Jos. Cannon's Opinion.

Joseph G. Cannon, according to an editorial in the New York Sun, which is anti-administration, a year ago declared with every appearance of sincerity, not to say excitement, that what the country needed above all other things was a chief executive who would keep on his own side of the fence, attend to his own business and leave the judicial and legislative branches free to discharge their own duties.

Warning to the subject and evidently chafing under a sense of provocation he is said to have added:
 "The republican party must offer the people that kind of a president next time or it had better go out of business."

The alleged declaration has aroused much interest here because it is assumed to be an animadversion on the white house occupant and because the Sun speaking apparently with authoritative knowledge declares the statement was not intended for publication nor has even been hinted at in the news papers.

In Japan, Taft is rubbing the Mikado's hair the right way, and the Mikado is rubbing Taft's hair the right way, while in San Francisco a drunken hoodlum staggers through the window of a Japanese laundry and creates a sensation which the Japs are wont to make international. The slightest provocation in San Francisco invokes unrest among the Japanese subjects and is regarded by Japan as outrages, National insults and intolerable. Japan goes around with a chip on its shoulder, and if a Britisher knocks the chip off and then swats Mr. Jap on the other side to give him back his equilibrium, Mr. Jap says "I didn't mean you." But let a San Francisco street urchin or a drunken, irresponsible hoodlum crook his finger at a Japanese subject and the d— is to pay at once, and no pitch hot.

The house of Bishops of the Episcopal church has elected Rev. Robert L. Paddock, Rector of the Holy Apostles Church, New York City, bishop of the new missionary district of Eastern Oregon. The newly chosen bishop is one of the leading clergy men among the younger men in the Episcopal church in New York. He is 35 years of age, unmarried and a son of the late bishop of Olympia.

The first shot in the campaign to put the lid on in Baker City has been fired, and those who have taken the matter up declare they will not rest until they have run every gambling house out of Baker City and forced the saloons to observe the law regarding Sunday closing and the admittance of women and minors to the barroom.

Francis J. Heney, so it is said, will be a candidate for United States Senator from California at the next meeting of the legislature, to succeed Senator Perkins. Mr. Heney's ability to fill the position will not figure against the hatred some Californians have for him on account of his work as a prosecutor in San Francisco.

Goose Lake Exhibit at Reno

Mr. A. A. Hibbard, of the Overland Banking Realty Co., for Reno, Nev., is in our city this week looking over this territory. The Overland keeps the largest and most complete exhibit of mining and farm outputs on the Pacific Coast. Mr. Hibbard is collecting an exhibit from this valley which he will add to the collection in the Reno office. He is greatly impressed with the outlook for this country. He says we certainly have a great country here, and even expressed a desire to reside and do business here. He was also surprised at seeing such a large body of fresh water as Goose Lake, and says we should change its name so as to give out a more correct impression of its extent and character.

Mr. Hibbard came over from Bidwell with D. P. Browne, of the Warner Valley Stock Co., and will remain all this week.

Joe Ambrose, the West Side gardener, left at this office last Saturday, a turnip raised by him, which weighs 9 1/2 pounds. Those mentioned last week weighed 9 1/2 pounds, instead of 4 as stated. The one left here will go to Reno, to be placed on exhibit there in the office of the Overland Banking Realty Co.

Sheep's Horn Embedded in Tree.

In 1888 Jason Elder of Paisley who is one of our most efficient forest rangers, while rambling in the woods came across a yellow pine tree in which he discovered at the base, a mountain sheep horn imbedded therein, and which he longed to investigate, but no favorable opportunity presented itself to do so until October 3rd, when Elder, who was supervising the building of the government trail at and near the place where the tree stood, cut it down, and cutting a block from the tree in which the horn was embedded and sent it to Guy M. Ingram, Forest Supervisor at Lakeview, and which Mr. Ingram highly prizes, and is a curiosity, rarely, if ever seen before. The tree was 3 1/2 feet in diameter and was 213 years old. The horn was a little to one side of the center of the tree and ran in a circular direction, and instead of being curled as mountain sheep horns are was almost straight. From the outside of the horn to the outside of the tree, it showed since it was imbedded therein, 182 years had elapsed. The horn was soaked with pitch, and was 30 inches long. The horn at the base was ten inches in diameter, and protruded from the tree about six inches.—Silver Lake Leader.

Pine Ridge Stock Farm.
 Mr. L. M. Hartley, Salem Iowa, has achieved success breeding the American Draft horse and demonstrated to the farmers that with ordinary farm conditions, good stallions, and good mares of the right breeding, he is producing as good Percherons as in France.

The Live Stock Journal publishes an illustration of Tavernier, 35,719, at the head of the stud. He is a powerful draft horse and weighs over a ton, has big bone and good feet, fine, vigorous action, and has proved to be a good breeder. Mr. Hartley values him at 5,000. Some of his colts have sold for half that price.

Tavernier is a grandson of Old Sampson, 27,238 that stood at the head of the stud for ten years and at one of the greatest draft horse shows ever held in the state, won first prize and sweepstakes over a large field of imported stallions. Many of these mares owe their bone and heavy draft type to Old Sampson.

Mr. Hartley is a pioneer breeder of draft horses and has adopted the Percheron as a model type of the draft horse. These pure bred mares, some of them weighing up to a ton, make grand farm teams and produce big, fine colts that rapidly grow into more money than any other stock. Mr. Hartley's Pine Ridge Farm, of 1,000 acres of finest grass and grain land, is well stocked with finest Percherons and Shropshire sheep.

The Percheron stud of 140 Pure Bred Stallions, mares and colts, is one of the largest Draft Horse breeding establishments in America. Looking at a group of these grand, big, mares, we asked Mr. Hartley how many colts they had raised; he said some of them had raised 10 to 15 colts, and that while he had kept most of the mare colts, he had got $10,000 to $15,000 from each one of the older mares. The stallion colts he had sold from $1,000 to $2,500 each. They were all good workers and the most profitable workers he had ever seen. The farm work made them regular breeders. He has a fine lot of young Stallions, one and two years old with wonderful size and early development, and some three and four year old stallions ready for service, giving a fine selection of Percheron Stallions, and a large number of mares and fillies for which there is so much demand.

It is a great object lesson in breeding pure bred draft horses, to visit Pine Ridge Stock Farm and to see what the old gray mare has done in 25 years breeding on the farm in producing a handsome income every year.

We have in Lakeview two of Mr. Hartley's three year old stallion colts with size and bone to suit the most exacting, that will develop into ton stallions and win patronage for breeding in any community. Such a stallion, with two or three pure bredmares, will soon breed up a stud of pure bred and produce a handsome income that in a few years insures a fortune on the farm as the highest achievement of pure bred stock.

The monument of the success of the Pine Ridge Stock Farm, is the big barn, 275 feet long, 80 feet wide and over 100 feet high. It is the largest barn in the state. The fine view from the cupola, is a wealth of rich fields and fine stock seldom seen in any state. The big sign of three foot letters, "Pine Ridge Stock Farm," is easily read from the train.

Death of Mrs. J. L. Morrow.

The sad news of the death of Sibbrina Morrow, beloved wife of "Uncle" Joseph Morrow, of Warner Lake, reached Lakeview last Sunday morning. Mr. Morrow came over to Lakeview on Friday to be present at the present term of circuit court. He left his wife home in usual good health, and about an hour after arriving here he was called to the 'phone and notified that Mrs. Morrow was sick, but no danger was anticipated. Mr. Morrow, however, the thoughtful and loving husband that he was, became uneasy about his wife, and started home that evening. Saturday morning he 'phoned for Dr. Daly, who rushed to the sick woman's bedside, and remained there until Sunday morning, when, at 6 o'clock Mrs. Morrow passed away.

A casket was sent from here and the remains of Warner Valley's oldest and most respected mother and grandmother was taken to Bidwell for burial, which took place at 1 o'clock Monday. The death of this beloved lady will cast a gloom over the entire community in which she resided. She was about 77 years of age, and leaves a loving husband, and three children, Joseph A. Morrow, of Klamath Falls, Mrs. A. N. Bennett and Mrs. W. H. Cooper, of Warner Lake. The shock is a sad one for "Uncle" Joe, as he himself is getting along in years, and has many troubles.

We hope next week to publish a more complete history of this distinguished lady, but this week the facts are not at hand, as Mr. Morrow will not arrive here until too late in the week to give them to us.

The Examiner deplores the sad incident, and deeply sympathizes with the bereaved husband and family.

Over the Garden Wall.

If this game is played upon a tennis court the net makes a good wall, or if played in the parlor a strip of muslin stretched across the folding doors or room will answer. Then select two captains, who in turn select their sides, each side taking a position on either side of the wall. Each captain has a soft ball, and at the count of one, two, three, they toss the ball over the wall, at the same time calling the name of the opposite player, who is expected to catch it. If in the excitement the wrong one catches the ball, he or she goes on the other side. The player who catches the ball hastily passes it again to his captain, and the former rule is repeated until one side outnumbers the other to some great extent.

A Famous Crow.

There was once a crow which had a very grand funeral. Pliny has told us the story. This bird on account of its extraordinary accomplishments had been the pet of all Rome. So angry were the Romans with the man who killed it that they had him executed for the crime. The crow was honored with a public funeral. Its body was placed on a bier and so carried in state to its grave. It was preceded by a band playing a funeral march and was followed by a crowd of mourners. This curious incident occurred in the reign of Emperor Claudius.

The Three Fates.

The names of the "three fates" were Clotho, Lachesis and Atropos. To express the influence which they were believed to exercise on human life from birth to death they were shown as spinning a thread of gold, silver or wool, now tightening, now slackening, and at last cutting it off. Clotho, the youngest, put the wool around the spindle, Lachesis spun it, and the aged Atropos cut it off when a man had to die.

Why is a pig with a curly continuation like the ghost of Hamlet's father? Because he could a tale unfold.

What is the newest thing in the stockings? The baby's foot.

Why is a coward like a leaky barrel? They both run.

When does a dog become larger and smaller? When let out at night and taken in in the morning.

Sn and the Nose.

Some industrious deliver into things has called attention to a curious association between the letters sn and the nose. The following words, beginning with those two consonants, all have some connection with that organ: Snout, snar, sneeze, snast, snore, snub, snarl, snuffy, snort, sneer, sniff, snigger, snuff, snift, snuffle, snooze, snaffle, snivel.

The First Written Music.

It is quite impossible to say who wrote the first music notes as it would be to say who wrote the first sentence of any kind on papyrus or parchment. It is generally understood that the scale as we know it today was put into shape by Guido Arento (1050) and subsequently added to by Le Maire.

Misfit Spectacles.

I've wondered why the spectacles that help grandpa to read should look very queer indeed. Good reason why his spectacles for me would never do. For, don't you see, my eyes are brown, while grandpa's are blue?
