A Most Valuable Agent.
 The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subsiding chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.
 In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure severe chronic, acute, and chronic coughs, croup, and all other troubles and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.
 Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:
 "It dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon encrusted, disordered stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (stomach inflammation) of stomach. It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of peptic heartburn and excessive gastric acidity."
 "Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, and skin sores, or ulcers.
 Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the medicinal properties composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

COMPOUND INTEREST
 The trouble with most advertisers is that they expect immediate returns of large proportions. One prominent advertiser illustrates the principle of advertising in this way:
 "The money expended for advertising is the same as if placed at interest. The profits from the advertising are virtually the interest on the investment."
 "The sums spent for advertising are properly chargeable to capital account because the resulting good will is something that has value, which, if the advertising, has been properly done, can usually be sold for the face value of the investment."
 "The rate of interest is determined by the skill with which the investment is made."
 "Just as the quickest way to increase invested wealth is by compounding the interest, just so the quickest way to realize results from advertising is to compound the returns."—Advertising Experience.
 Advertisers get good returns on the amount invested in our columns. We reach the people.

BREEDING ON THE FARM.
 Use of Inferior Sires Greatly Retard Live Stock Improvement.
 The breeders of grades are usually content with a very common or inferior pure bred because of the lower cost, but to invest in such is clearly a mistake. The place for all those inferior sires is the block in the case of meat making animals and in the dry or van in the case of horses. The breeder who chooses sires thus makes a grievous mistake. An inferior sire is dear at any price. He is dear as a gift. The extent to which such sires have been used by the breeders of grades has greatly retarded live stock improvement.
 What may be termed promiscuous breeding is the common practice of most farmers. The average farmer chooses a sire from a certain breed. It may be on the ground of convenience or because the breed for the time being is popular. Soon another breed becomes popular and a sire is chosen from that breed. It may be that in a lifetime sires have been used from half a dozen breeds. Those who breed thus are like the man who as often as he walks up the hill walks down again or like him who sails continuously in a circle. At the end of a lifetime of such breeding the breeder will find himself just where he started.
 Crossbreeding.
 Up grading is the true system of improving live stock. Crossbreeding—that is, the mating of two distinct breeds—should have little place in the operations of the farmer. It may be advantageous in some instances, as when the dams and their progeny are to go to the block. It may be profitable, for instance, to cross aged Merino ewes with males of some better mutton breed and to prepare both for the market by fattening them on rich pastures, but ordinarily such crossing should stop with the first cross. To carry it further would probably for a time at least introduce elements of reversion.
 But, it may be asked, are there no instances in which alien blood may be introduced with animals that have been up graded? There are such instances, as when the animals thus graded have partially lost some useful properties. It is possible to restore those properties or at least to improve them greatly by the introduction of an outcross—that is, by making one cross from sires of another breed.
 This may be illustrated in the condition of many of the high grade herds of Poland-Chinas in the corn belt at present. Many of these have too little bone, too little stamina and weakened breeding properties. One cross from a sire of either the large Yorkshire or Tamworth breeds would lead to wonderful improvement along those lines. The breeders could then fall back again upon Poland-China blood if they desired to do so. Such teaching may sound like rank heresy to some, but that it rests on a sound basis will be found by all who put it to the test.—Thomas Shaw in Country Gentleman.

THE HORSEMAN
 There's no choice between working too soon after feeding and feeding too soon after working.
 A grade stallion may develop some striking characteristics, but that's no sign his get will be so favored.
 Eight thousand dollars is a fair price for a horse. A Percheron stallion brought that figure recently in the west.
 Select feed with a view to quality. The less bulk the better if the strengthening qualities are there.
 Good, bright straw isn't so bad for the horses, after all. It must be supplemented with grain, though.
 The well bred and well kept horse will stand hard usage earlier and better than the one whose life has been a struggle.
 Horses in poor physical condition often sweat more freely than at other times.
 It is the poorest kind of economy to arrest the growth of any farm animal, and this is particularly true of colts. Weak colts are much more likely to acquire blemishes than strong, healthy ones.
 Before colts are weaned they should be taught to eat oats and shelled corn. When they are weaned they should be fed all the corn, bran and oats, mixed in equal parts, that they will eat. With such a ration and plenty of good alfalfa and timothy and clover hay they will never stop growing and will make much better horses in every way than colts which are kept half starved during the first year of their lives.
 Keep the horses from having thrush by throwing the manure or wet straw up under them where they can stand on it and keep their feet moist, says the Farm Journal. But do not let the soft manure get packed in the shoe and stay there.
 Don't make the horses sleep on the hard, cold floor, but give them plenty of bedding, and it will pay you in many ways.
 Bedding makes the manure much more valuable and makes the horses look better.
 Never leave home without a horse blanket, and when the horse is stopped, even for a short time, put the blanket on him.
 Better have two good horses than four poor ones. Trust your horse, but keep a tight rein on him. An honest man will without doubt have an honest horse.
 More than half the horses in this country are lame, mostly in the feet. Shoeing is to blame for much of this trouble. Never submit your horse to a man who knows nothing about his business except to charge a big price for what might better never have been done.
