EXIT JUNE HOG.

Good Money Usually Made on the October Market.

Ten years ago we fattened and sold the last bunch of June hogs from this farm. To grow a nine-months-old hog with practically five months of winter in the midst of his career and make the transaction profitable every year was what we failed to do, yet we had an abundance of clover.

Later instead of fattening for the June market we fed for the August market. In some respects this was better. About that time I was impressed with the success of a relative who fed a few hogs to be sold to the local butcher about Sept. 25. He had discovered that the demand for hogs was good at that time, and the prices were above what we had received at any time for June or August hogs. Could we cut out some of the difficulties we had encountered, utilize every resource and reach this objective? This problem R. L. Dean worked out as follows, as he tells in Ohio Farmer:

Feeding the October Hog.
We decided to take the weights of the hogs as frequently as was necessary to discern the gains they were making for the food consumed. We discovered the hogs were making a return for the grain consumed when fed in connection with clover that was much better than the prices for grain.
This sort of feeding was calculated to make the hogs grow, but not to finish them. They needed more corn.

Soaked Corn.
What shall we substitute for corn ten months in the crib, hauled to barrels and submerged in water for twenty-four hours? That which is nearest like soaked corn is corn with just enough sap to make it palatable and nutritious. On the farm there was plenty of this by Sept. 5. We could not get it to the hogs in the necessary quantities, for we were too busy. We cut and hauled them some green corn in connection with the old for a week or two. When the ears were ripe enough not to spoil when pulled off we turned in the hogs. They had access to running water and plenty of natural shade, for the weather is often hot in September.

Profits Show Up Well.
The hogs made 50 cents per bushel net for the corn they ate, realizing the yield at sixty bushels per acre. Hogs as we pastured and fed them during the summer could be finished to bring the top price in three or four weeks time. As a rule, prices are well sustained till Oct. 5, but by the 15th they usually break.

THE POINTER

Lay your plans to purchase a pure bred bull or bear, or both, this fall.
There is no quicker way to improve your stock than to put a pure bred male at the head of your herd.

Even Toothless Old Ewes Win Out.
If there is one article that is scarcer than another in market circles, according to a Chicago trade authority, it is native mutton, this including both sheep and lambs. But for the delectation from western ranges, either direct or by the feed lot route, during the past year a mutton famine would have existed. And there is no prospect of an increase in the supply of natives during the coming summer. In fact, the trade is expectant of a decrease. as the farm belt is stockpiling up. Ram and ewe lambs will be marketed, but ewe lambs will be held, and present clamor for breeding stock has created sufficient country trade to keep even old toothless ewes away from the shambles.

"Dad's Old Way"—Forget It.

I have been raising hogs for several years; for the past year have changed my stock to pure bred Berkshire. I make bigger and more salable pigs at an earlier age. I have done away with my rail fence and built my entire fence out of wire fence. I believe many farmers would like to breed pure bred stock if they thought they would make a success. My advice is to make your leap and try. You never will know what you can do until you try. I have been farming all my life and find that dad's old way will not do. Get right, boys, and help me raise pigs for our brother farmer who hasn't time to raise them.—South Carolinian.

Corn Concoction.

The man with comparatively small capital may start in the business of raising hogs or sheep. Both are very profitable if properly handled. One good sow or one good ewe may become the head of a herd that will become a money maker.

Mighty Safe Proposition.

The New York, Boston, Philadelphia and local buyers are falling over one another to pick up the scant supply of horses in the Chicago market at prices never before heard of in the trade and rather inferior horses at that. No one of the present generation need be alarmed over the horse being put out of business by the automobile.—Breeder's Gazette.

Footnotes.

Every time you go to the sheep pasture—please make it a point to go often—count the sheep and take them a bit of salt.

When a man wants to use his horse and has to chase him all over his farm in order to catch him it is evident that either the man or the horse was not brought up right.

The prospect is that pork will be high at least one more year. Let's have some to sell next fall.

For mercy's sake, don't put a poke on that calf! Fix up the fence.

The man who thinks, "Darn a hog, anyway," better let the other fellow raise the pigs.

You can't whip fright out of a horse.

Do You Want to Know

What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of medicines of known composition. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. E. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery," the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and outspoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled, from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not forget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor.
