Queer Inns of China.
In China there are many inns where there is shelter for man and beast in very truth and without regard to whether you are man or beast. Animals belonging to the pack trains, men who drive them and any traveler who may chance upon one of these democratic inns lie down—not in peace, but in confusion—together. The braying of asses, bellowing of oxen, bleating of calves and snoring of exhausted mankind are mixed together. An American traveler may indeed be thankful that railroads are doing away with pack trains and that soon these queer inns will have no reason for existing.

A Little Lady.
Little Nellie had been taught never to put her fingers into her bowl of bread and milk, but always to use her spoon, like a little lady.
When she visited her grandfather one summer, she was allowed to eat her luncheon out on the step. One day a wee white pig came up and rudely pushed his little pink nose into her bowl of bread and milk. "Oh, oh!" screamed the baby. "Be a lady. Take a 'poon, pig; take a 'poon!"

Tea For Three.
Once Bobby Bear and Bubby Bear and Baby Bear played tea.
They had a little tea set that held just enough for three.
And Bobby tied on Baby's bib, while Bubby filled the pot.
With just a spoon of tea apiece—and water boiling hot.
Now, Bobby Bear and Bubby Bear were quite polite and fine.
They never hurried rudely when 'twas time to sup or dine.
So Bobby, pouring the tea, took care that Bobby got the most—
But while they talked we Baby Bear ate every bit of toast!

REVOLVING SIPHON.

An Interesting Experiment With Simple Apparatus.
The principle illustrated in the accompanying cut might readily serve to generate power without the use of machinery. It is given, however, merely as an interesting and easily made experiment.

Four or five of a good sized glass tumblers, each 1 1/2 to 2 inches tall and stand in a row on a surface to give it the necessary rotation. Through the flat cork on the surface of the water in a stout straw which transversely supports one of the same diameter. To the latter are attached two other straws of smaller diameter, each of these having a bit of straw about an inch in length attached to the end at an obtuse angle with the outlets cut on the slant to make easier the exit of the water.

SIPHON IN ACTION.

All the joints are hollow and are made water tight with sealing wax. The ends of the transverse straw are likewise closed with the wax, but the ends of the depending straws are left open.

Now, to start this unique homemade apparatus in action let two persons suck the open ends of the depending straws until the water begins to flow, and when they take their mouths away the device will begin to revolve, while the water pours steadily from the open ends.

This revolving siphon will soon empty the tumbler, but you may keep the action up as long as you please by pouring water in as fast as the straws let it pour out.

TRAIN O' THOUGHT.

An Interesting Game That Requires Nimble Wits.

A good game for players of nimble wits is called train o' thought.

Here the hostess or the leader begins by announcing a word, which all players write at the head of their tablets.

Afterward each player writes below it in a straight line words representing the different places, things, persons or abstract subjects suggested by it.

A rough example of a train of thought and of the distance which it can cover in the space of a few moments would be:

Shakespeare, Stratford, European travel, Warwick festival, Lady Warwick, progressive new women, Colorado, San Francisco, earthquakes, Chile, revolution, Russia, czar, Louis XVI, etc.

At the end of fifteen minutes papers are collected, and the different tracks followed by the trains of thought will be found very fun provoking.

No prize is attached to this game. Each player after receiving his word continues to write connecting links until the bell sounds as a signal for discontinuance.

All begin with the same word and invariably end up differently.
