

THE INNOCENT FOX.

Blamed For Offenses Committed by His Wicked Cousins.

We are often told of the fox as a destroyer of grouse, but I should like to hear the story of some eyewitnesses as to his work in this direction. It is very easy to find fox tracks about the remains of a bird and then say a fox did it. I believe that many of the offenses laid at his door are committed by weasels, otters and wildcats, or

I think a part of the year I have known foxes to eat a part of each day... I have seen a fox actually catch a grouse in the snow at night, but who has ever seen a fox actually catch a grouse? Come, now, brothers of the forest, be honest and own up. I would be glad to learn how the fox does the trick, if any one has seen it done.—Forest and Stream.

THE PERSONAL EQUATION.

It Plays a Very Large Part in Success in Business.

If you stop for a moment to analyze success in business you will see it comes through contact with people. It is all hinged upon the manner of your contact. On every side you are surrounded by a multitude of persons, in every one of whom there exists a potential force that may be exerted, at one time or another, to add to your success. The manner you make that force to be exerted is called your business equation. You can attract these individual forces if you choose and get the most from them, or you can repel them and suffer actual damage from having come in contact with them, or you may take a middle course, as many business men do, and drift along in a purely negative manner.

Looking at business in this light, it is apparent that the underlying element which contributes most to the success of any undertaking and to business in the aggregate is the art of guiding the vital points of human contact that will set in motion these forces. The personal element must be stamped upon your business.—Edward Payson Hatch by System.

Panama Mosquitoes.

A visitor to the canal zone of Panama can have the privilege of an introduction to not less than eighty-three species of mosquitoes, thirty of them found nowhere else. Fortunately they do not all bite, and the contagion of yellow fever is carried by only one of them. Certain genera, technically called megarrhini, psorophora and tuzala, are found, which instead of spreading any disease hostile to men wage war on their weaker cousins and at times even on their brothers and sisters. The yellow fever mosquito, the only kind in America spreading this infection, scientifically called stepomyia, is very scarce. It is possible to live for weeks on the line of the canal without seeing a single specimen. This mosquito is a strictly domestic insect, never found away from man. It breeds only in artificial receptacles, such as barrels, water coolers, bottles and tin cans in and around human habitations.—Chicago News.

An Author's Trick.

One of the slyer modern writers made this confession the other day: "I am so devoted to my wife that I allow her to break in upon me whenever she pleases. Naturally she cuts into my line of thought and often destroys the continuity of genius. The only way for me to do a good day's work is to quarrel with her, to make her so angry that she will cry, fuss, break a few dishes, smash a kitten, scold a puppy or two, then go to her room and stay there. By the time I have done a day's work she is in excellent humor and I find of being alone. Then we make up."—New York Press

Great City For Prayer.

A visitor to Moscow soon discovers why it is called the Holy City. Every 200 or 300 feet there is a cathedral, church, chapel or shrine, and whichever way you look you see people crossing themselves. Until one has seen Moscow the pety of the place is not easily understood. The outsider cannot imagine Moscow conditions. He cannot imagine church bells ringing all the time and people praying in the public streets at all hours of day and night.

Cause of the Row.

Mrs. Popley—For goodness' sake! What's the matter with Tommy? Mr. Popley (from the bathroom)—Oh, he wants the earth! Mrs. Popley—Wants the earth? Mr. Popley—Yes. At least that portion of it that I'm trying to wash off his hands and face.—Catholic Standard and Times.

Luck.

"Look as if you was feelin' pretty good today, James," said the first waiter.

"Yes, I hope," replied the other. "Means a break o' luck maybe?" "Yes, I hope so."—Philadelphia Press.

A Boy Goes Mad Over His First Big Crop of Peaches

Going mad in a frenzy over a bumper crop of peaches is the fate of Fred C. Breithaupt, son of B. Breithaupt, a well known Damascus farmer. The boy is about 19 years of age and has been taken to the state insane asylum. On the Breithaupt place five acres were set out in peach trees, and this year they bore so abundantly that a $2500 crop was taken off the small tract. Breithaupt and his sons worked early and late to pick the fruit and ship it to market, in order to supply the demand. The boy thought, talked and dreamed of peaches until this enthusiasm unhinged his mind, but it is expected that treatment in the state hospital will bring about a return of his sanity.

SAYS RAILROADS ARE COWING SOON

J. D. Porter of Spokane, a noted railroad builder for Mr. H. H. who traveled from the Dulles to Princeton and beyond, and over the mountain to Bedford, tells the Tribune that "There will be a line into Central Oregon. The resources are such as to make such a line pay tremendously. And one line will never do the country justice. We traveled through a very rich section, which only awaits a railroad to make that country one of the best spots in the northwest."

New Clubbing Proposition WE have arranged to offer in connection with this paper, the new monthly farm magazine just started at Lincoln, Neb., by Prof. H. W. Campbell and devoted to the subject of how to farm in the dry country and how to get best results from soil tillage under normal conditions. This paper is "Campbell's Scientific Farmer" and we offer it clubbed with the Examiner both for $2.50 per year cash. Prof. Campbell's new paper is a monthly, chock full of good things, the only paper of its kind in the world, and it embodies the results of the editor's many years of painstaking investigation of the soil tillage proposition.
