The Illinois Central maintains unexcelled service from the West to the East and South. Making close connections with trains of all transcontinental lines, passengers are given their choice of routes to Chicago, Louisville, Memphis and New Orleans, and through these points to the far east.

Prospective travelers desiring information as to the lowest rates and best routes are invited to correspond with the following representatives.

B. H. Trumbull, Commercial Agent, 142 Third St., Portland, Ore.
J. C. Lindsey, Trav. Passenger Agent, 142 Third St., Portland, Ore.
Paul B. Thompson, Passenger Agent, Colman Building Seattle Wash.

Popular and Picturesque.

The only thing necessary to make the Denver and Rio Grande the most popular, as it has ever been known the most pleasant and most picturesque way to cross the continent, has come about. This is the establishment of through sleeping car service.

In connection with the O. R. & N. a through Pullman Standard Sleeper is now run from Portland to Denver, leaving Portland at 8.15 p. m., arriving at Salt Lake at 8.30 a. m., the second morning, leaving Salt Lake at 3.50 p. m. and arriving at Denver 4.20 p. m. the following day. This schedule gives passengers seven hours stop-over in Salt Lake, affording an opportunity to visit the Mormon Capital as well as a day light ride through the grandest scenery in the world.

For reservation in this car and for illustrated booklets picturing the scenery contiguous to the Denver & Rio Grande, proving it to be the "Scenic Line of the World," write to W. C. McBride, General Agent, 124 Third street, Portland.

If you are not Particular don't travel over the Illinois Central, as any old road will do you and we don't want your patronage; but if you are particular and want the best and mean to have it, ask the ticket agent to route you via the ILLINOIS CENTRAL, the road that runs through solid vestibule trains between St. Paul, Omaha, Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis, and New Orleans.

No additional charge is made for a seat in our reclining chair cars which are fitted with lavatories and smoking rooms, and have a porter in attendance. Rates via the ILLINOIS CENTRAL are the lowest and we will be glad to quote them in connection with any transcontinental line.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

First in.

He had not led a conquering clan,
He had not whipped another "man,"
He had not vanquished in a row,
He had not "faced" the old red cow,
He had not fought a pirate ship,
But, oh, what pride curled in his lip
And, oh, what triumph filled his eyes
As other kids he sauntered by!

He had not been elected to
The senate, but he gazed at you
With such a haughty air of grace
You might have thought he'd won the race
For president or that at least
He'd met and slain some tawny beast,
Some hairy monster of the wood,
And, like an olden knight, "made good."

He had not faced a foreign foe
And laid the enemy in woe,
He had not found the first bird's nest
And crammed the eggs into his vest,
He had not seen a melon patch
Sans fence or hedges, bolt or latch,
And yet a victory hid within
The broad expansion of his grin.

He had not robbed a cherry tree,
He had not set a nation free,
He had not beat the rival nine,
But, oh, how straight he held his spine
And, oh, how high he tread the air
And made the other fellows stare
And made the little girls he knew
Bow down unto their Roderick Dhu!

The freckles on his nose were taut,
His cheeks with sunburn glory fraught,
His shirt ripped halfway up the back,
His breeches showed material lack,
His hair, unkempt, a tumbled sight,
Gloved hands in the morning light,
But, oh, what difference to him—
He'd been the first boy in the swim!
—Baltimore Sun.

Youthful Solitude.

Little Julia at three years of age had become a little question box. She had made up her little mind to know all about the round bright moon—how it hung there on high, who put it there, who lighted it each night. The simplest way to answer her was the easiest, so she was told God hung it there each night and took it in each morning. One evening after hisping her prayers she looked out of the window and saw the moon shining brightly, but about to be shut in by a heavy bank of rain clouds. In her fear that something would happen to her precious moon she suddenly exclaimed: "Oh, mamma, look! It's going to rain, and Dad forgot to take in the moon!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Modest Order.

The Idle Rich One—Yass, I've decided to go in for ballooning a bit, so you may take my order.
The Agent—What sort of balloon do you wish?
The Idle Rich One—Why, to begin with, you might furnish me with a high altitude balloon, a low altitude one, a touring affair and, say, a run-about balloonette for town use.—Puck.

Oil on the Troubled Waters.

The Top Floor Tenant—Look here, the roof leaks horribly.
The Landlord—Nonsense, my dear sir! Impossible! Why, none of the tenants on the other floors have said a word about it.—Sketch.

Breaking the Infatuation.

Mrs. Jones—I'm afraid our Lucy is falling in love with Ferdinand Five-week.
Mr. Jones—I'll stop that! I'll let her know that I've got a husband all picked out for her.
Mrs. Jones—That won't change her a bit.
Mr. Jones—Yes, it will. I'll tell her I've picked Ferdinand, and she'll be sure to want the other fellow.—Judge.

Un-American.

Friend—What became of that college catcher you thought was a find?
Baseball Manager—Had to sell him for a song. The paid attendance refused to stand for his darn snobbishness.
Friend—How did he offend?
Baseball Manager—Why, instead of chewing tobacco he used to moisten his glove with a sponge.—Puck.

Another Mystery.

"I'd like to know," sighed the weary father, who was doing his usual floor walking stunt at 2 a. m., "why the baby persists in staying awake every night."
"I don't know, I'm sure," replied his wife. "He sleeps all day long and does not give me a bit of trouble."—Tatter.

Hard Luck.

"You've got a little brother," said the nurse at breakfast. "He was born last night."
"Hub!" exclaimed Tommy. "And last night was Sunday! Poor kid! His bird-days won't do him any good. Sunday's a holiday anyhow."—Houston Post.

Brute!

"Laura," said Mr. Ferguson, "wake up!"
"Wh-what's the matter, George?"
"You are talking in your sleep. That's carrying it a little too far!"—Chicago Tribune.
