Administrator's Notice

In the County Court of the State of Oregon, For the County of Lake. IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF WILLIAM A. BAGLEY, DECEASED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned Administrator of the ESTATE OF WILLIAM A. BAGLEY, deceased, has filed his Final Account as such with the County Clerk of Lake County, Oregon, this 3rd day of October, 1906, and that the 5th day of November, 1906, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the County Judge's Office in the Court House of said County, in Lakeview, Lake County, Oregon, has been appointed and fixed by the County Judge of said Lake County, Oregon, as the time and place for the hearing of objections, if any there be, to said Final Account, and for the settlement thereof.

Dated this 3rd day of October, 1906.

J. N. Watson, Administrator of the ESTATE OF WILLIAM A. BAGLEY, DECEASED.

J. D. Farrar and family returned to Lake county last week from Redding Calif., where they spent the winter. They passed through town Saturday and went on to Paisley the next day. Mr. Farrar will take charge of his hivery and feed stable at Paisley today, as Mr. McNews' time expires. Johnny says he found no place as good for him as Lake county.

F. O. Bunting of Drews Valley, came into town Monday. He reported having killed a huge rattlesnake at the Gap, 12 miles west of Lakeview, with eight rattles and a button. Frank had forgotten whether the snake measured four feet long and two inches through, or two inches long and four foot thru. He takes a solemn oath that it was a real snake.

Wm. Holder resigned his position with the Bunting Telegraph and Telephone Company last Saturday, and passed through Lakeview Sunday on his way home, in Chewacann. The Brown Brothers of Klamath county have charge of the construction work now, and expect to have the line complete in about ten days. The posts and poles are all up, and the wire ready to be strung.

John Blough has been elected to the principship at Lafayette at one hundred dollars a month, being an increase of twenty dollars per month over any salary ever paid there before. Professor Blough was for many years principal of the schools at Lafayette but for the past two years he has been at Lakeview. At the school meeting it was decided to make extensive repairs on the school building.—Oregon Teachers Monthly.

Contest Notice.

Department of the Interior. United States Land Office, September 25, 1906.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Perry Iama, contestant, against homestead entry No. 2056, made April 28, 1903, for SE 1/4 Section 15, Township 36 S., Range 19 E., W. M., by John W. Chandler Contestee, in which it is alleged that said John W. Chandler has never resided upon said tract and ever since the date of making said entry said entryman has, and still continues, to desert and abandon said lands and fail to reside thereon, and that said alleged absence from the said land was not due to his employment in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States as a private soldier, officer, seaman or marine during the war with Spain, or during any other war in which the United States may be engaged. Said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation at 10 o'clock a. m., on November 13, 1906, before Register and Receiver, at the United States Land Office in Lakeview, Oregon.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed Sept. 21, 1906, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

ZULU WAR TACTICS.

Method of Attack With the Crescent Formation.

Zulu military tactics are associated with the name of Tyaka, the ruthless Zulu conqueror, who welded into the stock of the Amazulu, the people of the heavens, all the young men of the various tribes he conquered, incorporating them into regiments and thus building up a powerful military nation. Yet it was to Dingiswayo, the wanderer, that the inception was due. This man, the son of the chief of the Umtowa, was driven into exile in consequence of an abortive plot to seize the reins of power.

During that exile he lived in Cape Colony and saw the military methods of the British. With instinctive genius he saw how the idea could be adapted to his own nation, and on his return and accession to the chieftainship he divided his people into regiments, distinguishing them by names and by a special color of shield for each regiment, though for a time they retained the umkonto, or throwing assagai, as their chief weapon. He heard the great use made by the British infantry of their favorite weapon, the bayonet, and so he replaced the umkonto by the irwa, or broad bladed stabbing assagai.

The peculiarity of the Zulu tactics has earned it the name of the crescent formation for attack, and it is noteworthy that, broadly speaking, it was the method employed by the Boers in their invasion of Natal and adopted by Lord Roberts in his advance through Orange River Colony, and it was the fear of its success which kept the Boers continually on the run. The best thing with which to compare it is the head of the stag headed beetle. Horns are thrown out widely on either flank, while the main body forms the head itself. From the main body a small force is detached to engage the enemy while the horns creep around the flanks.

This force in the days of Tyaka was frequently dispatched with the command, "Go, sons of Zulu, go and return no more," and death at the hands of their fellows was the fate of those who returned. While this force was holding the enemy the horns carried out their task if possible, and as soon as the two horns had met in the rear of the enemy the head or chest was launched upon the position, and the upshot was that the whole force of the foe tasted the assagai, for in war no quarter was given or asked.—South African Sun.

Dragging South Kansas Roads.

The three rural route carriers from Wellsville, Kan., report forty miles of dragged roads on their seventy-five mile routes, says the Kansas City Times. The work is the direct result of the agitation recently started when the Good Road's special sent out by the Santa Fe railroad stopped there and D. Ward King made a practical demonstration of the possibilities of the "split log" drag. At that time seventy-five farmers and business men agreed to build and operate drag.

With a single effort, there will be ten different stone mounds near built near Beaur, Ind., says Motor News. The county and state officials have been flooded with road petitions since early in January. It seems as though the farmers in this county are determined to do their share, as some of them have offered their structures to several different petitions.
