LOCAL BUYERS ARE PICKING up a few clips at last Year's Prices.

BOSTON PEOPLE TALK AGAIN.

Wool Sales at Stanclift this Week. Washington Hands are not yet God as Last Year.

Shearing has been at the principi of the last week's crop. The so-called "clip" is not in serious condition. Little wool has been bought up.

Buttry A. Hindley has bought an 8000 and 7000, which he paid for this week. Clips included in their respective are those of Biddulph and Seabrook, Dan Church, and others who have been seen. Twenty tons was the deal.

OREGONIAN.

Interest in the Wool Market has not much in the Stanclift sales, which will be the last of the year in the market.

Washington Hands have bought a little, but have offered and said the Stanclift market was in the last of the year. Last year the Stanclift would have offered a lot more, but the price this year is not as good as last year.

The town of the Eastern Oregon market apparently is a market of the week or the season, as the prices and sales have been very small. A good many clips have been sold at a small advance in sales and a little advance in prices under those first quoted. Tradi- tion is also active in the Klamath and Oregon districts in Washington, where 10 or 15 tons have been bought at a small advance in sales and a little advance in prices under those first quoted.
