SHEARING BEGUN AND SALES MADE.

Local Buyers are Picking up a few Clips at last Year's Prices.

BOSTON PEOPLE TALK AGAIN.

Wool Sales Open at Shaniko this Week--Some Wools are not Good as Last Year.

Shearing has begun at the principal shearing pens in this county. The feed surrounding the corrals being good presages a good clip.

Very little wool has been bought up to the first of this week.

Bailey & Massingill have bought between 50,000 and 75,000 pounds the past few days. Clips included in their most recent purchases are those of Hoydatus & Chandler, Dan Chandler, Thomas & Sanders and Henry Newell. Twenty cents was the price paid.

(OREGONIAN.)

Interest in the wool trade now centers in the Shaniko sales, which will be held on June 5 and 6. Between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 pounds will be offered there and as the Shaniko wools are classed as the choicest in the state, it is expected that the highest prices of the season will be bid there. Last year the Shaniko wools brought 22 and 23 cents. Local dealers believe that the price this year will be about 21 cents.

The tone of the Eastern Oregon market apparently is easier than it was at the opening of the season, as the prices paid show a gradual decline from those of the first Pendleton sale. A good many clips have been sold at private sale since the sales days at prices under those first quoted. Trading is also more active in the Ellensburg and Yakima districts in Washington where cross breeds are bringing 17 to 18 cents. A little Valley wool is also coming in that was bought at 23 to 24 cents.

Frank Green, representing J. Koshland & Co., of Boston and San Francisco, who came down from Eastern Oregon yesterday, states that the market is decidedly weaker than it was and that growers are ready sellers now at the prices offered, having come to the conclusion that it is useless to hold for an advance.

"Wools in the Western States," he said, "are bringing from 2 to 5 cents less than they did at the close of the season last year, and the tendency is a downward one. Many of the growers thought that the market would advance this year, just as it did last Spring, but they overlooked the fact that there was a slump in the Fall that gave it a set-back. In California, where they have two seasons, the market opened strong enough in the fall, but in October broke to pieces. Since then, all hope of a further advance has been out of the question.

"The wools in nearly all parts of the West are poorer this year than they were a year ago. The alternate rains and dry spells made them heavier and of shorter staple and dingier in color. Arizona wools are about the only wools that are better than last year's, as they had an exceptionally good season."

(BOSTON COMMERCIAL BULLETIN.)

In its weekly review of the Eastern situation, the Boston Commercial Bulletin of latest date says:

The general opinion held by Boston merchants is that prices on this market, having reached their limit, cannot go up any higher. Consequently, 74 to 75 cents cannot be paid for wool in the West that would bring only 70 cents here. Following this the majority of the leading dealers are, according to their own statements, doing no buying in the territories at growers' exorbitant rates. Furthermore, they claim that they will not buy any wool until they can "buy it right." By the latter expression is meant the purchasing of wool at prices that would allow a reasonable profit to the merchant, not one that would mean a sure loss. In the West, it is thought by some that the Eastern dealers' attitude is only a "bluff," to bear the primary markets, but it has been so consistently maintained that the determination and sincerity are clearly apparent.

There has also been talk of a "combination," to break prices in the territories and some say that the truth of the report was proven by the concerted refusal on the part of buyers to operate. The only "combination" was an unconscious one to resist excessive prices. Wool merchants usually "play their game alone," and this year is no exception to the general rule.

When values are placed on a suitable basis, buying will become active, but say the dealers, "if they are not put within reach the wools may be shipped East on consignment or kept." As a matter of fact, a million to a million and a half pounds have already been shipped to Boston and Philadelphia from Wyoming, in some instances guaranteeing touching 22c having been made.

Some merchants who are waiting claim that they can see a tendency on the part of several sheepmen to consider more reasonable prices. Sales that are being made undoubtedly have been the result of grower and buyer coming closer together in their views. However, most of the sheepmen are holding out firmly.

Walter Scott Again.

Walter Scott, alias "Scotty," the Death Valley miner, possessed of wealth variously estimated from 20 cents to a "clean million," who recently sprang into the limelight by flying across the continent in a chartered train at the rate of 100 miles an hour, left Chicago on the night of May 23, leaving behind him a world of trouble, about fifteen hungry actors, his wife, his dog Scotty and an old-time pal, Slim, the donkey.

Scotty recently deserted the prosaic life of a prospector for the footlights, and last Saturday night his company closed a week's engagement at the Alhambra, where Scotty essayed the chief role in "The Mystery of the Desert." The hero maintains his own graveyard and an ambulance corps to bury the victims of his trusty revolver.

Scotty's troubles began at St. Louis two weeks ago when the manager of the company and the author of the play decamped without leaving his address and left behind unpaid salaries of about $1000. Since that time, according to a member of the company, Scotty has four-flushed, telling them that as soon as he reached Chicago he would "touch his backer."

Plans to Kill Roosevelt.

PORTLAND (Or.), June 1.—During the hearing of an assault case in the Municipal Court to-day it developed that there was an organized bunch of nihilists in Portland, meeting at 53 Morris street, who are banded together against God, government and the church, and whose object is to assassinate President Roosevelt.

A pole named Lapazki was arrested at the instance of three of the nihilists. He is an ardent Catholic, and when the nihilists made violent remarks against his religion became involved in a fight. He told his story on the witness stand and was released, as other Poles corroborated his evidence.

Several Poles, as a result of the trial, talked with detectives. They told of meetings at which Czolgosz, the assassin of McKinley, was eulogized, and also said that a fund was being raised to send an assassin East to kill President Roosevelt.

The head of the society is named Baczki. He was driven out of Seattle some time ago.

Deal for Steamboat Springs.

A deal involving the sale of the celebrated Steamboat Springs, located on the Virginia and Truckee railway, about fifteen miles south of Reno, is under way. George Wingfield and Ole Elliot, two wealthy Goldfield men, are said to be the prospective purchasers. If the deal goes through $48,000 will change hands and immediately the springs will be converted into a handsome watering place.

It is reported also that Messrs. Wingfield and Elliott are not the only bidders for the property. It is said that a local syndicate, headed by prominent men, has made a bid and that there is a chance of them taking it over. The property has been in the hands of Captain J. W. Hopkins for several years, who has been promoting a company to erect a large sanitarium and baths.—Reno Gazette.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET IS ELECTED

Chamberlain Will be the Next Governor-- Woman Suffrage Amendment Beaten.

The election Monday resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Republican County ticket. Never before in the history of the county was every name on the Republican ticket elected.

On the state and District ticket the victory was not quite so complete, yet, so far as can be estimated without the complete official returns, which cannot be obtained until the vote is canvassed, all Republicans carried this county excepting for governor, Chamberlain winning out by about 24 votes. Incomplete returns give Bourne about 65 votes over Genrin and Hawley about 88 over Galloway. All other Republicans on the state and District ticket show good majorities.

Incomplete unofficial returns show Local Option in Lake County to have been defeated by about 135 votes, and the Woman Suffrage Amendment to have been defeated in the county by about 173 votes. Returns on other amendments are so incomplete that an estimate cannot be made with any degree of certainty.

The three offices contested for in the county were Sheriff, Clerk and Commissioner, which offices will be filled by Republicans.

The tightest race seems to have been for Sheriff, Dent winning by about 33 votes. Jaquish was elected by about 102 and Heryford's lead is something like 161.

On Tuesday The Examiner received the following telegram:

Portland, Oregon.
C. O. Metzker:—Chamberlain and Bourne elected. Woman Suffrage and Local option beaten.
Oregonian.

The above telegram might seem to some at a glance to mean that the question of local option in the state has been defeated, but we take it that the amendment to the constitution, voted upon in the state has been defeated.

[Special to The Examiner.]
Portland, Or., June 6, 06

The Ball Game.
The Lakeview ball team went to Pine Creek last Sunday, regardless of the inclement weather and played a very interesting game with the State Line team, which resulted in victory for the former.

The boys came back to town with their caps in the air and feeling highly pleased over their victory.

The game was a close one, the score being 9 to 6 in favor of our boys. The Lakeview boys played in bad luck the first few innings. Freeburg hurt his ankle in sliding to second, Bigelow was run over by Mulkey on First and Carroll was injured in the fifth.

Carroll became worked up to a baseball heat and did some professional coaching in the seventh. Rolla McDonald nearly lost his wing and had to bind his shoulder to his body to keep it in place.

Boyd came home with a game leg; slightly disfigured, but still in the ring.

Umpire M. Whorton was very accurate in his decisions, and all ended well.

There is talk of a match game some time in the near future for $150 a side. Following is the score and lineup:
