Kermit Roosevelt.

Kermit Roosevelt, second son of the President, is to a considerable portion of the Roosevelt family and yet he is one of the most interesting. Kermit is a manly lad who is now in preparatory school and who will within a few years follow in the steps of his older brother, Theodore, Jr., by entering Har-vard. He bids fair to prove a strong-er lad physically than "Teddy" and has always gone in for athletics and out-door life in general. A gentleman once possessed a valuable sporting dog which was extremely clever in the retrieving of game. The owner, however, was a remarkably had shot, and one day, on firing both barrels hastily at a rabbit, he heard a mournful howl. The next moment his dog appeared, carrying a black object in his mouth, and laid it carefully at his master's feet. The animal had retrieved his own tail.
