The SPORTING WORLD

Major Delmar's Victory.
 Major Delmar, the famous trotter, retrieved himself recently by defeating Sweet Marie in two straight heats in a mile race.

The Major had not been in the best of shape during much of the season.

MAJOR DELMAR
 and previous to the race in question it was not thought that he would finish ahead of the trotting queen in any contest this year.

Feathered Game News.
 In both Kansas and Wisconsin the closed season on grouse and prairie chickens is now on again, and hunters who have operated in both states report but fair sport. In Wisconsin the season is but fifteen days long, and the fact that the birds have not been as numerous as was expected has led to general comment upon the need of maintaining a brief open season until they have time to increase.

From all accounts grouse have also been scarce in many sections of Montana, while in others they have been abundant. In the neighborhood of Helena, for instance, the weather is said to have been sufficiently wet and cold in the spring to kill off many of the young birds. In the more highly cultivated districts reports have come indicating that they are numerous. The season is open on grouse and prairie chickens in Montana until Dec. 1, but quail are protected for the entire year.

Sportsmen in the Dakotas have given the most encouraging reports of the year. The season on quail, grouse and prairie chickens recently closed in North Dakota, but it is open in South Dakota until the first of the year. The shooting is described as excellent. The crop conditions, with the grain standing late in the fields, has done much to tend in this direction. The young birds have been protected, and the dry season of the greater part of that region has given them abundant time to develop.

A Baseball Lesson.
 Profiting by the expensive 1907 lesson that high salaries do not necessarily mean or produce high class baseball, the Tristate league has taken the bull by the horns and has established a lower salary limit for next season. The limit has been fixed at $2,000 per month per team with nonplaying manager and at $2,800 per month with playing manager, and each club must file a $2,000 bond as a guarantee of good faith. This proper move was inevitable in view of the heavy losses sustained by six of the eight clubs the past season, and the fact that even under organized ball due regard must be paid to limitations of resources and population.

A rigid enforcement of the new limit next season will not only save the valuable and interesting Tristate league to the baseball world, but will also illustrate to a degree that Class B ball at Class A salaries is comparatively just as good as any other kind, and that not alleged star ball players, but equal teams and a close and well balanced race, make for the interest and patronage of the public and the success of a league, no matter what class it may be arbitrarily assigned to.

No Extra Seats For Harvard-Yale Game
 It was announced at Cambridge recently that there will be no increase in the seating capacity of the stadium for the Harvard and Yale football game this fall by the erection of a temporary wooden stand at the open end of the arena. The stadium accommodates about 33,000 people, but in the two Yale games which have been played there the additional seats have increased capacity to more than 40,000.

It is against the policy of the Harvard athletic authorities to have extraordinary crowds paying high prices for seats at athletic events, and as soon as the debt on the stadium is canceled there will be a reduction in the price of tickets and everything will be done to eliminate heavy receipts. Eventually the stadium will be thrown open to Harvard men without charge.

Burns and Johnson.
 Tommy Burns has answered the critics who have commented on his trip to Great Britain to fight Gunner Moir by declaring that he will meet Jack Johnson. Burns insists that Johnson will be his next opponent in the United States.

James Coffroth, the Colma club promoter, has announced his willingness to give a $25,000 purse for a heavy-weight championship contest. Some of the Nevada promoters have been making offers for Johnson and Burns, and the fight may be held there.

WHAT TO WEAR.

New Sweater For Sporty Girl—Something Smarter in Auto Toggery.
 For fall outings and sports a sweater of some kind is almost a necessity. There are very pretty ones to be had that are a decided improvement on the old shapeless garments originally known under this name. A mighty smart new sweater is well fitted to the figure and has cloth collar, cuffs, pocket flaps and buttons.

Ring dots remain in a leading place among the designs in fancy silks. Stripes are equally favored. Dark plaid are also liked. Ombre effects, which are given this appearance by a free use of black with the brighter plaids, are highly appreciated among the natty suitings of the season.

An automobile coat that fastens at the side under the arm is a novelty. This gives protection to the chest, especially in a rainstorm, when one is driving against the wind.

The newest veils have a fluted border of chiffon about two inches wide sewed on all around the veil.

This season there are a number of tailored suit models, but the one shown in the cut is simple, practical and smart and consequently fills all the essential requirements. It is made of plum colored cheviot simply stitched and finished with buttons and a collar of velvet. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SNAPSHOTS OF THE MODE.

Waistcoat With Sleeves—Newest Thing in Jumpers—Purple Hats.
 Masculine collars continue to flourish, but still more patronized is the linen cuff of broad dimensions, with jeweled links, now much worn by smart women with blouses. Projecting from the coat sleeves, these masculine accessories are decidedly effective. Under our jackets we are displaying another of fashion's newest fancies in the shape of a sleeved waistcoat.

Perhaps the newest thing in the jumper line is a chiffon waist in a very soft silvery chiffon. It is trimmed with lace insertion, and there are beautiful lace straps going over the shoulders. The whole waist is as thin as a web and as glossy as the most silvery of silver sheen.

Purple hats are seen in the new millinery. They are mostly of felt, trimmed with a large bunch of ribbon and pale lavender and purple orchids or pansies. They are also very large in shape.

Afternoon gowns for the children are quite as attractive as those for the grownups. The illustration shows two charming models, one for mamma and the other for the wee miss. The little girl's dress embodies a variation of the guimpe idea and combines an overwaist with a plaited skirt. In this instance the material is a checked voile with a novelty trimming of plain silk and soutache. The gown worn by the young mother is of the favorite bordered material of crepe de chine in a lovely shade of gray. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Cipher Code.
 "So that dining room orchestra plays by instruction, eh?" said the new arrival.

"Oh, yes!" replied the corpulent proprietor. "When I notice a guest sipping hot coffee I signal 'P. L.' That means 'Play loud.'"

"Rather interesting."

"Yes, and then when I see one eating soup with a great deal of noise I signal 'P. V. L.' That means 'Play very loud.'"

"Clever—very clever. Is that all of the code?"

"Oh, no! When a man starts to eat corn off the cob I hurry up and signal 'P. B. L. A. B. T. C.'"

"And what does that mean?"

"Why that means 'Play blamed loud and beat the cymbals.'"—Chicago News.

Just Kids.
 "How do you like my new hat, Kitty?"

"Lubley, Minnie, I had one just like it last winter."—New York World.

The Horrors of Matrimony.
 "One of the prominent actresses says nine out of ten marriages turn out unhappily."

"Yes," replied the old bachelor; "if a man marries a woman for her beauty he is likely to find that a good deal of it is counterfeit, and if he takes her for her money the chances are that she will merely give him an allowance."—Chicago Record-Herald.

His Platform as Amended.
 "My platform," shouted the orator, bringing his fist down with a resounding thwack on the desk before him. "is 'Leave well enough alone!'"

"Beg pardon," whispered the chairman of the meeting, an eminent Boston citizen, pulling his coat tails gently. "Let well enough alone is the preferable form."—Bohemian.
