Timber Land Notice.

United States Land Office, Lakeview Oregon, Jan. 25, 1908.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and Washington Territory," as extended to all the Public Land States by act of August 4, 1892,

Willis J. Mulkey, of Creswell, county of Lane, State of Oregon, has filed in this office his sworn statement, No. 3844, for the purchase of the Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, of Section No. 30, in Township No. 36 S., Range No. 16 E., W. M., and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish his claim to said land before County Clerk, Klamath Co., at his office at Klamath Falls Oregon, on Wednesday, the 15th day of April, 1908.

He names as witnesses: W. E. Reed, Mattie E. Reed, Charles E. Mulkey, Arthur C. Oberlin, all of Bly, Oregon.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 15th day of April, 1908.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one druggist in every town who has been able to cure all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials and address P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY

There is a policeman in Washington who was taught the power of diplomatic immunity in a way that excited him to laughter every time he thinks of it. A few days ago he was gayly swinging his club and flirting with the nurses in Dupont circle when he noticed a nine-year-old breaking branches from a small bush.

"Stop that," he said to the youngster, touching him on the shoulder. "I may have to arrest you for that."

The child looked at him unafraid. "You can't do that," he observed gravely. "I am entitled to diplomatic immunity."

The officer's mouth flew open. "Young man," he said peremptorily, "I am an officer of the law. It is unlawful to break shrubbery. Anybody doing so must be punished."

"Ah, but you don't know who I am," the boy replied in a childish treble. "I am the son of an envoy extraordinary and a minister plenipotentiary. Diplomats and their families cannot be punished for breaking the laws. If you don't believe me, you may go and ask my papa."

"I'll tell you what I will do, young man," the officer said, exasperated. "I will take you to your father and see if you have any immunity from his punishment."

The youngster wailed. It was some satisfaction to the officer to know that he wailed still louder after he had told his tale at the legation.—Washington Cor. Chicago Tribune.

Get Rich Slow Is Safer.

The get-rich-quick idea will not do. People still seem willing to risk their savings on a basis that necessarily and notoriously implies risks, and as long as they are willing so to do reckless men will bid for the use of their money and offer tempting baits for it. If all goes well, the scheme works, but it is intrinsically a gamble. Then when the contrary tide sets in people scramble for their money, and if lucky enough to get it they lock it up in safety deposit boxes or tea-pots or old stockings, to the everlasting detriment of the reputable business of the country. If only people could understand the preferable character of smaller, but steadier and safer, profits on idle cash, we should have less difficulty of this kind and less panicky hoarding as a result of the crash. Hoarding money is the equal and opposite reaction to hoarding it on a gambler's chance, and each extreme is unwise and detrimental.—Lowell Courier-Citizen.

Wind Pressure.

Messrs. Stanton and Bairstow have recently made some experiments at the National Physical Laboratory, London, which bring out a new and practically very valuable fact—namely, that pressure is not the same on large surfaces as on small experimental models. If, for example, a given wind velocity is brought to bear on a square foot of surface, it will be 18 per cent less a square foot than if it were directed on 100 square feet of surface. It was demonstrated, too, that this relation is constant for flat forms, however complicated. A builder or engineer who knows that a structure may be exposed to a wind of eighty miles an hour and that the pressure a square foot as determined by model is, say, x pounds, should allow for his larger construction 20 per cent extra. The reason for this seems to be the more thoroughly reduced pressure on the lee side of a larger area.—Technical Literature.

Oldest British Peer.

The oldest British peer is Lord Gwydyr, aged ninety-seven. He was five years old at the time of the battle of Waterloo and enjoys the distinction, probably unique, of being the only person now living who was present at the coronation of four monarchs. It is related of this venerable individual that when a boy ten years old he went from the gardens of Gwydyr House, Whitehall, to the speaker's steps at Westminster in his grandfather's state barge, manned by liveried oarsmen, and was present in Westminster abbey when the crown was placed on the head of George IV., acting as a page to his grandfather, Lord Gwydyr.—Kansas City Journal.

Granite Tomahawks.

Major James Tandy Ellis found a fine tomahawk on his farm the other day. He called our attention to the fact that tomahawks were made of granite and the granite was found only in Vermont, showing that the tribes which made Kentucky a hunting ground must some time in life have been conversant with the country in and around Vermont. He also said that more Indian relics have been found in Carroll county than in any other county in the United States.—Carrollton (Ky.) Democrat.
