

MODISH MATTERS.

A Smart Short Fur Coat—What is Worn in String Ties.

Among the ultra smart fur pieces is the short coat worn to accentuate the empire gown beneath. It does not come to the waist line, but to the top of the high girde. This little jacket is made, when of mink, with the markings running in semicircles across the back, with the lower edge following the same line. The fronts are wide enough to fasten double breasted, but they are more often worn rolled back. The neck is collarless, and the sleeves are three-quarter leg or mitten affairs.

In considering the adjuncts of the stiff collar, ties must not be overlooked. These are of every possible description, from the smart string tie to use a masculine term—to the most elaborate lace tie. Many of these collar ties are shown in two colors and with double ends. Most attractive are those of plain silk, with the extra ends which show in the tying made of a fine checked silk or two shades of the same color.

The Japanese treatment in the shoulders of the dressy suits as well as the adaptation of the large armhole is very noticeable.

Drawn or gathered silk or velvet hats are mostly seen for afternoon wear, much trimmed with every kind of fancy feathers.

The waist illustrated is one of the new designs, with the broad shouldered effect given by the plaits that conceal the armhole seams. It has the convenient and smart patch pocket on the left side. The sleeves are either long or three-quarter length.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Stunning Sleeve Effects—Coiffure Ornaments—To Remodel Fur Scarf.

Slashed sleeves are pretty when a well made undersleeve is shown. The cut should extend halfway to the shoulder. Soutache is liberally employed either on the material or worked over a course net foundation for the adornment of tailor made coats as well as bodices, and dressy wraps and braided panels are being combined with broadfall and other furs for both peleries and muff.

Clusters of flowers made of satin ribbon are worn in the hair. Several of the flower petals are tiny sachet bags exquisitely perfumed, so that the whole effect is that of a real blossom. If you own a small neck scarf of good fur and cannot afford to buy a new one, there are two ways of making it useful—first, trim it elaborately with lace and get a few tails to group at front and back; second, cut it into a wide turnover collar running to the bust and a pair of gauntlet cuffs and trim your best coat with it.

Any of the thin, light materials that are so modish this winter will make up well into the frock illustrated. In the present instance it is carried out in a pastel shade of violet voile. Satin ribbon of a deeper tone trims the skirt at the bottom and outlines the neck opening on the bodice. The chemise is of lace.

LAKE COUNTY ABSTRACT CO.
INCORPORATED

A COMPLETE RECORD

We have made an entire transcript of all Records in Lake County, which, in any way, affect Real Property in the county.

We have a complete Record of every Mortgage and transfer ever made in Lake County, and every Deed given.

ERRORS FOUND.

In transcribing the records we have found numerous mortgages recorded in the Deed record, and not indexed; and many deeds are recorded in the Mortgage record and other books. Hundreds of mortgages and deeds are not indexed at all, and are most difficult to trace up from the records.

We have notations of all these Errors:

Others cannot find them. We have spent hundreds of dollars hunting up these errors, and we can guarantee our work.
