LAKEVIEW, OREGON, MAY 24, 1906.

One of the greatest legislative battles in the history of the National Congress has been won by the superior statesmanship, and diplomacy of President Roosevelt, in the enactment, by the Senate, of an acceptable Railroad Rate bill along the lines recommended by him in his last annual message to Congress. President Roosevelt has not only won a signal victory in securing the passage of the rate bill, but by his superior generalship, he has united the warring factions of the Republicans in the Senate and also in the house of Representatives into a harmonious body, who will act in unison in the passage of this law, upon which every Republican can point to with pride as a party measure. Those who have kept in touch with the parliamentary tactics of the railroad Senators to defeat the earnest endeavors of the President for legislative relief from the grasping railroad combinations of the country, can readily understand that it became necessary to invite the Democratic Senators to help to secure an acceptable rate bill, but Senators Bailey, Tillman, and other Democratic leaders, instead of accepting the invitation in good faith, tried to manufacture political capital out of the situation, but the president could not be caught in such a democratic trap, so he put on his fighting armor, brushed the Democrats aside, including the great orator and constitutional lawyer, Joe Bailey, made the rate bill a party measure and united the Republican Senators to a man in its support.

This triumph of President Roosevelt is one of the greatest victories of his remarkably successful career.

Lakeview Public School.

Every citizen of Lakeview should feel a laudable pride in the great development and material growth of the public schools of Lakeview during the past two or three years. The school year just ended has been the most successful in the entire history of the school. A very large class completed the common school course and received diplomas, while in the high school work, large classes received instructions in the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades.

The work in the high school has been followed as laid down by the requirements of the State Board of Education, and when one realizes that the most advanced of the best high schools in Oregon have but twelve grades in the curriculum of study, a better appreciation can be had of the splendid work being done by the public schools of Lakeview.

The attack on Jonathan Bourne, made for political purposes, no doubt, has been utterly denounced by a number of prominent legislators in the state who were members of the legislature during the famous 1897 session, when it was alleged that Mr. Bourne maintained a headquarters at Salem that savored strongly of corruption. These denials come from men who aver that had anything unsavory been practiced at Mr. Bourne's headquarters they would have known of it. Mr. Bourne, in providing a comfortable headquarters where legislators and friends could be entertained at luncheon and be provided with the best in the market at Mr. Bourne's expense, and his recognition to those who might arrive on late trains, they say, has no doubt given rise to these unwholesome slanders.

The politicians of the state are up against the real thing in the new primary law. They must acknowledge that the political machinery is balked if the voters regard party lines and vote their ticket. It will prove conclusively to the voters that they can nominate the ticket and elect it without the aid of the crookedness that has heretofore been too often practiced in the state. The only hope politicians cling to is that the voters will not stand by the ticket they have nominated, thus side tracking the new primary law and robbing it of its good effect.

First we had "the man with the hoe," then came "the man with the big stick," and from the man with the big stick came the "the man with the muck rake," next will probably be the dunghill.

TO THE VOTERS OF LAKE COUNTY:

Having been regularly nominated as the candidate of the Republican Party for the office of Sheriff of Lake county, I now ask the voters of this County to carefully consider whether I am worthy of their support or not. I have been a resident and taxpayer in Lake County for about 17 years and feel that I am permanently identified with its business interests. If you shall see fit to elect me your Sheriff for the next two years, I promise you, upon my honor as a man, that I will give strict attention to the duties of the Sheriff's office and be the Sheriff of no faction, but will perform its duties without fear or favor, and give the people an honest, efficient and economical administration. I have no enemies to punish, and no friend need to expect any favor from me inconsistent with my duty to the public.
