ENGLAND SAYS NO ALUM IN FOOD

and strictly prohibits the sale of alum baking powder—

So does France So does Germany

The sale of alum food has been made illegal in Washington and the District of Columbia, and alum baking powders are everywhere recognized as injurious.

To protect yourself against alum, when ordering baking powder,

Say plainly— ROYAL BAKING POWDER

and be very sure you get Royal. Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. It adds to the digestibility and wholesomeness of the food.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Dainty Finish For Short Sleeves. Coral Buckles in Quaint Design. Short sleeves are terminated with cuffs, strap bands or often with little frills of lace. Coral buckles in quaint rose bouquets adorn many of the black silk webbing belts. Mallines, coque and chiffon boas are as popular as ever, and there are mighty pretty effects in well contrasted colors. Pumps to be worn by little boys and girls at dancing school this year have

THE FAVORITE VIOLE—5218, 5230. sensible low heels. Women's footwear is very long and pointed. So elongated is the toe of the new shoe that one is obliged to wear a shoe at least two sizes bigger than one ordinarily purchases. Among the novelty buttons are those of enameled Japanese emblems, and combinations of gun metal and cut steel are very good style. Velvet is going to be worn extensively this winter, and few women will have a dress of velvet, chiffon velvet or velveteen. The latter is durable and very effective. Velveteen now comes in light weight and makes up in smart costumes for the street. No material makes prettier indoor gowns than voile in various weights and weaves. The model in the cut shows the favorite circular skirt, with an extremely attractive overblouse, while the color of the dress is a very lovely smoke gray, and the trimming is velvet overlaid with a little soutache. The separate gimpes is of cream colored lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MODES OF THE MOMENT. Large Hats Distilled by Haidressers. Frocks of Supple Material. The small hat is promised a vogue later on in the season, and one reason for this is probably found in the fact that the large hats are so heavy. The heavy hats have been found to cause baldness, and haidressers advise the light weight. "Best dresses," reception gowns, party frocks and house dresses are all made this season from supple materials. Only the short skirted tailored suit is made from a heavy fabric that does not give to the figure. All raiment for women is either very mannish for rough wear or exquisitely supple for dress wear. The fancy to secure the new collars visibly at the back with cuff or bob pins and to clasp the two upper front edges with more handsome pins of the same shape will continue smart during the winter. Stitched bands of cloth are used to define seams on fur garments. These seams have heretofore been left undefined. Silk braids of a fine, close mesh are employed for the same purpose. There is a fancy for almost square muffs with a head in the center at the lower edge arranged in the form of a full brush tail, the legs making a trimming for the muff at the sides. The all in one dress shown in the illustration for a small girl is of golden brown cashmere, with trimmings of brown and white tulle taffeta piped with velvet. The gimpes is of tulle white lawn.
