse's seat. The boy at once tried to catch it.

The nurse caught his hand and said coaxingly: "Harry mustn't touch. Bug will bite Harry."

Harry screamed savagely and began to kick and pound the nurse.

The mother, without opening her eyes or lifting her head, cried out sharply:

"Why do you tease that child so, Mary? Let him have what he wants at once."

"But, ma'am, it's a—"

"Let him have it, I say."

Thus encouraged, Harry clutched at the bug and caught it. The screams of pain that followed brought tears of joy to the passengers' eyes.

The mother awoke again.

"Mary," she cried, "let him have it." Mary turned in her seat and said confusedly:

"He's got it, ma'am!"

"What is it?" languidly asked the mother as the screams increased.

"A wasp, ma'am," said the nurse.—Boston Journal.

Natural Remedy.

A prominent politician has a wife who is a model of domestic carefulness. She has a talent for making bread and takes great pride in having her loaves turn out well.

One evening she had set the batch of dough to rise in the kitchen and was reading in the parlor when her six-year-old boy came running to her, crying, "Mamma, mamma, there's a mouse jumped into your bread pan!"

The good woman sprang from her seat.

"Did you take him out?" she asked frantically.

"No'm, but I done just as good. I threw the cat in, and she's diggin' after him to beat the band!"—New York Times.

From His Point of View.

The button box was an unflattering source of amusement to little Jack, but he had a habit of scattering its contents all over the carpet. When told to pick them up, he was too tired. His mother sat down in a chair beside him, with a small switch in her hand, and repeated her instructions. He eyed the switch apprehensively for a moment, then, looking at his mother, he said with grave approach, "Mamma, you jes' spoil all my comf't."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Too Gay.

"Do you mean to say that you refuse to allow your daughter to marry my son?" exclaimed the lady from Chicago. "Why, we have royal blood in our veins!"

"That's just the reason," said Steddyman. "I'm afraid it might crop out."—Detroit Free Press.

A Risk.

"Why don't you do something philanthropic?"

"I'm afraid to," answered Senator Sorghum. "If I show that I have any money beyond my actual needs somebody will be asking where I got it."—Washington Star.

Long Enough.

"Jake, I understand the fight you had last week was of no moment."

"No, sah, it didn't las' more'n a moment, boss, but widin dat time I sholy got enough to las' me!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Puzzle Picture.

Find the man who detests Christmas.

The Antiseptic Babe.

We can sterilize his bottles, we can boil his little mug. We can bake his dannel bandages and disinfect the rug. That envelops him when he partakes of medicated air. But there's one impossibility that leaves us in despair—And a not unjustifiable alarm, you will allow—To wit: We fear 't would never do to sterilize the cow!

We are careful of his hours, we are thoughtful of his toys, We are mindful of his sorrows and judicious of his joys, We are prayerfully considerate of needful discipline. Of our little "Mother Handbook" and the precepts writ therein, And we strive to render sterile all designed for mouth or tum, But one frightful danger menaces—we cannot boil his thumb. —Harper's Magazine.
