THE EXAMINER'S PRINCIPLES

The Examiner urges more than ever the principles we have been advocating for a month past, since we find that the State Republican convention has adopted the very same principles in their resolutions, and the greatest men of the state approve these principles. Among these things, loyalty to the party you affiliated yourself with when you registered. Vote the ticket your party nominate—its the expressed choice of your party. No trading or dickering was done, and by so doing keep the law that now permits you to name the candidates. Another most important matter that should not be overlooked is the amendments to be voted upon in June. Many of these amendments are silly and some vicious. If they are made into laws our constitution will be torn into shreds, and burdened with a lot of trash. Better vote against every one of these measures than vote for them. The University appropriation measure should carry; all others may be voted down with safety; however, we shall vote yes on 304-306-314-336 These four, and no more. On all the others we shall vote no. Every voter should vote on every measure. By doing so you will keep the initiative and referendum law, but if you do not vote these crazy measures down the law will be repealed—sure. The law is all right if not abused.

CHAMBERLAIN AND PROTECTION

Certain incongruities in tariff schedules render revision of our protective tariff necessary. The friends of protection have determined the next Congress shall make such changes as experience has proven to be necessary. This will open the whole question of tariff duties and in the Congress to be elected this year, will be fought over, the same battle that has been periodically fought here for nearly one hundred years, between the party upholding protection for American industries, and the party which would construct tariff with reference to the production of revenue, without regard to protection. If George Chamberlain should be in the Senate he must act with one or the other of these parties. Every democrat in the State knows that he must, and every one of them knows that in this, as in all other instances of his previous and present political life, he will act with the democratic party, and oppose protection to one of the most important industries of Lake County. Judged by its history, the democratic party will, if possible, place wool on the free list. This it did in 1893, with Mr. Chamberlain's approval and help. The effect of tariff legislation of 1893 is within the knowledge and memory of every voter. Would you have the conditions of that period re-established? A vote for Geo. E. Chamberlain is a step in that direction. Those engaged in wool growing in Lake County are large consumers of farm products at good prices.

They employ more labor at better wages than any other class. More money is brought into Lake County, and distributed amongst the people from sales of wool and mutton than from any other source.

The general prosperity of the people of the County depends more upon the prosperity of this industry than upon any other.

That the business cannot prosper without protection you have seen proven, and George E. Chamberlain, if in the United States Senate, will vote to strike out the protective duty on wool. He aided and abetted the party which did do this in 1893, and he will do it again. He dares not announce that he will vote to uphold protective tariff. He dares not deny that he will vote with the democratic party on this question in the Senate. He must vote as he believes, and he is against the Republican party, and the Republican party is the only power that can save the principle of protection.

If you are interested in protection—and you are if you are to get your living in Lake County—Geo. E. Chamberlain cannot represent your interests in the United States Senate.

OREGONIAN ALSO CONDEMNNS

"If the elector hasn't full knowledge of the initiative and referendum measures or is in doubt about them, he would do well to vote 'No.' 'No' is usually a mighty safe proposition. That is to say, unless the time has come for Oregon to have a universal guffaw of Polly over the uses to which the 'new system' is forced by various groups of our population".

The above is from the Oregonian of the 4th, and is exactly what The Examiner has for more than a month been trying to impress upon its readers. We shall continue to urge the importance of this until the election is held.

We do not question the intelligence of the voters, but we fear many of them, not having the means of full information upon the meaning of these measures, may conclude not to vote upon them. There are but four of these for which we shall vote, 304-306-314-336. These we think are good measures and ought to pass. Others may be of importance in certain localities. But it is better, far better, that the whole lot should be defeated than that they should all pass through the failure of electors to vote on them because their import is not understood.

The most important duty of electors of the State at the approaching election is to vote on these measures, and to vote, "No," on every one unless they know why it should pass.

TOO MUCH "TOM-FOOLERY"

"The greater part of the electors who are to pass on the initiative or referendum measures now submitted to them for their decision will vote without any real knowledge of the various propositions. Few will even read them, but will vote at hazard, without serious thought of consequences. Such a mass of stuff fatigues the attention of the electors. Much of it is incomprehensible, even to its authors, who are taking the opportunity to exploit fads and follies which never could get through any legislative body where there was chance to examine and expose them."

This from the Oregonian of the 9th is doubtless much too true in some localities, but the Examiner hopes it is not applicable to voters of Lake County. Our readers will note that the Oregonian regards these measures much the same as we have represented them, and we have given a fair explanation of them all. If you have not, from information otherwise obtained, decided what you should do with this stuff, we again beg Lake County voters to vote YES, at 304-306-314-336, and vote NO, in every other case.

VOTE FOR UNIVERSITY BILL

314 Yes. In the approval of an appropriation made by the last legislature for the maintenance of the University of Oregon we are very much interested. This bill was passed by the legislature, vetoed by the Governor, passed over the veto, and is now submitted by referendum for your approval or disapproval. It appropriates $125,000 annually for the benefit of higher education in this state. It is not extravagant. If you pass it, university education in Oregon will still cost less per student than in any other state. Governments become more and more complicated as states grow wealthier, and better education of voters becomes more and more a necessity. It is the only way in which public money can be expended where the benefits accrue directly to the people.

Governor Chamberlain has shown a determination to obstruct the growth of higher educational institutions in this State by vetoing bills providing means of sustenance and advancement. The voters of Lake county are reminded that he has once, in this same way, withheld from Normal schools, all state support for a period of 2 years. In that instance the voters of Lake County, and of the State, very emphatically rebuked the Governor, in that they approved the bill by a large majority, as we hope to see them do in this case. There appears little opposition to this measure outside the gaugers of Willemette Valley who are particularly interested in the Oregon Agricultural College, who oppose expenditure of money except for the direct benefit of their class, and Governor Chamberlain seeks in this way to secure the support of this organization for his own political purposes. When this appropriation is passed the people of Oregon will again give notice they don't approve of starving their schools to serve the purposes of politics.

Again we urge, don't fail to vote 314 Yes.

Do you know of a useful man in congress who is a non-partisan?

What man ever attained to distinction in the history of American statesmanship as a non-partisan?

What American statesman ever accomplished a great good for his country, except by acting with a party?

What act of the congress can you point to from which you or your country reaped great benefit, which was not the act of one party and opposed by the other?

Read the speech of Hon. George H. Williams, printed in The Examiner this week; also the resolutions adopted by the state Republican convention, printed elsewhere in this issue. Both these articles contain exactly the principles, almost word for word, that The Examiner has been shouting for a month past.
