DOES DEATH END ALL?

Ever since the mind of man began to think, and after realizing is limited hold upon this life, he has been groping and peering into futurity seeking some answer to the problem of what comes after death.

It is only within the last few years, or since the question has been attacked in a scientific way, that the problem has ever approached a solution. Investigation made along scientific lines by men of acknowledged scientific attainments has proved to their satisfaction that no so-called dead have never died, and that the fact of a further existence, outside of what is called revealed sources is demonstrated.

The Delineator, of late has been publishing a series of articles bearing on this topic of life after the change called death. Eminent men and women have given the result of their investigations through the medium of this popular magazine. In the November number is an example, Alfred Russel Wallace says, "The only satisfactory answer to the momentous question: Are the dead alive? must be founded upon facts. During the last sixty years evidence has been accumulating in every part of the world which affords demonstration that the so-called dead have never really died, but have passed into a new and higher state of existence. Many of these are able to communicate with us, and most of them assure us that when they wake from the sleep we call 'death' they find themselves much more alive than they were before. And this is only what we might expect, for we all feel that our mental faculties are to some extent clogged and stifled by the garment of flesh, and that only when in the most perfect health do our higher faculties attain their fullest expression.

The rapid entrance on a state of spiritual well being and happiness seems to be very general among those who have led ordinarily good and natural lives, but is by no means universal. Those who have lived selfish or sensual lives, or have given away to evil passions of any kind, have a different awakening, into a world of darkness or gloom, often of solitude for a longer or shorter period and infinitely varied in the surroundings, according to their previous lives. But whatever germs of good are in them are ultimately developed through the kind ministrations of spirit helpers, and thenceforth progress toward a higher and happier state, depending mainly on themselves.

A little book called "The Care for the Goat," has recently attracted some attention in England. The writer urges that great advantages would be found by small proprietors laborers and rural residents in keeping goats, "the poor man's cow." Goat's milk, he says, often possesses twice the richness of cow's milk, is very valuable for children, and may be practically guaranteed as free from the bacillus of tuberculosis. Goats are cheap and cheaply kept as they readily find food, and they demand little room.

LAKE COUNTY LEADS ALL.

In 1905 Grant county, in this state had an indebtedness of $130,000, and this year it had all been paid except $22,000. It is expected that next year the county debt will all be wiped off the books. One of the reasons of this prosperous condition is believed to be due to the fact that 1000 locations were made during the last three years on government lands, which has increased the tax roll to a considerable extent.

While that showing is a very good one, it does not approach conditions in Lake county, which four years ago was over $60,000 in debt. That debt has been paid since then, and besides a new court house that cost $50,000 has been built and paid for and there is now $50,000 in cash in the treasury.

All this has been done with but little immigration up to the present time, but which promises to arrive several thousand strong next year.

The Directors of the Klamath Water Users association have asked the secretary of the interior for the removal of D. W. Murphy, project engineer, in charge of the Klamath reclamation project. The action of the board is a surprise to many land owners. Little information is available as to charges outside of those cited in the letter to the interior department—lack of economy in construction and lack of administrative ability.

The Portland Journal says the only way to oust "Land Hogs," who hold large tracts of land everywhere, and retard development in Oregon is to tax them so heavily that they will have to put the land to some use, or be compelled to sell. That is the case exactly; but how are you going to do it? Look, for instance at Weyerhaeuser on ground of high taxation, refusing to pay his taxes, at low valuation in order to appeal to the courts to sustain his contention. These wrongs demand a remedy, and it will come some day. Indeed, the remedy is at hand in Oregon, by a resort to the initiative and referendum, so soon as the people see fit to use that privilege.

Health Commissioner Connell of Omaha has sent out the following warning to Omaha's citizens: "Prepare to resist a scourge of cholera." He believes that the plague is certain to visit the United States, and already the health department has begun a defensive campaign to resist the ravages. But we think there is not much danger to be feared up here in this altitude.

Professor Lannelongue, of the University of Paris, has discovered an anti-tubercular serum which is said to be the most efficacious remedy of the kind ever used. Of eleven phthisical patients inoculated with the new serum, ten have either been cured or have shown improvement. Further experiments are expected to show even better results.

A new railway wheel made of pressed steel is being introduced. The process of manufacture is said to be secret. It prevents the breakage of flanges, and consequently will prevent many wrecks. If so, the sooner its use is general, the better for the traveling public.

The "Egg-O-See" company that manufactured that article of near food is in the hands of a receiver. The good old and reliable oat meal is the stuff that never fails to satisfy the inner-man, and beats all the saw-dust preparations on the market.

The Jap baseball club beat the club of the American Jackies at Tokio. The decisions of the Jap umpire were said to have been decidedly raw, but the Yankee boys took it good naturedly.

A candle ten feet high which will burn for two years has been manufactured in New York recently for the Italian cathedral. It is doubtless the largest as well as the most persistent candle in the world.

The candle measures eight inches in diameter and weighs 318 pounds. Its sides are decorated with pictures of flowers and productions of a religious nature, all carried out elaborately with many bright colors. The candle is made entirely of beeswax and cost $3000.

Star Reward, Star

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PREDICTS A HUGE EXODUS TO OREGON

H. S. Rowe, General Agent of the Milwaukee, is Astonounded by Inquiries

Portland Telegram, Oct. 27: "I look for the greatest movement of tourist and homeseekers' business to the Pacific Northwest from Middle West points next year in the history of the country," said H. S. Rowe, general agent of the Milwaukee on his return from a months visit in the East this morning.

"I was simply astounded at the number of inquiries about this whole Oregon and Washington country, and the Middle Westerners no longer scoff at us out here on the Coast. I can remember only a few years ago—yes, only two or three years ago—when people in Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas looked upon us as real 'wooly Westerners,' and on the Oregon country as a God-forsaken land. On the trip I found everything has changed. Everywhere I went I was told of hundreds of residents in these states who are just crazy to come here. Many of them are endeavoring to dispose of their farms or city property, as the case may be, and when they have done it they will head for the Pacific Northwest. 'Several causes have contributed to this change of feeling. We have had a great increase in tourist traffic out this way in the past few years, and the Lewis and Clark Fair, of course, was the real beginning point. The railroads have worked wonders in their unremitting advertising campaigns, for I can safely say that the class of exploitation literature sent out from this territory is of a higher class than that sent out from any other state, and that it has taken effect on the minds of Eastern people, and the result will be a larger immigration to Oregon than has ever been the case heretofore in the development of the West.

THIS IS THE AGE OF CEMENT WORK

The age of cement is the present. Although cement is of a comparatively recent origin, it is rapidly coming into use in almost every sort of construction work.

Edison has invented a scheme where by cement may be poured into molds, and in a few days the molds may be removed, leaving a house ready for occupancy—fire-proof and practically indestructible. The cost of the house will be so small that every family can own their own home.

The latest use to which cement can be put is in construction of boats—pontoon, barges and even row-boats. The latest issue of the Scientific American contains a very interesting illustrated and descriptive article on boats made of reinforced cement.

In almost every community there are to be found buildings constructed of cement, and even Lakeview has one, the fine Daly building in which the United States Land office is located.

Mrs. Patter Palmer, and her son Honor Palmer, of Chicago, recently visited Central Point in the Rogue river valley, and liked it so well, that they probably will invest in a home there and reside there a considerable portion of the time.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup not only heals irritation and allays inflammation, thereby stopping the cough, but it moves the bowels gently and in that way drives the cold from the system. Contains no opiates. It is pleasant to take, and children especially like the taste, so nearly like maple sugar. Sold by Daly and Hall.

The Eugene booster, "Nobody's Magazine," is a hummer for the purpose intended, creating a demand for information to supplying it regarding the advantages of that charming city. It is illustrated, and our critical eye expands over the beauty of the women, but contracts at the display of the men pictured. We wonder if that bunch of homely chaps as a foil to those female peaches?

Smiles and Squalls

By "THE VERDANT ONE"

The daughter of a Sioux Falls Elk has made application for a Carnegie hero medal. She bases her claim upon the fact that one evening recently a young man called upon her who said he was dying for a kiss; she saved his life. Noble girl.

A former Stanford University professor in a lecture before an audience of Chicago women, said that "Marriage is the suicide of love." Those women probably got what they paid for, and a new lot of "affinities" will result in the windy city.

A Chicago girl, spending her vacation in the country, mistook a bull-frog's basooning for what she called "a bossy cow mewing for her calf"

How to Cure a Cold

Be as careful as you can you will occasionally take cold, and when you do, get a medicine of known reliability, one that has an established reputation and that is certain to effect a quick cure. Such medicine is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has gained a world wide reputation by its remarkable cures of this most common ailment, and can always be depended upon. It acts on nature's plan, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. During the many years in which it has been in general use we have yet to learn of a single case of cold or attack of the grip having resulted in pneumonia when this remedy was used, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Daly and Hall.
