THE FOOLISH KING.

Three Questions He Propounded and How They Were Answered.

Once upon a time there lived a king who was very foolish. He thought he was better than any one in his kingdom. He thought he was wiser, and he wanted to be richer. Now, there lived In his land a very rich man, who was known far and wide for his fine dinners, and when the news of this man's entertainments was made known to the king the foolish king sent for him been waiting on her. Penance For Discourtesy.

Nicholas I., cair of Lussia, was the type of an absolute aristocrat. The succession of terrible wars which property clouded his reign uid not tend to soften bis disposition or to render him less imperious. But, rough and harsh as he was, Nicholas had a measure of chivalry in his disposition. He would an insult offered to a woman. She Wanted to Know.

A fittle woman with wilton carpet floral designs on her hat came into the uptown Pennsylvania ticket office the other day and bought a ticket for a point down the state.

She gathered up her ticket and asked for a little folder because it had a picture on it is colors of a girl waving goodby to somebody from the end of a train. Then she placed her ticket inside her purse and the purse inside a little satchel and put the satchel inside her shopping bag, which she carried in a small alligator traveling oag. Greatest of Fleets.

The squadron of United States battries, to learn other tongues, to see new tleships now in the Pacific is unquessights and to experience strange adtionably the "most magnificent and formidable" squadron ever put upon the seas. No other battle fleet mentioned in history is worthy of being compared with it in the capacity for destruction.

Conundrums.

Why is a jailer like a musician? Because he fingers the keys. What grows the less tired the more it works? A carriage wheel. What is that which never asks a question, yet requires many answers? A doorbell.

Gifts of the Winds. Now tell us truly, winds of spring, What joys to childhood do you bring? With varied arts I strive to please-bring warm suns and April showers, bring fresh buds for naked trees And scatter growing grass with flowers. And you, sweet summer's gentle breeze, What gifts of yours do children please? The joyous holiday time I bring. The many pleasures of field and shore. Long, sunny days at their feet I fling. These are my gifts. Can you ask for more?

Oh, howling winds of autumn drear, What are your joys for children dear? I bring down nuts from brilliant trees. And rips fruits drop beneath my spell. I brighten their hearts with gifts like these No other wind they love so well.

And now, sharp wind of winter cold. What joys are yours? Can they be told? I sweep with a wall over barren fields, Best loved of all the winds that blow. No other wind such pleasure yields To boys and girls, for I bring snow. — Philadelphia North American -Philadelphia North American
