A TALE OF PORTO RICO

Curious Story of the Haunted Sentry Box.

LIGHT ON THE OLD LEGEND.

One of the Many Mysterious Disappearances From Fort San Cristobal Accounted For by the Revelation of the Lost One Himself.

Writing in the Journal of the Milltary Service Institution, Captain Arthur P. S. Hyde of the coast artillery tells this curious story of "the haunted sentry box" of Fort San Cristobal, the ancien: Spanish built fortress which guards the entrance to San Juan, Porte Rico:

"A number of picturesque sentry boxes built of masonry and appearing like minarets are placed at points of wantage in and around the fort. One of these on the sea front, and reached only through a long and dark tunnel from the interior of the fort, is poptilarly known as La Carita del Diablo. or the devil's sentry bex, usually, although incorrectly, translated the haunted sentry box. This name was given to it by the Spanish soldiers for the reason that a number of sentries stationed there disappeared in a most mysterious manner and were never again heard from.

"An American officer was once on duty that took him into the remote interior of the Island, and while spending one night in a small settlement be engaged in conversation with a number of the inhabitants of the place. Que old man, on tearning that the officer was stationed at Fort San Cristobal, became especially interested and in the course of the conversation told the following story:

"I used to be a soldier in the Span-4sh army and was stationed at Fort San Cristobal. A number of soldiers while on sentry duty had mysteriously disappeared from the sentry box down by the sea, and we had all become convinced that it was haunted by the devil, who, we thought, used to come and steal the soldlers away.

"'One stormy night it fell to my lot to go on duty in the devil's sentry box, as we called it, at midnight, and if was with some doubts and misgivthigs that I went with the corporal of the guard and relieved the former sentry. When they left me I listened to the sound of their footfalls reverberating from the walls and ceiling of the dark and narrow passage, ever growing fainter and fainter as they receded, until finally the noise of the storm and the sea completely drowned it. and I was left alone with the mad ele-

"It was a mad night and one well calculated to add to the feeling of awe that the devil's sentry box always instilled into the man on duty there at

"'Presently my attention was attracted by some lights in a small tayern on the shore below the fort, where many of us were wont to go when off cuty for a glass of rum. Then I began to think that I might be able to climb down over the rocks to the shore, get a glass of rum at the tavern and return to my post. "The more I thought of it the more determined I was to go, so finally, leaving my rifle and belt in the sentry box, I elimbed over the wall and down on to the rocks and so made my way with great labor and difficulty and no dittle danger to the little house, where the occupants were making merry with dancing and drinking. I soon fell to and enjoyed myself with them. "When one is dancing with a fair sengrita he sometimes forgets the pas-sage of time, as I did on that fatai night, and not until long after 1 o'clock did I begin to think of returning to my post. Then, realizing that the corporal had made his inspection and had found me gone from my post and with my rifle and belt left behind, I saw only a court martial and the garrote staring me in the face, for in those days for a sentinet in the Span-ish army to quit his post meant sure death, even in peace "To go back was out of the question. There was only one thing left for me to do, and that was to desert. My heart sank within me. If I should be captured, the same fate would be meted out to me; but, I reasoned if I were to go back the fate would be a certainty, whereas if I deserted at senst I had a chance of keeping out of sight of the authorities. I deserted and before morning was out of the city and on the way to the moun-

"I have lived in this little hamlet for years and have never been back to the capital slace that day, nor have I ever told my story to a single soul until tonight, but now that the Spaniards ere gone I no longer fear for my life."

"Thus we have the story of the dev-W's sentry box from one of the very men who so mysteriously disappeared from It, and it would seem to be probable that the other disappearances could be accounted for in a similar manner were the truth known. Quien

Captain Hyde mentions an interesting fact that, although for centuries Porto Rico was considered the legitimate prey of freebooters and was attacked at various times by regularly organized expeditions of the English and the Dutch during times of war, with more or less success, Fort El Morro has never been captured by an enemy, and its only surrender was to the Americans, together with the surrender of the whole island.

To the Farmers of Lake County

We are now making up our fall list for publication, and desire to call your attention to this fact, for the reason that we want to write up your property and send it out, in order to get it into the market before the purchasers commence coming. We are still having numerous inquirles for lands in this section and are in touch with buyers for all kinds of real is tate. Owing to the stringency of file money market for the past ninety days we have been somewhat handi-enpped and could not make the sales that we would have made otherwise but from the present outlook, money matters will be ensier very soon, and consequently buyers will be in the Walter Howard, Frank Howard, market for land. Now should you have land for sale, we invite you to call on us and find our methods of selling real estate and you will be convinced at once that we can find you a boyer for your land.

Dont' forget the location, Cogburn residence, two blocks west of Post & Pacific Land Co.
