CRACK NUT SUNDAY.

Queer Method of Hearing a Sermon Still in Use in England. "One fine autumn Sunday I attended a service in a north of England country church that would have driven a New York preacher clean crazy," said the man who travels. "The congregation didn't do a thing but sit around and crack nuts. Fancy a New York minister talking to a crowd of that kind! The modern preacher likes to have things quiet when he talks. It disconcerts him to hear a baby cry or a woman cough or an old man snore. If he is put out by such trifles as these, it is interesting to conjecture what he would do if he were to take hold of a congregation where everybody brought nuts to crack during the sermon. "Worshippers, it seems, used to do this in England and even in our own states during colonial days. This disturbance was not a weekly occurrence by any means. If it had been, the poor preacher would have undoubtedly left his flock to administer spiritual consolation to suit themselves. But as it happened only once a year he was forced to endure it. This one day which was attended by such remarkable license came the Sunday before Michaelmas day and was called 'crack nut Sunday.' Nobody, no matter how pious he might be, hesitated to avail himself of the peculiar privilege granted him, and men, women and children came to church with their pockets stuffed with nuts, which they complacently cracked and munched during the sermon. "It was that kind of a sermon that so impressed me with its oddity. It can be easily imagined that when forty or fifty people got to cracking nuts with all their might the noise is apt to be something terrific, and many times the minister was hard put to it to 'hear himself think.' That custom, from being regarded with high favor for many years, finally came to be looked upon as a nuisance, and the habit was suppressed, except in a few remote localities, although the act of suppression was attended with considerable difficulty, so firmly had the nut cracking fever taken hold of the fancy of the people." - New York Press.

TURPENTINE. Moths will leave if it is sprinkled about. Turpentine and soap will remove ink stains from linen. Turpentine will remove wheel grease, pitch and tar stains. Clean gilt frames with a sponge moistened in turpentine. It will exterminate roaches if sprinkled in their haunts. A few drops on a woolen cloth will clean tan shoes nicely. A few drops added to water in which clothes are boiled will whiten them. An equal mixture of turpentine and linseed oil will remove white marks from furniture caused by water. Ivory knife handles that have become yellow can be restored to their former whiteness by rubbing with turpentine. Carpets can be cleaned and colors restored by going over occasionally with a broom dipped in warm water in which a little turpentine is added. Splendors of Cafes. The cafes and hotels of New York are rivaling each other in the almost oriental splendor with which they have fitted up small rooms for dinner and after theater parties. At one cafe near Broadway the sides of one of these rooms are composed entirely of mirrors, after the French fashion, while the ceiling is covered with green leaves and grapes, bunches of pink and purple grapes of glass, within which are electric lights. The effect is that of a beautiful arbor. Another cafe has mirrors reflecting small red lights throughout the room, while the ceiling, also of mirrors, is an exquisite imitation of moonlight, the effect of which is obtained by electrics inclosed in globes of the color and sheen of moonlight seen through a delicate tracery of faint green leaves. - Exchange. A Sad Case. A Chicago physician was one day called to attend a sick child in a "shabby genteel" quarter of the Windy City. "Madam," said the doctor to the mother, "you should send this child into the country for several weeks each summer." "I am sorry to say, doctor," responded the woman, "that we are not rich enough to do that." "Then," suggested the physician, "have her sent by the fresh air fund." "Oh, doctor," exclaimed the woman, "we are not poor enough!" - Harper's Weekly. Too Selfish. Citizen - What's the matter with all you Swamphurst fellows? You don't seem to like my friend Backlotz. Subbubs - No; he's selfish. Citizen - Oh, come now! Subbubs - That's what he is. A barn near him caught fire the other night, and he put it out without waiting for the rest of us members of the Swamphurst Hose to reach the scene. - Philadelphia Public Ledger. The Comfortable Fortune. "What is your idea of a comfortable fortune?" asked the ambitious youth. "One," answered the man of experience, "that is big enough to buy you everything you want and not big enough to attract the attention of the grand jury." - Washington Star. A Question. "My wife thinks she will never find a better cook than the one we now have." "Humph! Uh - er - say, what would you call your wife, a pessimist or an optimist?" - Cleveland Press.

THE SPANISH ESCURIAL. It is a Marvelous Specimen of Ancient Architecture. The Escorial, the palace of the Spanish king, an architectural marvel, formerly described as the "eighth wonder of the world," is now seldom spoken of even by those who are ready to go wild over much less pretentious structures. The cornerstone of this "Spanish St. Peter's" was laid by Philip II. in 1563, but it was 302 years (1865) before the monstrous building was pronounced finished. It was built by Philip in fulfillment of a vow to "erect the finest monastery in the world" should his forces be successful in their great battle with the French. That battle was fought at St. Quentin on Aug. 10, 1557, St. Lawrence day, and in order to honor that saint as well as to fulfill his vow the king had the foundation of his great memorial laid off in the shape of a gridiron, the implement of torture upon which the goodly Lawrence is reputed to have suffered martyrdom. To those who have never visited the Escorial the size of the gigantic structure is beyond comprehension. It is 740 feet from north to south and 580 1/2 feet from east to west, the square towers at each corner rising to a height of over 200 feet. Within this monstrous building are the king's palace, a cathedral, a monastery of 200 cells, two colleges, three chapter houses, three library buildings, five large halls, six dormitories, three hospitals and over 3,000 other rooms. In order to make St. Lawrence's gridiron complete, the building is built in quadrangular form, with seventeen rows or ranges of monstrous stone structures crossing each other at right angles, these forming the gridiron's ribs, the handle being a wing 470 feet in length. The church, which is a part of this vast pile of masonry, is 384 feet long, 230 feet wide, with a dome 330 feet in height. It is estimated that the building cost $50,000,000. A Question. "My wife thinks she will never find a better cook than the one we now have." "Humph! Uh - er - say, what would you call your wife, a pessimist or an optimist?" - Cleveland Press.
