AN IMPROVIDENT RACE.

Queer Ways of the Native Black of Australia.
For hearing hardship such as thirst, hunger, long hours in the saddle, etc., the black has far less endurance than the white man. In fact, a black fellow is uncomfortable if he goes for any length of time without water. And yet nobody is more improvident than he. Give him two gallons of water, twenty pounds of flour and two or three sticks of tobacco and tell him that he will get no more for three days—viz., three days—he will deliberately settle down and not be satisfied till he has finished the lot. I have known a civilized and clothed black fellow who was traveling with me sit down after dark and wash his clothes to most unusual proceedings; when he had only three gallons of water and fifty hours' riding before he could get any more, and this with the thermometer registering 112 in the shade.
This is not a thing that occurs once or twice, but always. The black man will not look five minutes ahead, nor will he experience a moment's anxiety on a small scale is dear to the heart of every black fellow, and it is a common occurrence for one of them to swap a brand new suit of blue dungaree for an old frayed white coat, thinking that he will be able to sell or deal the latter away and make a profit simply because it is white, an unusual color with them. But one good point these black men have. They never complain when they find they have made a bad bargain. This is possibly because they forget with whom they made the deal.—Australian Cor. London Standard.

THE WART HOG.

It is One of the Most Grotesque Animals in Existence.
To the naturalist who closely studies animal life it sometimes appears as if nature had either deliberately set to work to form weird and curious creatures or else had been engaged in experiments for there are birds and animals which might be accused of being made up of odds and ends.
One of the most grotesque animals in existence is the wart hog of Africa, called by the Boers the Vlakievark pig of the plains.
It stands about thirty inches in height, has a huge disproportionate head, with eyes set very high up, and large protruding tusks. These are exactly opposite those of other pigs, the upper ones being much longer than those in the lower jaw and sometimes attaining a length of over twenty inches.
But the most unusual feature of this curious looking creature and the one from which it derives its name is the great wart just below each eye, a smaller one appearing between each tusk and the large wart above it.
The body is almost hairless, except that along the spine and the neck long coarse hair hangs, and the whole effect of the animal is weird and grotesque. These wart hogs often take possession of empty burrows made by other animals, and when pursued they show around sharply as they enter, making their way in hind first.—London Telegraph.

Jenny Lind's Piety.
Jenny Lind, who gave her first £2,000 to the poor, continued throughout her life a series of charities and pieties. In regard to the latter we have the assurance of a friend that this greatest of singers deliberately cut short her own public career while her voice was still in perfection. It was Lady Taylor, wife of the author of "Philip Van Artevelde," who found Jenny Lind sitting toward evening on a south coast beach just after her withdrawal, with a book in her lap. She spoke of her resolve. "I found that this—the setting sun—was becoming less to me and that this—the book in her lap was a Bible—was becoming nothing to me, and I knew then that I must check myself and change my life."—London Standard.

Mexican Lottery Tickets.
Nearly $100,000 is spent in the City of Mexico every week in lottery tickets, and in the same period about $70,000 is paid back in premiums. On the weeks immediately preceding the big drawings the sale, of course, mounts up to great sums—as, for instance, when the $200,000 drawings are held there are 20,000 tickets at $10 each sold on the streets, and practically every ticket is disposed of, most of them during the last two weeks before the drawing. But as a general proposition, on an average, $15,000 a day is spent by the people of the City of Mexico on the lotteries.—Mexico Herald.

The Open Window.
Children brought up with open windows appear indeed to be about fifteen times more likely to contract adenoids than those who sleep with the windows shut on cold and damp nights, or at least than those who sleep with closed windows throughout the greater part of the year.—Dr. Sims Wallace in Medical Press.

Dew.
Teacher—How do you account for the phenomenon of dew? Boy—Well, you see, the earth revolves on its axis every twenty-four hours, and in consequence of this tremendous pace it perpetuates itself.—London Tri-Bits.

Mean.
Burton—Mean man isn't he?
Robinson—Mean? He's capable of going into a barber's shop for a shave and then getting his hair cut just to keep other people waiting.

Nothing is so burdensome as a secret.—French Proverb.

COULD NOT DENY IT.

The Witness Had Been Mixed Up in a Case of Theft.
The attorney for the defense looked keenly at the witness who was testifying for the prosecution. "Your name, if I understood you correctly," he said, "is Horace Hincey, is that right?"
"Yes, sir."
"Did you ever live in Nashua?"
"Yes, sir."
"Mr. Hincey, have you ever been arrested on a criminal charge?"
"No, sir," indignantly answered the witness. "Never."
"Did you ever commit an offense for which you might justly have been arrested?"
"Never, sir."
"Mr. Hincey, is it not a fact that you once stole from your own father?"
Here the attorney for the prosecution interposed, but the witness chose to answer.
"No, sir," he exclaimed. "Never in my life!"
"Now, Mr. Hincey," said the lawyer, "suppose I should tell you that I knew of a case when you did steal from your father?"
Instantly the witness' brow cleared. "Gentlemen," he said, turning to the jury, "he's right. I remember now. When I was about eight years old I stole half a dozen eggs from my father's grocery store, took them down under the bank of the creek, cooked them and helped eat them. This lawyer, who was a boy then, not only helped me steal those eggs, but put me up to stealing them. How are you, Jim?"
The judge and jury joined in the laugh that followed, and the rest of the examination was conducted on more friendly lines.—Youth's Companion.

AN ANGRY LION.

Movements That Always Precede the Animal's Spring.
A lion's first signs of anger are as follows: His tail rapidly twists from side to side, the bottom slightly raising and the black tassel at the end beating the air. It lowers its head more than usual and growls, at intervals showing its teeth. Then its voice becomes louder. It roars, shows its teeth and lowers its ears, the movements of the tail increasing all the time.
At the time of charging—that is, at the height of its anger—the tail rises in the air until it is almost vertical, the black tassel continues to move, the ears are flattened completely, and the animal comes toward you at a slow trot, then at a gallop, and finally springs forward with open mouth and extended claws.
Sometimes it shows these various symptoms without charging, restrained by prudence, but it never charges without showing them. When the tall rise the hunter can bring his rifle to the shoulder and await his opportunity. In hunting a man who is on his guard is worth four.

A charge is extremely dangerous, almost always fatal when unexpected, either because of the dense vegetation or other causes, but if you see the animal getting ready flight is useless. Stand your ground. The only thing to do is to keep cool and trust in your weapon. If you have no confidence yourself it is prudent to avoid measuring your strength against these animals.—Exchange.

Overzealous.
If you have ever been annoyed by a too enterprising barber, you will appreciate the little incident that left one of them rueful and crestfallen the other day.
Having shaved the customer, he ran his hand over the man's head and said insinuatingly:
"Have a hair trim today, sir?"
"Do you think I need it?"
"Yes; it looks pretty long."
"Well, how is the boss barber on hair trimming? Is he pretty good?"
"Yes; he's pretty good, all right. But why?"
"Well, he trimmed my hair yesterday."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Some Heights in the Catskills.
The height of some of the tallest and most interesting mountains in the Catskills is as follows: Slide mountain, 4,220 feet; Hunter mountain, 4,052; Black Dome, 4,004; Thomas Cole mountain, 3,975; Mount Cornell, 3,920; Peak of Moose mountain, 3,875; the Wittenberg, 3,824; Sugar Loaf, 3,807; High Peak, 3,800; Panther mountain, 3,800; Windham High Peak, 3,534; North mountain, 3,450; Overlook mountain, 3,300; Platterskill mountain, 3,200; Onteora mountain, 2,685.

His Dream.
Towne—Do you believe in dreams? Browne—I used to, but I don't any more. Towne—Not as superstitious as you were, eh? Browne—Oh, it wasn't a question of superstition. I was in love with one once, and she jilted me.—Catholic Standard and Times.

How It Happened.
"True, the night was dark, but he appeared to jump deliberately in front of the automobile."
"Force of habit. The poor fellow was an actor and naturally dived for the spot light."—Kansas City Journal.

Tit For Tat.
Affable Barber—You're very bald on top, sir. Self Conscious Customer (much annoyed)—What if I am? You needn't talk so much. 'Ow about that squint of yours?—London Telegraph.

Better be poisoned in one's blood than to be poisoned in one's principles.—Confucius.

Believe that you have, and if you have it.—Ovid.
