CITY AND COUNTY BRIEFS

Oregon towns are all beginning to advocate public parks. It may be a little early for that sort of thing for Lakeview, but a nice plot of ground up Bullards or Dead Man's canyons, would be a beautiful spot for a future city park.

The best thing about an engagement to go to a picnic is that maybe it will rain in time to prevent it. —Indianapolis News.

It takes a rich man to draw a check, and a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a toper to draw a cork, a free lunch to draw a crowd and an advertisement in your home paper to draw trade. Send in your ad for the drawing.

A couple of young Indian girls stole away from the Ft. Bidwell Indian school and came to Lakeview to help celebrate. They were taken in custody by the local police, and kept at Hotel Lakeview until the agent came over Tuesday to take them home.

The following parties have this week purchased fruit farms in the Golden Goose Lake valley from the Lakeview Development Co., through J. E. Sny, Maricopa, Cal.; J. C. Ho d, A. H. Fletcher, Edward Kenner, H. G. Wood, Ed. Strick, H. Lipstran, Geo. Sherlock, W. E. Stewart, Frank Clario, and T. R. Gilham.

The prizes given at the Arcadia Theatre last week were secured by ticket No. 107, which drew the watch, but the holder of the ticket has not yet claimed the same. The $5 gold piece was drawn by little Nora McGilly, who had ticket No. 137.

The Supreme court denied the petition for a rehearing of the case, an appeal from Lake county, which was decided against Small's interests by Justice King last December. In doing so the only relief secured by Small is that the former opinion is modified so as to relieve him of the cost of the trial in the lower court, amounting to $2000, but the cost of the appeal, about $1000, is still forced against him.

"Be a man," said an Atchison girl to her brother. Then she got to thinking. When troubles came to her home it was her mother who met it bravely, patiently and calmly. It was mother who told father not to worry, who calmed his fears, and who did all her worrying without fretting any one about it. It was mother who was never afraid, never snippy, who was above petty annoyance, and who spent her life on the firing line, fighting for others. "No," the girl added quickly to her brother, "I don't mean be a man, be a woman." —Atchison Globe.

The Lakeview Pharmacy, under ownership of Hall & Reynolds, now occupies the new quarters opposite Hotel Lakeview. The interior is fitted up on modern lines, and presents a very attractive appearance. Dr. Hall now has his office at the Pharmacy.

Tim Sheehan, the talented young writer, who is spending the summer at Plush, was in Lakeview the 4th. The State Tubercular Board, in session at Salem, assert that the number of cases of tuberculosis in the state is about 5000, that 504 died from the disease last year 1907 and 670 in 1908. The same conditions exist in other states, only to a more alarming degree, that Oregon is especially favored in climate and that it has a smaller percentage of cases of consumption in proportion to population than any other state.

San Francisco People Here With Mrs. Cobb

Mrs. Della Cobb returned from San Francisco on Saturday last, after her very enjoyable visit and was welcomed by her many friends. She brought with her as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Max L. Rosenfeld, of San Francisco. The party came up from the city in their Apperson touring car. Mr. Rosenfeld is president of the Auto Livery Co., of San Francisco, and has been president of the Automobile Dealers Association, of California, for the last three years. This is Mr. Rosenfeld's first visit to this section of the country and he expressed himself as delighted with the future possibilities of the whole country surrounding Lakeview. With the increased population there will be some very profitable business in the automobile line, he feels sure.

Kelton Gunther Injured

Kelton Gunther, on Saturday evening, picked up what he supposed was a dead giant fire-cracker from the street. But, the fuse was still burning and before he could drop it, the thing exploded in his hand, frightfully mauling it. It was feared at first he would lose his hand, but it is now stated that it can probably be saved. In view of the many similar accidents all over the country from these dangerous giant crackers, there is an agitation calling for the suppression of their sale. It is likely that this sentiment will crystallize into law upon the subject.

Game at Ft. Bidwell

The Ft. Bidwell Gold Nuggett of the 1st inst. in commenting on the recent ball tournament, and the work of our boys in carrying off the first money of $400 has this good natured comment thereon.

It was plain from the very start that Lakeview came after the money and meant to take it with a thoroughly organized and well drilled team combed from the professionals from Lakeview and Sacramento. No special comment on Lakeview is necessary as they are ball players and the team that wrests the honors from them must get there with the combining of professionals of high class.

Obituary.

CHARLOTTE AUGUSTA VENATOR

A gloom of sorrow spread over our entire city last Monday morning when it was first learned that Charlotte Augusta Venator had the preceding night passed to the Great Beyond. Her death was not wholly unexpected, as it was known that she had been hovering between life and death for several days.

Regrets and expressions of sympathy were universal throughout the entire community. Seldom, if ever, has the death of one of our citizens been so deeply and keenly felt as that of Mrs. Venator. She was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Ahlstrom. She came to Lakeview with her parents in the year 1887, at the age of five years, and lived here continuously until her death. She was born on Aug. 31, 1881 at Marysville, Cal., and was at the time of her death, July 5th, 1909 27 years, 10 months and 4 days of age. On March 22, 1905, she and J. D. Venator were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. This marriage proved to be a very happy one, and Mr. and Mrs. Venator were one and inseparable, until the cruel hand of death entered their happy home.

Having been reared in this town from her infancy, every one knew "Lottie" as a bright, vivacious child for whom all had a kind word and sincere affection. As a school girl she was the idol of her school-mates and the pet of her teacher.

To her sorrowing parents she was ever the life and flower of the home; to the husband, she was a part of his very existence, a helpmate, a companion, a true, loving, loyal wife, who encouraged his every effort and rejoiced at his successes.

Mrs. Venator had long been an active member of the Lakeview Rebecca Lodge under whose auspices her remains were interred in the L. O. O. F. cemetery, last Tuesday. She will be missed from the lodgeroom; from the bedside of sickness and death; and from the social circle of her friends. She will be mourned by her sorrowing mother, father and brothers, and by her bereft husband, and take, only a few days old, that will never know a mother's love, a mother's kiss, a mother's care and protection.

A short funeral sermon was conducted by Rev. H. Smith, of New Pine Creek, after which a long procession of sorrowing friends followed the remains to the cemetery where beneath a profusion of flowers, they found their last resting place, but not until her sister Rebecca had performed their last rites, during the rendering of which there was not a dry eye in the vast assemblage.

Every business house in the city was closed as a token of the high esteem and respect had for the deceased.

"FRIEND DEATH."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "a moment stay. I have finished my score with life. Who has fooled and cheated me all the way. With a witless strife."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "a moment stay. I have a duty yet to do. There is the devil still to pay. A good stiff reckoning too."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "a moment stay. What of my wife and little one? I must warn them well while yet it is day Of the setting sun."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "a moment stay. A drink and a kiss for luck at the last. I was ever one for a daring play. Staked all on a cast."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "a moment stay. I must have time to think on God. Surely you give one time to pray— So soon a clod."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "a moment stay. It will all be over so soon, so soon I hear the pipes of my boyhood play. An old, old tune."

"FRIEND DEATH," quoth he, "Oh, friendly Death, The music is calling and I am fain— Fain for the home where I first drew breath. And my mother again!"

—R. W. Gilbert.
