

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by the agreeable, aromatic Ely's Cream Balm. It is received through the nostrils and cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself.

Announcement. To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm.

A Case of Woman Hating.

"I am a philosopher," said Colonel Donovan, "and no man can be that without being a woman hater. A man doesn't get to be a philosopher till he is past middle age. Then he begins to see the shallowness of earthly expectations and enjoyments. It is the same with his views of woman. In youth he looks upon woman—women who, like himself, have not grown old; of the older ones he takes no account—something so pure and holy that he is unworthy to be her shoe. But when the day comes for him to associate with those who have turned thirty-five he has no use for them. His mother, his sister, his wife? Oh, they are a part of himself. They are not in the world of romance, but of family affection."

Now, the colonel, despite his holiness—this belief that he really hated the soft sex—was an excellent man. He had been jilted in his youth by a girl who was unworthy of him, and, strange to say, she was to him in his maturity the only saint in the lot. The remarks quoted above were made to the major's wife, who, by the way, was a warm friend and admirer of the colonel, preliminary to asking her to get him a housekeeper. It was a month after a promise to that effect that a woman arrived from the east and was duly installed in the position. Her hair was grizzly gray, her cheeks furrowed, her eyes covered by dark brown goggles, and she was dressed in execrable taste. The colonel thanked the major's wife that Mrs. Yorgany was just the thing. No such unattractive creature could possibly have the assurance to try to snare him, and if she did, were she possessed of magic arts, her looks would defeat her.

Mrs. Yorgany possessed but one attractive feature, a pleasant voice. At first the colonel would give his orders for the day to his housekeeper as he would to the adjutant, and when she asked a question or made a suggestion he found himself soothed by the smooth tones in which she spoke. One evening when the fire in her room wouldn't burn he invited her to sit with her sewing beside the table in his living room. He was very much interested in a book he was reading and wanted some one to talk to about it. He found a willing listener in Mrs. Yorgany. For one hour while he talked she listened attentively, but spoke never a word. The next day the colonel informed the major's wife that his housekeeper might be homely, but she was an excellent conversationalist. After this he invited Mrs. Yorgany to use his sitting room whenever she liked.

The next evening the old lady, being again turned out of her room, was pressed by the colonel to sit by his table. Thinking it best that he should inform her of his opinion of women, he did so and with his usual brusqueness when speaking on that subject. What was his surprise when she replied, "My late husband was a woman hater, and he got all his points from me." "You, Mrs. Yorgany! You?" "Women have all the characteristics natural to their condition. Man's strength causes him to rely upon open methods; woman's weakness tends to duplicity. Then the part nature gave her to perform, the care of children, develops different faculties from those needed by man, who fights the battle for family maintenance." The colonel put out his hand impulsively. "Shake, madam, shake! By Jove, you're more sense than any woman I ever met or heard of. I want you to make yourself at home in these quarters—in this room—anywhere you like. In future I shall give you no orders, but a carte blanche to run everything to suit yourself."

From that time forward Mrs. Yorgany was indispensable to the colonel. Gradually he became accustomed to her uncouth appearance, and when at the end of the third month of her service she offered her resignation the colonel swore he would put her under arrest and prefer charges against her for deserting her post. When she stuck to her intention he shut himself up for three days, then offered to marry her.

The next day the colonel received a note from the major's wife asking him to call. On his arrival Mrs. Major introduced a middle aged spinster of attractive mien, a lifelong chum of hers, Florence Wood. The colonel stared at Miss Wood with astonishment. She appeared to be a revised edition of Mrs. Yorgany. The goggles were gone; the furrows were gone; everything was gone that was ugly. She stood regarding the colonel with a smile on her lips and her eyes dancing with mischief. "Colonel," said Mrs. Major, "I had a bet with my husband that I could induce you to marry a fright within three months. The time is up today, and I have won. I knew my friend Florence Wood possessed the tact and good sense to bring down just such a man as you within the allotted time. I brought her out here, giving her as disagreeable an appearance and name as possible, to capture you. You have swallowed the bait, hook and all."

"But—but Miss Wood is young. The glamour of youth is still there," blurted the astounded colonel. "I am past middle life," laughed Miss Wood. "I am thirty-six." "And she had no glamour of youth when she caught you," added Mrs. Major. The colonel was much cast down when Miss Wood averred that she did it all to please her friend and that it was but a joke. She took her departure the next day, but the colonel, turning over the command to the major, followed her and never gave up until he brought her back as his wife. T. ANTHONY TWING.

LAKE COUNTY ABSTRACT CO. INCORPORATED. A COMPLETE RECORD. We have made an entire transcript of all records in Lake County, which, in any way, affect Real Property in the county. We have a complete Record of every Mortgage and transfer ever made in Lake County, and every Deed given. ERRORS FOUND. In transcribing the records we have found numerous mortgages recorded in the Deed record, and not indexed; and many deeds are recorded in the Mortgage record and other books. Hundreds of mortgages and deeds are not indexed at all, and are most difficult to trace up from the records. We have notations of all these Errors: Others cannot find them. We have spent hundreds of dollars hunting up these errors, and we can guarantee our work. J. D. VENATOR, Manager.
