LAKEVIEW, OREGON, JULY 4, 1907

Foul Play.

We have absolute proof this week of the questionable, underhanded and unbusiness like methods of securing patronage practiced by the publishers of the Herald. The editor of the Herald made as fair an agreement with the publisher of the Examiner as one ever made, to establish a reasonable and living price for publishing timber land notices, both papers to stand by the price at all times. This agreement was made after a profitless fight for the publishing of such notices, which resulted in cut rates, and a loss to both. The Examiner had a price which was $15 per notice, when the Herald cut under in order to get the business. We would not cut the price, but there were parties who said they would not patronize the Herald under any circumstances, and complained about our price. The result was that we had to meet the price, in order to treat our business justly. Then the Herald made another cut; they said they did not but they did. Then these experimental business people realized that they were doing work at a loss and sought to establish a living price. We were willing, and the price was made $15, the same as the Examiner had previously charged. A notice was published in both papers to the effect at the time. In a short time the publishers of the Herald began to dog every body that had a notice to publish to let them have the work to do and in some instances offered to do the work for less than $15. When asked if they had done this, they put the lie on the other party. One case they offered to publish a notice for $12.50 and give the party a year's subscription to their paper, to boot.

Now comes a very reliable lady with a timber land notice to publish, and she ordered it published in the Examiner, without any solicitation. The notice was sent to this office, and was put on the copy book. The next day the publishers of the Herald found out what this lady had done, and went begging after her notice and offered to publish it for less money than the Examiner would do it for if she would come and take it away from the Examiner and give it to them. The party then came and asked our price, and we gave her the regular price, $15. She said she could do better at the Herald office, and as we have no desire to force any one to patronize The Examiner, or beg them to do so, and regardless of the fact that the notice had gone to the copy book and was rightly ours, we let her take her notice away, because she could get it published for less money.

The methods practiced by the publishers of the Herald are underhanded and unbecoming any business institution.

The Examiner stands aloof of all such practices, and is willing for them to have all business secured through such crooked methods.

Therefore, we wish it understood that any agreement between the Examiner and these people, shall be dissolved and no other of any character entered into under any circumstances, until they can stand by their word. Our price for publishing timber land notices is still $15.

The world seems to have gone rampant over the "unwritten law." In Seattle the other day a man shot a young man for calling upon his wife and was exonerated; in Portland a few days later, another similar case occurred; in Boise Idaho but a few days ago a man grew jealous and killed his wife's friend. In the other states further east similar cases are numerous, most prominent among them the Judge Loving case. Judge Loving killed a young man who was out riding with the Judge's daughter and brought her home in an intoxicated condition. In all of the cases the "unwritten law" is the plea.

Later:—Loving was acquitted on the first ballot.

The proposition of Governor Chamberlain and the state school board to raise $66,000 for the Peary North Pole expedition from the school children of Oregon fell short $59,922.23. It is to be hoped this failure will be remembered, and all future gaffing schemes of like character will go the same route. While the personal donations were small those children who did give for the fund, no doubt could have used the money to good advantage, but now that the money is in the fund they cannot get it back, and it will likely go into the pockets of some one who has an eye on all such funds.

A Memorable Day.

One of the days we remember with pleasure, as well as with profit to our health, is the one on which we became acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, the painless purifiers that cure headache and biliousness, and keep the bowels right. See at Lee Heall's Drug Store.

Sallowness Transformed to Dusky Beauty
A dark skin becomes fascinating when delicately soft, underpinned with the radiant glow which indicates a healthy, active skin. Robertine keeps the skin refined in quality, keeps pores free from clogging waste and stimulates the tiny capillaries to contribute the color which charms in blonde and brunette alike. Robertine is certain protection against tan, sunburn and freckles if applied before exposure to sun or wind. Spreads like an imperceptible sheen of gauze over skin surface, forming a shield stimulating and preserving a delicate, lustrous beauty.

If the man (?) who refused to take his Examiner out of the post office last week, because this paper did not treat anarchism according to his liking, wants to know how big a hole he has made in the Examiner's subscription list he can find out by subtracting what he owes on back subscription from his wealth. If he does not know how much he owes this paper he would confer as much of favor upon us by calling to inquire as one of his own creditors would confer upon him by calling at his place of business to settle his account, after declaring his intention of withdrawing his patronage. If he is ashamed to call and settle or hasn't the manhood—the latter suggests itself—if he will borrow a copy of this weeks Examiner, as we expect he will do, he can learn. He owes for the paper since December 13, 1906, or even six months, just one dollar. Two weeks have elapsed since he got his back up, and he has not taken the trouble to pay his back subscription, (awl) we ask of him.

Chas. Spargur one of the proprietors of the Madeline Hotel, was to have been married at Reno last week to Mrs. Kingsbury, of Madeline. So says the New Era.

Miss Laura Yates, while running the job press in The New Era office at Alturas, had two fingers broken by being caught in the press. One had better have an alligator bite than to be caught in a job press, where three thousand pounds pressure to the square inch is thrown upon the hand if it is left in the press too long, in removing or placing sheets for printing.

A Wonderful Happening

Port Byron, N. Y., has witnessed one of the most remarkable cases of healing ever recorded. Amos F. King of that place says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured a sore on my leg with which I had suffered over 80 years. I am now 85." Guaranteed to cure all sores, by Lee Beall, Druggist 25c.

Wizard in the Weather.

There's wizard in the weather. It can rain without a cloud, And when it snowed and hailed It thundered long and loud. We had some snow in June; Uncommon I must say. If it's the spots that on the sun I wish they would go away. We had plenty of rain this spring For fields and garden. Why, We had no need to irrigate; It as watered from the sky. But I do not like so much rain rain rain, rain, rain, rain. But I suppose the farmers did. It doubled their crops of hay and grain, grain, grain. But for me, I like better the sun shine shine shine.

All the time, wish it would either quit raining Or fall in some other clime. S. J. Jones, Lakeview Oregon.

Long Live the King!

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America, the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung Remedies!" of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to quickly cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this county. New Discovery cures Weak Lungs and Sore Throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it's the only sure cure. Guaranteed by Lee Beall, Druggist. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.
