Proud of His New Office

"Pray without ceasing and your prayer shall be answered."
For almost two years we've been praying for better quarters and a more centrally located situation so that our many and permanent patrons could transact business more satisfactorily and in a more private manner than heretofore, but up to the present we were unable to procure such location. Now that the C. & O. el. Co. has moved its office into the building recently occupied by the Library Association, opposite Hotel Lakeview, we are better prepared than ever before to transact business more quickly and privately. This is the only telegraph office in town. Our motto: Courteous treatment, quick and correct service.
G. W. Welch, Operator.

A Fine Gallery

The Tollman Photograph Gallery, now located on Main St., just north of the Methodist church, is certainly prepared to do work in its line in a manner equal to the best of city production.

One of the improvements is a new camera, with a Waltham Royal Portrait lens, of great speed, the latest and best make of this celebrated company, finely mounted and perfect both as to its optical and mechanical construction; and it is capable of taking the finest portraits. The gallery also has two other cameras for portraits, landscape views, postal and stamp work. Samples of the work can be seen in the postoffice window and also at the gallery.

A full line of the latest photographic materials and supplies is on hand, and the equipment enables the gallery to do enlarging, copying, Kodak developing and everything required in the business.

The new proprietor of the Gallery is A. J. Armstrong, well known in this town, and while this is a new line for him, he has valuable help in his assistant, Mr. Albert Cook, an experienced and expert artist.

Mr. Armstrong has engaged in the business because his throat troubles him, having had three attacks the present year, which on the advice of a physician inclines him to take a rest. He, however, will continue to fill his place here so far as he is able until a successor can be secured.

Owing to the fact that a change of climate is necessary for Mrs. Armstrong, they will only be able to remain here until fall when they expect to return to their former home in the Willamette valley.

Visit From Bishop Paddock

Bishop Robert L. Paddock, of the Episcopal church in Eastern Oregon, held services in the Methodist church Friday night, and on Sunday morning and evening. The Bishop is a very earnest Christian gentleman. He has had a wide and varied experience in the slums of New York, and his description of the viciousness he subdued and regenerated into useful citizenship is very interesting. The gentleman is a power for good in the world, and as he is still a young man, his future is full of promise for the well being of humanity. He will be welcome when he again can pay Lakeview a visit. He left for Klamath Falls on Tuesday's stage.
