Lake County Examiners

VOL. XXIX.
LAKEVIEW, LAKELAND, OREGON, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1908.

OUR INTERESTS DEMAND IT

An Equal Distribution of Representation in the District Will Serve all.

Lake county is in a Representative Council of South, Lakeshore, Creek and Grand counties, which is composed of twelve representatives, and also in a Territorial District composed of four counties, and Lake county is entitled to one Senator. The interests of these counties are diversified, Creek and Grand counties are far to the north and difficult of adequate representation by men from those parts of the district, but Lake county is in the south, and ceased equally represented by amount of population and area.

A proper distribution of the representatives in the legislature in this district would give all representation.

Lake has been without representation in the legislature, and the time has come when we wish to be represented. We know as a rule that is in the state, and there is no reason why we should not be a nation to the legislature, among other parts of the district could not be objection. Let us get together on some good men and all work for his election. While there may be others who could represent us, we are satisfied, the name of J. H. Braswell, of Prineville, is the current of the county's unqualified interest, and having lived here many years, and been a member of the legislature for a number of years, he is the person among others who deserves representation.

In regard to the action of the governor in denying the application of the Oregonian to be appointed to the position of Solicitor of the Interior, the Governor's action was not necessary.

Oberly T. Miller, an attorney, will give his services as Solicitor of the Interior, and will be able to discharge his duties, and will give the people of this district the benefit of the services of a person of the highest ability.

The Examiner published an advertisement for the position of Solicitor of the Interior, which was the opportunity for a person to be appointed, and the person of the highest ability is the person who should be appointed.

Solicitor should be a person who is a lawyer, and is known to be a man of the highest ability, and who is known to be able to discharge the duties of the position.
