Sallowness Transformed to Dusky Beauty
A dark skin becomes fascinating when delicately soft, underpinned with the radiant glow which indicates a healthy, active skin. Robertine keeps the skin refined in quality, keeps pores free from clogging waste and stimulates the tiny capillaries to contribute the color which charms blonde and brunette alike. Robertine is certain protection against tan, sunburn and freckles if applied before exposure to sun or wind. Spreads like an imperceptible sheen of gauze over skin surface, forming a shield stimulating and preserving a delicate, lustrous beauty.

Obituary.
The death of Martin T. Walters last week removed from Lakeview one of the old land marks. Mr. Walters was one of the first men to settle in this place, and but few people lived in Goose Lake valley when he came. In an interview with Mr. Walters two years ago the following remarks were made by him: "I saw the spot where Lakeview stands when the calmness of undisturbed nature was upon it. When I came here in 1872 there was but one house here, and that a small log cabin.

Where now stands large brick buildings, when I came here was a solid meadow, covered with grass." He went down the valley six miles and located on the place just south of the Bob McKee ranch. This was Jackson county then, and he used to ride on horse back to Jacksonville to attend court or to transact land business. But he, like others here, thought nothing of that. When Lake county was established in 1875, and the seat of government located at Lakeview Mr. Walters decided to help build the town, and moved here from his ranch and bought an unfinished shed from John Moon, situated where Hotel Lakeview now stands. He conducted a feed stable.

Having been born and raised in Texas he naturally took a liking to horses and raised some that have made running records on the large race courses of the West.

In talking of old times and old timers, Mr. Walters once said to an Examiner reporter, "Lakeview cannot forget us. Our names are in its earliest annals and our work is in its foundation. There were others with us then who with cheerful hearts and willing hands nobly did their part as helpful neighbors and strong co-workers with us in laying the corner stone upon which Lakeview is built."

He has followed many of the old pioneers to the little silent city north of town as they dropped off, one by one, and seen the sod placed over his pioneer companions. There are but few left.

Such men do not have to live forever to perpetuate their memory; they do not have to stand as a living monument to themselves. Their lives create the everlasting impressions that tremble not before the winds nor melt with the driving storms nor fade away beneath the bleaching suns, but stand as Gibraltar stands, firm, unstained and unshaken against the raging waves of time when eternity comes creeping nigh and their lives, their character, their example before men and their every act blaze a way for another noble and upright life.

Mr. Walters was a practical matter-of-fact man, but had his own peculiar manner of extracting merriment from life as it went along, and he was not disposed to worry about matters that could be bettered in other ways. When he died, full of years and ready to be gathered to his fathers, the grief that was felt over the close of his long career was widespread and sincere. His best monument will be the good report that he has left behind him in the community where he has lived for 35 years. Although Mr. Walters was not a member of any church, he exemplified, by his pure and honorable life, the teachings of the golden rule, and unfailingly evinced a practical piety that will long be remembered as the best of professions. There was a daily beauty about his life that won every heart. In temperament he was mild, conciliatory and candid; and yet remarkable for an uncompromising firmness. He gained confidence when he seemed least to seek it.

As was stated in The Examiner last week, Martin Thomas Walters was born in Bastrop county, Texas, December 7, 1838, making him 68 years, 6 months and 23 days old. He married Harriet Smith at Austin Texas, Feb. 4, 1862. They came to Goose Lake valley in 1873, where they have resided ever since. Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Walters, five of whom survive him. J. G. Walters of Portland, Oregon, Mrs. Lizzie Christian of Sacramento, Calif., Mrs. A. A. Allen of Tacoma, Wash., Mrs. J. L. Smith of Walla Walla, Wash., and Mrs. E. H. Smith of Lakeview. His wife also survives him.

The Odd Fellows took charge of the corpse at the family residence and conducted it to the M. E. Church, where a large crowd of sorrowing friends awaited its coming, regardless of a constant downpour of rain. Rev. Ari J. Armstrong preached a very impressive funeral sermon, and again turned the body over to the Odd Fellows who performed their ceremony and marched to the cemetery where a last resting place had been prepared for it in the family lot. There the Odd Fellows performed the last sad rites to a departed brother.

Clustering about the flowers that are scattered there, mingling with the oppressive silence that shrouds the revered spot, and quivering amidst the gloom of the grave the holiest memories speak in tones that fill the ear and thrill the sorrowing heart. All that there was of the life that has faded into the night of endless sleep its lights and its shadows; its sweetness and its nobility; its power and its purity, pass before us like a rapidly moving panorama. Under each influence, with such a thrilling picture of days gone and of worthy deeds done they paused for a time to speak to us and of the beloved dead.

"All that is born must die."
