HIGHER GRADES ARE TAUGHT.

Up to the Twelfth Grade Can be Taught in Lakeview.

PUPILS INTERESTED IN WORK.

When we are Beaten we Will Go One Better and Tip Our Hats to Victors.

The Silver Lake Oregonian seems to think that the Silver Lake school is a prodigy among the mountains. But there are others.

The school board of the Lakeview school have adopted a three years' High School course. The Lakeview school has a class that will complete the eleventh grade, or the third years' high school work this year, that is able to hold its own against any, no matter what High School they may hail from, and they are so interested in their work that they could not be induced to raise a disturbance in school, nor could they be hired to run the teacher out of the school. The Lakeview School is not making very much noise but is doing as good work as any school in the state.

The branches that constitute the High School course are as follows:

Algebra, a two year course, Plane Geometry, a one year course, Higher English, a one year course, Physical Geography, one year course, Grecian and Roman History, one year, Rhetoric and composition, two years, European History, Medieval and Modern, one year, Latin, one year, Literature, English and American, with a special study of the Masterpieces is continued throughout the entire three years.

Channing's U. S. History is thoroughly reviewed during the last year and Higher Arithmetic is thoroughly mastered.

Coman and Kendall's Modern English History is completed in the last year.

Political Economy or Zoology also finds a place in the course, this work is what is actually being done in the Lakeview schools every day, and we can show the result of our work, not by a flourish of trumpets, but by the intelligence and mental development of our girls and boys.

When Silver Lake can make a better showing we shall tip our hat and make an effort to go a grade higher.

A Farewell Party.

Sunday, March 4th, was the occasion of a farewell dinner given at the residence of J. W. Loftus, 1 1/2 miles north of Adel, to which all of his intimate friends and neighbors were invited. It was a beautiful, warm, sunny day and the guests arrived early and stayed late.

A beautiful chicken dinner of the good old-fashioned sort was prepared by the ladies present, with the assistance of Mr. Loftus.

Dinner was served promptly at 2:30 and everyone did ample justice to every dainty.

After dinner, whist and euchre were indulged in until early candlelight, when the guests departed after expressing a most delightful time and joyous anticipations of many more such good times in the near future.

Mr. J. W. Loftus is a well-known stock-man of Adel, having resided in this vicinity for the past 7 years, but has recently sold his property to Morris Wingfield.

Mr. Loftus intends engaging in business in Southern Calif., he having been very favorably impressed with that region during his recent visit there. Dame Rumor has it that Cupid is at the bottom of his contemplated change of residence and his sudden fondness for the Calif. climate.

If such be the case his many friends join in extending their good wishes and altho they are sorry to lose their well-known and esteemed neighbor they yet wish him every success in his new home.

Saturday, March 17th, was the enjoyable occasion of a card party given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Crowder, of Adel.

Progressive whist was the main feature of the evening; eight tables being engaged in this delightful pastime. The games were called at 8 and finished at 11 sharp.

Earnest Truman Givan was the lucky winner of the first prize, scoring forty-three points. The prize was a beautiful sofa pillow, made entirely of ribbons, the elaborate handiwork of Mesdames Wible and Friday.

The booby prize consisted of a changeable picture, "a girl afraid of a mouse," which created much laughter and was awarded to Mr. Jas. Wakefield, a prominent cowman of South Warner, he having made but eleven points.

Immediately after the games were closed the company were royally entertained, by music, both vocal and instrumental, performed by Mrs. Luman Foskett, Miss Lillie Mathews and Mr. Dwight Foskett, who sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" together with several delightful melodies to an appreciative audience.

Then at midnight, the guests were invited into the dining room where a bountiful spread table groined under all the delicacies of the season. Pickles, especially were in a great demand. The good housewives of Adel are famed, far and near, for their skill in the culinary art and all did ample justice to the richly spread feast.

After supper, dancing was indulged in to a late hour, the musical instruments being a violin and guitar skillfully manipulated by Messrs. Luman and Dwight Foskett. The following were among those present:

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. N. Givan, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Crowder Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Powne, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Luman Foskett, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wible, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Routson, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Wakefield, Misses Lillie Mathews, Hazel Givan, Meta Crowder, Florence Morris and Myrtle Wible. Messrs. Dwight Foskett, J. W. Loftus, Jean Routson, Andrew Canterbury, Harold Miles, Lewis Frakes. Jas. Hanley, of Lakeview, Edw. Neasham, Chas. Lorenz, Edw. Donovan, Leo Dodson, Lloyd Morris, Geo. Neasham, Chas. Barry, Chas. Cleland, Earnest Givan, Lynn Frakes, Chester Parker, Wm. Hines, Philly Crowder, and Dallas Givan.

All report a good time and wish Mr. and Mrs. Crowder many more such delightful events in the near future.

Young Man Goes Wrong.

Major Kingsley, a young man about 29 years old, has gone wrong. He started for Burns Tuesday morning, and in the afternoon a warrant was issued for his arrest, charging him with the larceny of a saddle from the Joe Ambrose place, west of town. Deputy Sheriff W. B. Snider went after him, overtaking him at the Lower Chandler ranch on Crooked Creek, where he had stopped for the night, and yesterday brought him back to town. The details of the circumstance are unimportant, further than he claimed that he had bought a saddle and Monday night went out to the ranch and got it, and left the next morning. Up to the time of going to press we have not heard the outcome, but it is believed that Major will plead guilty, be fined and released, and it is hoped that the lesson will be a lasting one. The parents are members of the Baptist church here, and their influence over their son never would have led him to such an act.

Lakeview Will Have Race Meet.

Lakeview is to come to the front this year again with one of its race meets, such as has never failed to attract a large crowd and give complete satisfaction.

Complete arrangements will be made early, and no pains will be spared to hold one of the best race meetings ever held on the Coast.

A subscription paper was circulated Monday by F. M. Miller and F. P. Light and $750 was subscribed by the business men of the town. A like sum is pledged by the Lake County Agricultural Association, which will swell the purses offered contestants to inviting proportions. Lakeview has one of the best tracks in the state and accommodations for a long string of runners is ample.

The move made by the Agricultural Association first of the week to have races here this summer has nettled up every resident of the town and from now until the last event is pulled off everyone will strive to outdo anything in the sporting history of the town which, if accomplished, will make an indelible 100-credit mark for Lakeview.

SENATOR FULTON WILL URGE DEPARTMENT.

To Take up the Work of Irrigating Semi-Arid Lands of Lake County.

The following letter was received from Senator Fulton by Daniel Boon, who is one of the committee appointed by the Lake County Development League at its last meeting, for the purpose of communicating with various parties regarding the irrigation of Lake county's semi-arid lands:

"I have received your letter inclosing copy of the report of Mr. S. G. Bennett, of the Reclamation Service, relative to the irrigation project in your county. I will take pleasure in presenting the matter to the Director of the Geological Survey and if necessary, to the Secretary of the Interior also. The Director of the Geological Survey has charge of the Irrigation Service, but of course is subject to the Secretary of the Interior. You are of course aware that the Department is disposed to take up any additional project at the present time, having two under way. I have been laboring very earnestly to prevail upon the Department to proceed with the Malheur project but have been unable to do so, although I probably might have succeeded in view of the fact that the representatives of the Government had gone so far in the matter, had it not been for the legal difficulty being in the way. I will take up your matter earnestly and energetically. I will endeavor to secure the topographical survey of the sites mentioned, at once, or at the earliest possible time and of course will follow it up and do all I can to assist you in securing the construction of the required works.

Very sincerely yours,
C. W. Fulton.

Who Would Envy Him?

Editorially the Oregonian has the following to say of John D. Rockefeller:

"After all, the Nation is greater than any individual, no matter how much wealth he has, and Nemesis in the long run, overtakes every criminal. Whether there is a place of future punishment or not is of little moment to John D. Rockefeller. Whatever retribution may await the unblest in another world, it can hardly exceed what he suffers here. Covering before the law which he so long defied, haunted by the specters of his inexcusable crimes, groveling under the just hatred of a whole Nation, he hides himself in the gloom of his lonesome palace and vainly seeks defense from inexorable remorse in the weapons of his guards.

In the watches of the night, as the solitary fugitive reviews the tale of lives ruined to satiate his lust for gold, he bears the steps of the imaginary assassin creeping softly to his revenge. The wind in the tree tops is to his guilty mind the sighs of women pleading in vain for mercy. The ticks of the pendulum number the curses of his victims. Why does he not call his friends to his side as the darkness of impending gloom settles upon his soul? He has no friends. He has parasites and sycophants, but in all the world there is not one poor slave of toil so friendless as Rockefeller. Why does he not pray? After mocking Heaven all these years with worship whose every word belied God's justice, he cannot pray.

Fools have envied him in the pomp of his baleful prosperity. Sickened humanity has said there could be no providence in the world, since Rockefeller could live and flourish. Who would envy him now? Who now can doubt the even-handed sway that rights all wrongs and metes out retribution in the fullness of time? Calamities fall thick upon him. Sorrow smites his soul. His mind darkens with insanity. Pitiful old man! In the awful depths of that measureless woe where he now begins to sink, even Rockefeller may claim our pity; forgiveness he can never claim. He will be remembered as a portent, a scourge to the human race. He is a moral pestilence, a black death which smites souls instead of bodies. A thousand years from now fathers will relate his story to their sons as a warning and recount the horrors of his deeling years to demonstrate the Justice of God.

Gennie Snelling's Report.

Gennie Snelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Snelling, of Lakeview, who is attending school at St. Mary's Academy in Portland since last September, sends her parents her last monthly report card, which shows how nicely she is progressing in her studies. The report is as follows:

Department 99	Application 100
Punctuality 100	Average 92
Health A	Department A
Order and Neatness A	Punctuality A
Study A	Letter Writing A
	Needle Work A.

Frank Smith's little boy has pneumonia.

Some Attractions of the Reserve.

One of the beauties about the Forest Reserve is that no one can carry a gun on it. Consequently no more "I thought it was a deer" accidents can occur on the Reserve, also no hold-ups. In fact the reserve is a second heaven on earth, all of which our people are finding out. If you lie to the Forest Commissioner in getting your permits you will be debarred thereafter from the reserve. If you carry fire arms on the reserve you must have the forest ranger plaster a seal over the end of the gun, and when you come off the reserve you must have ranger take the seal off again. If you are caught on the reserve with shooting irons that hasn't got a plaster on the muzzle, the gun is liable to be confiscated and the party carrying the gun is liable to arrest, all of which tends to promote honesty. Again hunting on the reserve is prohibited, we are informed. That clause promotes morality, as our nimrods who have been in the habit of shouldering their shotguns on Sunday mornings and bringing in a mess of quail or grouse will have to find other occupation to engage their attention. Fishing is also a lost art on the reserve which promotes truthfulness, and hereafter fish stories will be things of the days in the sweet long ago. No charges or stringent laws have as yet, however, been enacted regarding the atmosphere or scenery on the reserve. That omission should be brought to the notice of the powers that be. The people, however, have queer ideas, they wanted the reserve, now they have it they fail to appreciate the beauties, conveniences and tendencies to a higher plane of civilization.—Cedarville Record.

Range Conditions in Klamath.

The Merrill Record says of the conditions on the range in Klamath county:

"An expedition into the lava beds, manned by Capt. G. Merrill, Lieut. C. I. McCall, Chas Wright, O. T. McKendree and Tom Calomes, for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of the sheep which were caught there in the storm, returned yesterday and report the sheep in a deplorable condition. Many of Mr. Harder's sheep are dying and some of Mr. Brown's. The last mentioned was fortunate in procuring hay for the sheep."

Since the above was published in the Record favorable changes have come about in the conditions on the ranges in Lake county and it is hoped and presumed that the condition over in Klamath is not so deplorable as was predicted at first. It was feared that stockmen on the desert in Lake county would sustain heavy losses as a result of the storm, but later reports, as given in The Examiner last week, show a very moderate loss. Still later reports from the desert give a more encouraging outlook. F. M. Miller came in from Warner last Friday and he had been over the range and he said that the feed was fine and the loss would be very light, compared with first reports. There will be only the usual loss in cattle, none in horses and but little more than ordinary loss in sheep. He believes while it was a close shave for stockmen, that the storm has been a benefit to the entire country. The snow was not so deep as was first reported and it was so light that a few days sunshine reduced the depth to such an extent as not to interfere with range stock.

Ashland Normal School Notes.

Pres. Mulkey returned from Redlands, Cal., last Thursday. He reports John's condition as favorable.

We are pained to announce the death, on last Wednesday, of Mr. A. Benedict, grandfather of our fellow student, Clarence Benedict.

Robert Jonas an old Normal student, has entered school again and expects to graduate with the class of '06, in June.

In the Athens Literary Society last Friday, the debate, "Resolved that Labor Unions are more of a menace to the Industrial world than combinations of capital" was won by the affirmative, which was represented by Misses Phiester and Beeson. The negative was championed by Misses Carter and Robinson.

The seniors who took the examination for state papers in February, have lately received their grades, and all were pleased to know that they were successful. Those who took the exam. were, Ella Anderson, Ethel Osburn, Jessie Wilson, Eva Poley, Nora Beebe and Minnie Chaptman.

In the Congressional Literary Society's debate, "Resolved that Hannibal was a greater military genius than Napoleon," was won by the affirmative. Every speaker complained of being sick and indeed it was the "sickest" debate the society has ever had. The speakers for the affirmative were Smith and Jas. Martin, while those for the negative were Pollard and Newton.

Last Friday evening the boys and girls from the dormitories gathered at the home of Pres. Mulkey to welcome him back from his trip.

Chapel Topics—On Friday, Pres. Mulkey gave a talk on "Development of the West," being an account of some of his observations on his recent itinerary through California.

On Monday, Miss Doughty read a paper on "The civil war in song and story" which was very interesting, while on Tuesday, Pres. Mulkey gave a review of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" in which he brought out the characters very distinctly and, at the same time created some merriment by his allusions. On Wednesday, Hon. A. C. Jennings, of Eugene, made a brief address, which was followed by a talk by Pres. Mulkey about ostriches being a description of the Cawston ostrich farm at Pasadena, Calif., as the Professor saw it.

Last Tuesday, Pres. Mulkey received a communication asking him to take a position as instructor in a teachers' Institute at Scranton, Pa., to be held about Sept. 1st.

Base Ball Dance.

The all night dance given by the Lakeview Base Ball Club last Friday night was a complete success in every respect. The affair ranked among the best of like events of the season from a social standpoint and netted the base ball boys something over $30, which will be employed in fitting up a team for the season's games. The boys ought to begin at once to arrange for a series of games during Fourth of July week, and then commence a series of practice games that will enable them to hold all visiting teams in the field. Lakeview had some fine games last year and there is no reason why we should not put up a tournament this year that will attract even a larger crowd than visited Lakeview last year. Ball games are interesting and they help to hold the crowd and entertain them while here. As there is to be a race meeting in Lakeview this year a few ball games mixed in will help to maintain the wide reputation that Lakeview has of being a royal entertainer.

Merrill Notes.

(From the Record.)

Harry Cook purchased 125 head of cattle Monday from George Weilmunster, and drove them down to his ranch yesterday.

Dr. Dewey has been on the sick list this week with threatened pneumonia. A horse buyer named McGrew, from Fresno, was here last week buying up horses.

Born—Near Cedarville, March 18, 1906, to the wife of Joseph Shirks, a daughter.

Prospectors are beginning to arrive here to be on the ground first when the snow goes out of the mountains.

MEETS DEATH AT HORSE'S HEELS.

Harvey D. Boydston Was Found Dead in Hay Corral.

PRINTS OF HOOF IN STOMACH.

Went to Harness Horses Before Breakfast and is Next Seen Dead.

Harvey D. Boydston was kicked by a horse at Paisley last week and died from the injury in a few minutes.

The report as it came to us is about as follows:

Mr. Boydston and another man, whose name we did not learn, were feeding sheep for H. L. Chandler, at the Geo. Conn place, and were camped near the hay stacks just on top of the hill north of the Paisley bridge. Mr. Boydston's wife was stopping at the camp cooking for the men. On Thursday morning, about 7 o'clock, Harvey went to the hay corral, where the work horses were running loose around the stacks, and told the man, who was helping him, to go to camp and get ready for breakfast while he harnessed the horses. When breakfast was ready they waited for Mr. Boydston a while, and when he did not come the man went to the corral to ascertain what was keeping him so long. The horses were still loose in the corral, but the collars were on them. On looking about he discovered Boydston lying by the fence, face down, apparently dead. The man started for town on the run, for help. Mrs. Boydston saw from the fellow's actions that something serious had happened and ran to the corral, where the terrible sight met her eyes. She raised her husband's head in her lap and he gasped once and died. Dr. Witham and others were soon on the scene and it was thought at first that he had been kicked on the head by one of the horses, but upon a closer examination, after the dead man had been removed to town, a bruise was found in the pit of the stomach as if caused by a horse's hoof, and the scratch on the face was only slight.

Relatives of the dead man, in Lakeview, were notified, and at noon Thursday, W. Y. Miller, B. W. Farrow and J. E. Harper started for this place, with the corpse. Changing teams and driving all night, they arrived here at 4:30 o'clock Friday morning. H. L. Chandler and Mrs. Boydston came in another rig, arriving about the same time.

The funeral was held at the M. E. Church, conducted by Rev. S. Snyder, Saturday at 2 p. m., and the remains were buried in the I. O. O. F. cemetery immediately after.

Harvey Dickson Boydston was born in Butte county, Calif., August 25, 1881. He was married to Miss Ines Wheeler in September, 1903. One child was born to bless this union, but God, in His infinite wisdom, seen fit to call the tiny bud to grace the Heavenly chorus.

Besides a wife, who sadly mourns the loss of a devoted husband, a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Boydston of Lakeview, three sisters, Mrs. H. L. Chandler, Misses Emma and Sarah Boydston, and five brothers, Chas. of Humboldt county, Calif., and James, George, Henry and Johnny Boydston of this place survive him.

The accident was a sad one, indeed, and came as a great shock to his relatives, and to his friends, who sympathize deeply with the bereaved family.

Geo. Stevens Returns.

Geo. H. Stevens, who, in company with Wm. Smock, left here last November to take a trip East, returned home Monday. George was accompanied home by his father, A. M. Stevens, of South Dakota. Mr. Smock separated from George in Missouri, and while Stevens visited in Iowa, Kansas and the Dakotas, Smock spent his time at his old home in Missouri. Mr. Stevens, Cr., comes here to look at the country with a view to locating if the country suits him. George says in all his travels he saw no place that suited him as well as Lake county.
